GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL,—MARINE DEPARTMENT.

The 30th October 1891.

No. 200 Marine.—The following telegram, dated the 28th October 1891, from the Government of Bombay, regarding the imposition of ten days' quarantine at Bassorah against Hedjaz and Yemen, is published for general information.

J. M. McNEILE, Col., R.E.,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Copy of a telegram, dated 28th October 1891, from the Secretary to the Government of Bombay to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESIDENT, Bagdad, telegraphs—Yesterday ten days' quarantine imposed at Bassorah against Hedjaz and Yemen.

The 3rd November 1891.

No. 201 Marine.—Under the provisions of section 8 of the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, the Hon'ble Sir Henry Leland Harrison, Kt., is appointed to be Chairman of the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta, vice the Hon'ble Mr. Halliday, retired.

No. 202 Marine.—Under the provisions of section 8 of the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, Mr. J. H. Apjohn is appointed to be Vice-Chairman of the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta, vice Mr. G. H. Simmons, deceased.

No. 203 Marine.—Under the provisions of section 8 of the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, Captain A. Campbell, I.M., is appointed to be a Commissioner of the Port of Calcutta, vice Captain Gwyn, resigned.

J. M. McNEILE, Col. R.E.,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

first instance, or whether the local circumstances have changed, so that what may have looked like an urban area some years ago has now fallen back into a more primitive condition, it is impossible to say. But there can be no question as to the fact that the jurisdiction of several of the smaller municipalities requires revision in the direction indicated, and that the clause requiring the Commissioners themselves to take the initiative is a serious obstacle to such revision. It is natural enough that the Commissioners should be reluctant to recommend a course, the immediate result of which would be to reduce their income without producing a corresponding decrease in their expenditure, for the rural portions of a municipality are necessarily those upon which least municipal money is spent, and the allegation of the persons who are aggrieved by the retention of such places within the municipality is that no money is spent on them at all. In justice to the poorer classes—rai-yats, agricultural labourers, fishermen, and the like—from whom these protests have been received, it is essential that some change in the law should be made. In the first draft of the Bill it was proposed simply to strike out the words 'on the recommendation of the Commissioners at a meeting,' and thus to leave this matter, and the other cognate points touched upon in the section, to the discretion of the Government. A section has now been introduced, modelled on sections 194 and 195 of the Punjab Act, which provides that, when the Government intends to do any of the things which it is empowered to do by section 9, it shall notify its intention in the Gazette locally, and shall receive and consider objections. That, I submit, is a fair solution of the difficulty. It reserves to the Government the power which is reserved to it in every other province, and which in England is exercised by the Local Government Board, and it gives all classes of residents full opportunity of making their wishes felt. I may add that a defect in the existing Act has been cured by taking power to unite two or more Municipalities into one.

"There is another proposal which may be briefly noticed. Under the Act as it stands, the original election of a Chairman requires the sanction of Government, but by a curious omission, an ad interim election under section 27 does not. It has been thought necessary to supply this omission by providing that an intermediate election of a Chairman shall be subject to the same conditions as an original election. Again, under the present law, the election of a Vice-Chairman does not need the approval of Government, and it is proposed in future to impose this condition. The reason for making the change is that the duties of Vice-Chairman are almost as important as those of the Chairman, and it seems advisable that Government should be placed in a position to exercise an effective influence in the matter. This is more particularly necessary in certain towns, where local magnates, men of old family and high position in the neighbourhood, have offered themselves for election to the post of Chairman. It is in many ways a great advantage to the municipalities concerned to have such men at the head, but as a rule they cannot be expected to exercise the same amount of minute personal supervision as an ordinary Chairman, and in such cases therefore the duties of the Vice-Chairman come to be of special importance and require to be subject to special control.

"One section more, and I shall have done. Under the present law, the Government has power to appoint the Chairman in those Municipalities which are entered in the second schedule. It can remove Municipalities from that schedule, and thereby surrender the right of appointing the Chairman, but it cannot, as the law now stands, add the name of a Municipality to that schedule, unless it is newly created, or has been superseded under section 65. The Bill proposes to amend section 23, so as to take this power. Opinions on the subject are numerically very even. About 58 opinions are in favour of the change, and about 60 are against it. The 58 consists of 38 officials and 20 Municipalities: the 60 is made up of 4 officials and 58 Municipalities. We may say then, roughly, that all the officials are for it, and three-fourths of the Municipalities are against it. Further analysis would be tedious. It is clear, however, from the opinions of the Municipalities which are opposed to the change, that they contemplate the section being used in a manner quite alien to the spirit in which it has been conceived. They seem to think that Government will at once set to work, and get rid of non-official Chairmen all over the country.

distributing it more fairly, while by getting full value out of the assessments they will add materially to the income available for municipal purposes. The idea is not a new one. Under the former law, and, I believe, also under this, assessments of complete municipalities have occasionally been made by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman, who did the work of a salaried assessor, and such assessments are admitted to have been the best on record. In recent times and in some Municipalities salaried assessors have also been employed, I understand, with considerable success, though their status under the present law is an uncertain one.

"I have only to add that power has been taken to regulate the conditions of appointment by rule so as to keep the cost to the Municipalities as low as possible. It is, of course, not intended that every Municipality should have a separate assessor. One assessor will be able to do the work of a number of Municipalities, and will be paid by contributions in proportion to the income assessed, or on some such system. But, obviously, the area to which he will be appointed may differ in different parts of the country. In some places, one assessor to a division will be sufficient; in others, like the 24-Parganas, only experience will show whether one man can do the work of a district. In any case it is believed that the cost to individual Municipalities will be trifling, and will be amply recouped by the increased income which is likely to be realised.

"Under the head of Water-supply certain amendments have been introduced, based partly on the North-Western Provinces Water-supply Act of 1891, and partly on some valuable suggestions made by Rai Nalinaksha Basu Bahadur, Chairman of the Burdwan Municipality, whose opinion on this subject carries very great weight. In section 279 of the Act, we propose to raise the percentage on annual value from 6 to 7½ per cent., to abolish the distinction between streets supplied with water and streets not supplied, and to substitute for it provisions modelled on those of section 33 of the North-Western Provinces Water-Works Act of 1891, which exempts from water-rate houses or lands situated beyond a certain radius to be fixed by the Local Government for each Municipality from the nearest stand-pipe; land used exclusively for agriculture; lands or houses specially exempted by the Municipality with the approval of Government; and any house unoccupied for three consecutive months. At the same gentleman's suggestion it is also proposed to limit the right to house connexions accorded in section 290 (which was taken from the Calcutta Municipal Act of 1876) by substituting for it a section based on section 158 of the present Calcutta Municipal Act. Experience has shown that unrestricted house connexions mean an incalculable waste of water, and that the grant of this privilege may so raise the cost of particular projects for water-supply as to place them wholly beyond the means of the municipalities concerned. Here, as in so many administrative schemes, one is reminded of the French saying, for which oddly enough we have no equivalent in English, le mieux est toujours l'ennemi du bien. People want too much and they get nothing. Surely pure water without house connexions is better than impure water, and a law which is intended to apply to places of very various circumstances should recognise the fact that all of them cannot afford the same standard of conveniences.

"Finally, I have a few words to say about three sections, regarding which the intentions of the Government seem to have been somewhat misunderstood. The first of these is section 3, amending section 9 of the present Act. Section 9 of the Act runs as follows:—

The Local Government may, on the recommendation of the Commissioners at a meeting, by a like notification, at any time vary the limits of any Municipality or sub-divide any Municipality into two or more Municipalities, or withdraw any town, village or land from the operation of this Act, or alter the number of the Commissioners of such Municipality.

"The condition about the recommendation of the Commissioners was introduced in 1854, no special reason being given. In practice the change has been found inconvenient. Several cases have been reported in which purely rural tracts have been included within the boundaries of municipalities, and enquiry has shown that in these cases the tests prescribed by section 10 of the Act for determining whether a particular place can properly be made a Municipality were almost wholly inapplicable. Whether a mistake was made in the elaborate methods are the order of the day. How are all these things to be provided? Fresh forms of Municipal taxation are, I submit, hardly to be thought of, and no attempts in this direction will be found in the Bill. But what may be done and, I submit, ought to be done without delay is to make the existing methods of taxation more productive. In many, if not most, Municipalities the work of assessment, at no time an easy matter, has become too difficult and too complicated for the Commissioners to deal with adequately. We have got to the point which was reached in England in 1836, when it was found that the system under which the Vestry appointed members to form a Committee and revise the rate and the valuation on which it was levied 'seldom produced a satisfactory result to the parish.' The Parochial Assessment Act was passed expressly with the object of redressing 'the irregular and unequal mode in which the poor-rate (on which English municipal taxation is based) was assessed in a great part of the country,' and to remedy 'the many abuses and irregularities which prevailed in the imposition of this tax.' These words, taken from a standard English work on parochial assessment, are, I submit, entirely applicable to the state of things which prevails in Bengal Municipalities. The system usually adopted of dividing the area to be dealt with among a number of Commissioners is bound to bring about an unequal incidence of taxation, and the Government has knowledge of numerous cases where it has done so. The fact is, that whether the tax on holdings or the tax on persons is in force, it is a very difficult task to make a good assessment of a Bengal Municipality, and assuredly the worst possible means of doing it is to put it in commission, as it were, among a number of gentlemen not specially qualified for the purpose. No one would dream of making the road cess assessment of a district on such a system, but as between cess valuations and Municipal valuations, I am not at all sure that the former is not the easier of the two. The data for rating the cess are obtained by fixed rules, and under legal sanction, they are on the whole moderately certain, and once the returns have been got in and verified, the rest of the process is mainly mechanical. In municipal matters, on the other hand, everything is uncertain: the law gives the vaguest of rules, and you need to be something of an expert to apply those to the facts in hand. How is a man with no special experience of such matters to ascertain the annual value of a particular holding which does not happen to be let, or to estimate the income—for that is what the personal tax really comes to—of so many dwellers in so many mud huts? Then consider the influences that are brought to bear, the constant solicitations the unfortunate assessing Commissioner is subjected to, frequently by his own constituents, if he is assessing his own ward, the closely personal character of the whole thing, the pressure, the intrigue, the liability to error all round, and I really think it is wonderful that Municipal assessments are not much worse than they are.

"The flaws in our present system being then much the same as those which were observed in the English system fifty years ago, we propose to adopt the same remedy. The new assessment sections, which have been drafted as far as possible on the lines of the English law, provide that all assessments shall be made by a salaried assessor appointed by the Municipal Commissioners and working under their authority. The Commissioners will fix the rate at which taxation shall be levied, and the assessor will determine the valuation. That is to say, where the tax on holdings is in force, the assessor will determine the annual value of each holding, and where the tax on persons prevails, he will fix the assessable income of each person occupying a holding. Appeals from the assessor's decisions will be heard by three Municipal Commissioners appointed at a meeting. Provisions have been added, borrowed from the English law on the subject of parochial rating, which entitle the assessor to be heard, or to state his opinion, in every appeal, and lay down that the valuation made, or opinion stated by him, shall be deemed to be right unless it is proved to be wrong.

"I venture to hope that these provisions, which differ materially from those embodied in the draft Bill, will be favourably received by most municipal bodies. They will relieve the Commissioners of the details of what is generally admitted to be an irksome and unpleasant duty, without depriving them of the executive control and appellate jurisdiction which have hitherto belonged to them. They will also, I believe, equalise the burthen of municipal taxation by or other place which they consider likely to engender or cause the spread of any dangerous disease. This section has been received with almost unanimous approval, and is objected to by only one officer on the ground that it is contrary to the ordinary principles of legislation to punish a man for doing that which can only harm himself. This, however, seems to miss the point, both of this particular provision and of most modern sanitary legislation. All prohibitions, such as that now in question, proceed on the assumption that the consequences of the action prohibited are not limited to the individual who does it, but extend also to his neighbours, and it is this assumption alone that justifies interference. In fact the section empowering the Commissioners to stop people using water, the use of which may spread disease, rests on exactly the same principle as certain other sections enabling them to control the storage of kerosine and inflammable oils, and to search for oil stored in contravention of such orders. In both cases the act of an individual may do injury to his neighbours. He drinks bad water and gets a disease, which other people catch; he stores kerosine carelessly; his house takes fire, and the fire spreads to the houses in the same street. In either case the law intervenes to save others from the consequences of his neglect.

“The important question of the extinction and prevention of fire—a matter which comes home with considerable force to the residents of most Bengal towns—is disposed of by Act III of 1884 in half-a-dozen words. Section 69 enables the Commissioners to maintain a fire-brigade: that is all. Of the powers of the members of the fire-brigade and of the possible liabilities arising from their action nothing is said, nor does there appear to be any power taken in the Act to fill this gap in its provisions by rules or bye-laws. The draft sections on this subject which have been adapted from the Punjab Act have been received with general approval by officials and Municipal Commissioners. The only adverse opinion is that of a single official who thinks that the police could deal with the fires more efficiently, the cost of the necessary implements being paid by the municipality. This officer adds that his experience of municipal fire-engines is that they are either out of order when a fire occurs, or arrive too late to be of any use, and suggests that the question might be better dealt with by recasting the Calcutta Fire-Brigade Act. There is no doubt an element of truth in what is said of the efficiency of Mofussil Fire-Brigades. I knew of a Fire-Brigade in a certain municipality which was superbly organized, so far at least as outward appearances were concerned. All the members of the force had gorgeous uniforms, they were commanded by a Major-General, they had a Lieutenant-Colonel, a Major, and a Captain, and the people of the next District, who looked on with envy, said the Brigade consisted of nothing but officers. They used to drill regularly, and work their engines at every drill, but the place was very dry, and there was not water enough for ordinary drills. So they did without. When at last their opportunity came, and a fire broke out in the bazar, the engines were in excellent time, and the firemen were all there; they pumped away with extreme vigour but without the smallest result; the hose though swollen to alarming dimensions produced the feeblest dribble, hardly enough to quench a fire in Lilliput. After a bit the hose burst, and scattered in all directions a huge family of rats of all sizes who had found it a comfortable home in its dry state, but had been drowned incontinently directly the pumping began; their bodies had choked the nozzle, and the pressure had burst the hose. That illustrates one aspect of the Fire-Brigade question, an aspect which I hope is not likely to recur. At the same time, it does not follow that the suggestion to recast the Calcutta Fire-Brigade Act for Mofussil use is a practicable suggestion. I trust that, after considering the draft sections, which have been adapted from the Punjab Municipal Act, the Council will be of opinion that they offer a reasonable solution of the question.

“These are the chief among what may be called the executive or administrative provisions of the Bill. They add materially to the powers of the Commissioners, and may perhaps tend indirectly to enhance their financial liabilities. In any case, whether these sections have that effect or not, there can be no question that the ideas of the day on the subject of Municipal administration make generally for higher expenditure. Municipalities are required to do more, and to spend more money on doing it, than was the case twenty years ago. Larger establishments, more expensive plant, more embody experience gathered from all Provinces, and are, or were, till the present Bill was drafted, the most advanced specimen of legislation on the subject. In referring to the Punjab Act, therefore, as a model to be followed in shaping the municipal law of the growing towns of Bengal, we are simply referring to the best model that is available in India. We shall give our municipalities the opportunity of adopting the legal provisions which are believed to be suitable for the most highly developed type of an Asiatic town, which has to be swept and garnished in accordance with Western sanitary ideas adapted to Eastern conditions. It will rest with the Commissioners to apply these provisions according to their lights.

"I am not at all prepared to say that the Bill which is to be laid before the Council exhausts the possible applications of this principle. We have borrowed and adapted a good deal from the Punjab Act, that is to say, from the conduct and experience of all India, as well as from examples of shortcomings at home. It will be for the Select Committee and for public opinion to say whether more should not be borrowed from that experience, or from the lessons taught by the working of the existing Act in Bengal. I will sketch briefly the main features of the changes proposed. It has on several occasions been brought to the notice of Government that the existing building regulations are inadequate and unsatisfactory, and that they do not confer sufficient power on the Municipal Commissioners. The sections adopted from the Punjab Act seem to meet what is a real want in many Bengal towns. It is a matter for regret that the criticisms received on these sections do not go into their possible working as minutely as might have been wished, and I must repeat here the hope expressed in the circular letter issued with the first draft of the Bill, that the provisions now suggested, which have meanwhile undergone some revision, will receive careful examination from all Municipal Commissioners. To one form of criticism I wish to say a word of reply. It is alleged, in curious contrast to the opposite line of argument already noticed, that these sections are too advanced for Bengal towns and will not be brought into operation. Now it is no doubt the case that what passes for a town in Bengal is usually a rather mixed kind of product—half town, half village. But almost all Bengal towns have grown up on the nucleus of what is frequently called a chauk—a street or group of streets of closely packed masonry buildings—and as time goes on the tendency is for the chauk to expand and for masonry houses to multiply in other parts of the town. For this chauk and its precincts the provisions in question are already suitable and necessary, and the area of their application will go on constantly expanding.

"Another useful provision, which has been adapted from the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, is section 14, which enables Municipalities to combine with each other, and with other local bodies, such as District Boards, Local Boards and Cantonment Committees, for any purpose in which they are jointly interested. Such purpose might either be a matter of every-day administration, like the registration of carts or the disposal of rubbish, or might be a larger scheme, such as a project for water-supply or drainage. I believe that the practical advantages derivable from this section will be illustrated, as soon as the Bill becomes law, in the groups of Suburban Municipalities on either bank of the Hooghly. These Municipalities have long suffered from the want of pure water and good drainage; they have experienced serious outbreaks of cholera; they have felt the more deadly, though less sudden, ravages of malarial fever, and yet through want of the requisite legal machinery they have been unable to combine to carry out the only measures likely to relieve their sufferings.

"In the same area—the suburban area lying round about Calcutta and Howrah—the crowded state of the huts used as lodging-houses by the poorer classes, particularly by day-labourers and mill operatives, has been found to be a source of danger to the public health. A section has therefore been inserted empowering the Commissioners to prevent overcrowding in such lodging-houses, and to enforce provision for a proper water-supply, for latrine accommodation, and for the disposal of refuse.

"Another section, framed with a sanitary object in view, enables the Commissioners by public notice to prohibit the use of the water in any well, tank, of the old Act. The High Court judgment, however, overruled this opinion, and held that the framers of the new Act had not succeeded in carrying out their obvious intention by the words they used. The Honourable Judges thus created a sort of vacuum in respect of these essential provisions. To fill this vacuum two courses were open—a short and simple one, and a long and cumbrous one. The simplest one was to amend the Act by using words so clear and definite that no Court could hold they did not carry out the intention of the Government. The alternative would have been to issue fresh notifications under the existing Act for all the municipalities affected by the judgment, and thus to put things straight without any change in the law. But in order to attain this end, the Commissioners of each municipality concerned would have to convene a special meeting, and pass a Resolution applying to the Government for the extension of the Part in question. The Local Government would thereupon make an order accordingly. This order would have to be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and within fifteen days of such publication to be posted up and published by beat of drum in the municipalities concerned, and the Commissioners would have to fix a date on which it should take effect. Having regard to the amount of trouble and correspondence that would have been caused by setting this complicated machinery in action all over the country, it was thought that the simplest means of attaining the end in view was also likely to be the best, and it was accordingly decided to amend the Act.

“There were other reasons for adopting this solution of the difficulty. In the eight years during which Act III of 1884 has been in force, municipal administration has developed in several directions, and is no longer the simple matter that it was. All over the world the Goddess of Health, the newly-born science of sanitation, is beginning to assert herself, and is laying every day heavier burthens on those who are responsible for the management of towns. Like the Sibyl of the Roman legend, she constantly raises her demands, but unlike her, I regret to say, she shows no disposition to burn any of her books. On the contrary, the mass of sanitary literature is continually growing, and very dreary literature it is. Well, as I said, this movement in favour of sanitation is going on everywhere; and Bengal, which people in Europe are apt to look upon as a centre for the manufacture and distribution of cholera, cannot expect to stand aloof from it. Our municipalities have in the main—longo intervallo it may be—to follow the lead of municipal authorities in England, who, I need hardly say, are ruled with a rod of iron by the sanitarians of the Local Government Board. Looked at from this point of view—from the standpoint of modern sanitary notions—it must be admitted that the Act of 1884 is rather primitive. An analysis of that Act will show that it contains provisions belonging to two different types, one may almost say two different eras. What may be called its constitutional provisions—the sections dealing with election and so forth—are very advanced and modern. They were introduced in 1884 with the current of new ideas then prevailing. But its sanitary provisions are comparatively antiquated; they date for the most part from 1876, or even earlier than that; they belong to the stone age of municipal legislation.

“Now, in order to enable our municipalities to march with the times and to meet those enlarged demands of the Goddess of Health which I have referred to, it becomes necessary, in the first place, to enlarge their powers. In drafting provisions with this object, we have been mainly concerned with the duty of altering any item in which our own Act has been proved to be inefficient or to operate very narrowly; but as to the form in which our emendations are recast, we have taken as an example the most modern piece of Indian municipal legislation—the Punjab Municipal Act of 1891. That, I submit, is the natural and the right thing to do. I remember having seen some criticism on the Bill, which reflected on our action in this respect, and said or implied—I cannot recall the exact words—that in taking a Punjab Act as our model we were trying an advanced Province by the standard of a backward Province, and so forth. That is a complete mistake. Whether the Punjab is more or less advanced than Bengal in the essential characteristic of city life would be hard to decide, but it may safely be asserted that there is no such difference as to lead the legislature to provide the Punjab with a rougher and less perfect instrument for conducting Municipal government than should be provided for Bengal, and, as a matter of fact, a perusal of the Punjab Act will show that its clauses

BENGAL MUNICIPAL ACT, 1884, AMENDMENT BILL.

The HON'BLE MR. RISLEY moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884.

He said:— "Mr. President, in moving for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Bengal Municipal Act III of 1884, I will endeavour to explain, as briefly as possible, why it has been thought necessary to amend that Act, and in what manner and on what lines the amending Bill has been drawn up. The first draft was prepared in January 1892, and was circulated to all Commissioners and Collectors of districts, with the request that they would consult all Chairmen of Municipalities and Municipal Commissioners as to its provisions. In reply to this circular, we have received a great mass of official and non-official opinion, and have taken advantage of the suggestions thus made to revise the draft in several important details. The Bill which I now ask leave to introduce is, I regret to say, rather a long one. It contains 57 sections, and deals with a number of details through which the Council would find it tedious to follow me. All of these points are explained section by section in the Statement of Objects and Reasons which, with the Bill itself, will I trust shortly be in the hands of Honourable Members. On the present occasion I do not propose to trouble the Council with anything more formidable than a running commentary on the Statement of Objects and Reasons, taking up and explaining the more important sections at greater length and in more popular language than would be appropriate to that quasi-legal document.

"In the first place, I have to answer the obvious question, why should the Act be amended at all? To change the law is no light matter at any time, least of all when the statute to be dealt with extends to 367 sections, and is concerned with the mass of minute administrative detail of which municipal business is everywhere made up. In the present instance, the reasons for amendment are, I submit, convincing. In a judgment delivered on the 24th March 1891, a Divisional Bench of the Calcutta High Court held on technical grounds that none of the provisions of Part VI of the present Municipal Act were in force in the town of Kushtea. The Hon'ble Judges added that so far as they could see none of those provisions were in force in any municipality in Bengal, unless they had been specially extended under Act III of 1884. They considered the matter to be of such importance that they directed a copy to be sent to the Government of Bengal. Now, Part VI contains a number of what are called special regulations dealing with privies, drains and excavations, obstructions and encroachments on roads, building regulations, sanitary measures affecting blocks of huts, sale of food, drink and drugs, burial and burning grounds, and certain offensive and dangerous trades, such as tanneries, slaughter-houses, kerosine depôts, and the like. To all or most municipalities of any standing the corresponding Sanitary sections, which formed Part VII of Bengal Act V of 1876, the old Municipal Act, had long ago been extended by notification, and the legislators who framed Act III of 1884 took infinite pains to provide in section 2 of the Act that every rule, bye-law, notification and assessment and other work done under the old Act should be valid under the new Act. The Law Officers of the Bengal Government held that this section was amply sufficient to maintain in force the notification which extended this portion

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

By Dr. Geo. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The period of registration of subscribers' names having expired on the 1st October, the price will in future be in India Rs. 45 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made). An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England, at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

No. 507.

Calcutta, the 26th October, 1891.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report on Public Instruction in Bengal for the year 1890-91.

The Annual Report for 1890-91 has been submitted by Sir Alfred Croft, K.C.I.E., who was in charge of the Department of Public Instruction throughout the year. It has Preliminary: unavoidably been laid before Government a few days after the prescribed date, and the Lieutenant Governor trusts that next year due punctuality will be observed. According to the standing rule that full details need only be printed in alternate years, the present report might have been considerably curtailed, but the Director has rightly anticipated His Honour's wishes in treating certain portions of it at full length.

2. A comparison of the statistics shows that public institutions have increased by 145, and their pupils have diminished by 15,434; private institutions were fewer by 480, and their pupils less by 7,546: total loss 335 institutions and 22,980 pupils. The fluctuations in the numbers attending higher education are of an ordinary character, and their general tendency is to increase. The decrease in the number of lower primary schools has been continuous during the last four years, as the following figures show :—

				Number of schools.	Number of pupils.
1887-88	45,596	991,110
1888-89	44,854	982,126
1889-90	44,146	960,914
1890-91	43,998	942,244

The figures of 1890-91 are significant and cannot be explained, as last year, by the reappearance of primaries in the list of Koran schools. The net loss of pupils in lower primary schools is over 18,000, whereas the Koran schools are fewer by 195 and their pupils by 4,775. In private institutions also another main reduction is perceptible in Arabic or Persian schools from 1,904 to 1,146. Again, in classifying the figures of the last two years according to the numbers in the several stages of education, the main results are that higher education has progressed, that there has been a general advance of pupils from the upper primary to the middle, and from the middle to the higher stage, while the loss of pupils has been for the most part confined to the lower primary stage. During the decade, 1881 to 1891, education has advanced to the extent of a gain of 18,443 schools and of 540,454 pupils; in other words, the schools have increased by 39 per cent. and the pupils by 58 per cent. The Census of last spring affords an opportunity for further comparisons. In 10 years the population and the number of male and female children of school-going age have increased by between 6 and 7 per cent. During the same period the number of boys at school has advanced by 54 per cent., and of girls under instruction by 166 per cent.

3. In the Resolution on the Director's report for 1889-90, allusion was made to the procedure under which the Accountant-General each year reduces the departmental budget by a large amount on account of probable savings, so that the eventual result can hardly show any further savings. This year also the sum of Rs. 1,73,000 was deducted on this account, so that the actuals have exceeded the reduced estimates by nearly Rs 62,000. After adjusting a charge of Rs. 11,700 on account of the Civil Engineering College, and an excess of Rs. 6,550 in the receipts over the estimates, the net deficit falls to Rs. 43,415. The Accountant-General will doubtless take note of what is said in paragraph 8 of the report, and endeavour to make a more correct approximation in calculating the "probable savings" on the estimates. The total expenditure on education in Bengal, including all disbursements from public and private sources, such as the fees and contributions paid to the University and in all public schools, amounted to Rs. 85,74,000—a decrease of Rs. 1,69,000 as compared with the preceding year. The expenditure from public sources rose from Rs. 32,37,000 to Rs. 32,67,000, the increase being almost entirely from Provincial revenues; the private contributions fell from Rs. 55,06,000 to Rs. 53,07,000; the greater part of this decrease was in the fee-receipts of the schools. The whole difference of two lakhs represents a merely nominal decline, as both the fee-receipts and the other sources of income were erroneously excluded from the returns of the year in unaided high English schools for Europeans. Collegiate, secondary, primary, special education, all cost less than in the preceding year, but Rs. 63,000 more were spent on female education. Municipal funds contributed Rs. 9,000 less than last year, and the same uncertainty that has before been noticed continues to attach to their figures. The Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to hear that the difficulty of obtaining authentic figures from the municipalities had been surmounted.

4. The Director visited several districts and colleges during the year, and separate orders have recently been issued with respect to the amount of inspection duty he will be expected to perform personally in future. The Assistant Inspectors were all engaged on touring for long periods, and an explanation has been furnished to show why some of them showed less work of this kind than might have been expected. The amount of work performed by the Inspectress of Female Schools in touring, and the number of schools visited, should be stated in future. The Lieutenant-Governor has noticed the Director's remarks on the want of an Assistant Inspector in the Dacca Division, and will await a more detailed exposition of the difficulties which have arisen in connection with the insufficiency of inspection in the Chittagong Division. It is certainly inadequate for the Inspector to spend only four days in Noakholly and five days in Chittagong respectively. The periods spent on tour by the Deputy Inspectors vary from an average of 148 days in Chittagong to 186 days in Chota Nagpore; this range of variation is much smaller than in the previous year, but the fact still remains that in nine districts the prescribed minimum of 150 days spent on tour was not attained. His Honour is satisfied that the Census operations, in which the officers of the Education Department were largely and very properly employed, interfered to some extent with their ordinary duties, and it is a matter for congratulation that the work of inspection could be conducted with so little detriment on this score. The question of providing the Deputy Inspectors with clerical assistance on a moderate scale has recently been resubmitted by the Director, and is under the consideration of Government. The Sub-Inspectors are required to spend a minimum of 200 days in the interior of the country, and to visit 400 schools a year. The statement furnished does not indicate the individual officers who failed to conform with the standing orders; but the average of time spent on tour fell short in four divisions by various amounts, and only in the Burdwan Division the proper number of schools was visited. The Census work must also be taken as sufficient explanation for any shortcomings this year on the part of Sub-Inspectors. The 940 chief gurus and inspecting pundits paid 270,388 visits to schools. These figures should represent a considerable amount of inspection, and the Lieutenant-Governor fully approves of the plan of substituting inspecting pundits for chief gurus, so that the latter may not neglect their own pathshalas. The pundits are the more costly agency, doubtless, but by their better education they ought to improve the standard of the primary schools. Mr. Bellett has properly brought to the notice of Government his view that supervision is greatly neglected by Sub-Inspectors, and His Honour trusts that the responsibilities of these officers for watching the work of the inspecting pundits will be fully maintained.

5. The Director has rightly recorded the fact that the District Boards constituted under the Local Self-Government Act of 1885 now form a part of the regular governing machinery of the country in respect of education. For some time it was likely that difficulties would arise in consequence of the reluctance of the departmental officers to adopt a new system, and on the other hand, of the novelty of the duties imposed on the members of the Boards. As might have been expected, the experience of five years' working has produced good results. The relations between the Boards and the departmental officers are pronounced to be eminently satisfactory with hardly any exceptions. The differences between these authorities in the Burdwan and Orissa Divisions, mentioned in last year's report, have been composed. It is also gratifying that these improvements can be traced to distinct causes, such as the appointment of the Deputy Inspector as an ex-officio member of the District Board in every district but one; and secondly, the issue of revised rules under the Local Self-Government Act. The rules were framed with great care, have been found to be nearly complete, and are rarely broken. Sir Alfred Croft has again mentioned a few instances in which there have been differences of opinion, more or less pronounced, between District Boards and the departmental officers. The instances have been few, and the Lieutenant-Governor has no wish to hamper the former by unreasonable restrictions where they are within their rights, though he thinks they would ordinarily do well to follow the advice of experts. It is observed that the Deputy Inspector is not a member of the Gya District Board, and this exception should not be allowed to continue. It is sometimes the practice for the educational work to be disposed of by the District Board, in the person of its Chairman, in direct communication with the Educational Committee in the single person of the Deputy Inspector, whereas the Government has frequently inculcated the necessity of District Boards being fully consulted, in all matters of principle and importance, through their Educational Committees. It is to be regretted, therefore, that at least one District Officer appears to have adopted a policy inconsistent with the orders of Government, by making over the entire educational work of the Board to the Deputy Inspector under his own supervision as Chairman. He will be directed to subordinate his own views to the authorized policy. A special report will also be called for on the state of education in the Puri district, which appears from the Magistrate's account to be unsatisfactory. The Lieutenant-Governor desires it to be understood that he will look to the District Boards through their Educational Committees and the Deputy Inspectors, to carry out all the duties assigned to them under the orders of Government. The Local Boards which have been appointed for educational work in many districts appear to have made a commencement, but their success is evidently so limited hitherto that they cannot be considered to have emerged from the experimental stage.

6. There has been no change of any importance in the number of collegiate institutions, though this year returns have been received from only 34 instead of from 36

University Education.

colleges. Of these 11 are Government, 8 aided and 15 unaided. There has thus been a temporary check in the development of private enterprise in this direction, but the increasing demand for higher education is testified to by the number of collegiate students, viz., 5,232, the highest figure yet attained. This result is a consequence of the large proportion of successful candidates at the Entrance Examination of 1890. Of the increase of 350 students during the year, 173 are in the Government colleges; there are 267 students more in the aided colleges, but the unaided institutions have fallen off by 90 during the year under report. Nearly half the colleges are in Calcutta, and they have attracted nearly two-thirds of the whole number of students. The numbers of the successful candidates at the University Examinations during the last four years have varied as follows:—

		1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.
First Arts	...	481	629	996	693
Bachelors of Arts	...	323	336	399	231
Masters of Arts...	...	43	58	62	57

The proportion of First Arts students successful is almost identical with last year, but the decrease in the number is due to fewer candidates having passed the Entrance Examination in 1889 compared with 1888. The Government colleges fully maintained a marked superiority in passing candidates, not only in total numbers, but also in places in the higher division and in scholarships. The successful Bachelors of Arts fell from 40 per cent. of the candidates in 1890 to below 29 per cent. in 1891. These great variations in the ratio of success are very unsatisfactory. If due to the inferiority of the candidates it is inevitable; if to changes in the teaching staff it is avoidable, and should be avoided. The Lieutenant Governor looks to the Director to see that the interests of the Professors are not considered before the interests of the students. If these variations are due to a difference in the standard and to changes in the examination, this swing of the pendulum is discouraging and injurious to the spread of education. Efforts should be made to secure uniformity of standard, and this can only be attained by continuity in the examining body. It is to be regretted that there were many changes in the staff of the Ravenshaw College; but the Lieutenant-Governor is confident that, unless necessitated by considerations of health or other urgent causes, such changes should be made as rarely as possible. The number of Muhammadan candidates successful at the University Examinations for the last three years is shown as follows:—

		1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.
First Arts	...	19	21	57	16
Bachelors of Arts	...	12	18	21	12
Masters of Arts	...	1	1	3	2

These results show that the progress recently made has not been maintained, especially in the First Arts Examination. The total expenditure upon collegiate education has decreased during the year from Rs. 6,91,079 to Rs. 6,62,377, or, after certain adjustments, by Rs. 19,000. The charge on Provincial revenues is 40·7 per cent. of this total. In the Government colleges the total cost has also fallen from Rs. 4,09,955 to Rs. 4,00,726, and the cost to Provincial revenues from Rs. 2,52,465 to Rs. 2,43,757. The annual cost of each student in a Government college decreased from Rs. 244 to Rs. 232, and the cost of his education to Government from Rs. 150 to Rs. 141. Various causes, such as the increased free-receipts and the gradual substitution of cheaper agency, have conduced to these results. The diminished cost of the Presidency College in five years from Rs. 91,304 to Rs. 79,836, simultaneous with increased efficiency, is very satisfactory. The following figures, which refer to the whole number of the collegiate students, are worth recording:—

7. Sir A. Croft has made an interesting comparison between the candidates for the A course in Literature and those for the B course in Science. There has been a steady decline of late years in the number of candidates taking up Science, both in aided and unaided institutions; so that, with hardly an exception, it may be said that Science is no longer taught in unaided colleges. On the other hand, the results of the examinations for the last four years have been steadily in favour of the B course candidates. As the Science candidates have succeeded better than those of the A course in the subject of English, in which they are examined in common, the Director is disposed to infer, not that the B course was the easier, but rather that it was chosen by the best candidates. The Director's views on this question are valuable and his criticism is thorough. But some of the numerical results exhibited in his report differ strangely. It may perhaps be suggested that the B course is the more expensive to teach and requires costly apparatus, so that the result turns very much on the means available for instruction: where they are complete, as at the Presidency College, the mind is well developed and the students do better, even in English; where they are incomplete, as at Dacca and Hooghly, the training is more superficial. If the Director's view as to the mental superiority of those who take up the B course is correct, it is very encouraging, as a training in Science has long been recognized as the great desideratum for the Indian mind, which has shown a greater inclination for literary and philosophic pursuits than for observation and the study of facts. Another reason is alleged for the unpopularity of this course, in the greater ease with which those who have passed in English and mathematics gain posts under Government, and teaching appointments in schools. This is a true and apposite remark. It is to be hoped, however, that a better time is coming for Physical Science and for the diversity of occupations which must follow from the development of factories, mines, and other industrial occupations in the country.

8. The number of secondary schools for native boys has risen during the year from 2,366 to 2,393, but the number of pupils has fallen from 201,452 to 199,105. The floods in the Presidency Division affected the middle schools, to which the loss is confined to the extent of 2,000 pupils. The expenditure on secondary instruction has varied in the last three years as follows:—

	No. of schools.	Public funds.	Private funds.	Total.
		Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1888-89 ...	2,319	6,01,579	19,34,506	25,36,045
1889-90 ...	2,366	6,08,294	20,11,672	26,19,933
1891-91	2,393	6,11,046	20,62,859	26,73,905

The increase from private funds is about eighteen times as great as that from public funds. It is a good sign that the municipal contributions to secondary education do not increase, as until adequate provision is made for primary, it is no part of the duty of municipalities to contribute large sums to secondary education. The Lieutenant-Governor will have an inquiry made in the Municipal Department to see whether the figures received therein agree with those of the Education Department. The number of High English Schools has risen from 343 to 351. Of these nearly 300 are under private management, and their general efficiency affords a proof that the gradual withdrawal of Government from the control of its zillah schools can be effected without appreciable injury to education. Since the year came to an end, the Hindu School at Calcutta has been allowed to remain in existence (although its closure had been decided upon) in deference to representations, and on the condition of paying its way. At the University Entrance Examination 1,710 boys passed as compared with 2,156 in 1890, the percentage of success being 42 instead of 50. Great care is said to be taken to make the tests applied in this examination as constant in quality as possible, so that the fluctuations may chiefly depend on the varying capacities of the candidates. In the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion the real remedy to ensure accuracy of results would be to maintain a continuous body of examiners, which is the best method of securing a uniform standard, and nothing should be done to affect the independence of this body. It would be a source of regret if anything were done to override that independence by the pressure of public opinion either within or without the University aiming at a reduction of the general standard. In future reports it is desirable that there should be on record some information as to places where Government zilla schools exist alongside unaided schools, and where they should either give way to those schools or else should justify their existence. In the Middle English and Middle Vernacular Scholarship Examinations the percentages of successful candidates rose considerably, but the Lieutenant Governor is not disposed to regard these fluctuations as satisfactory unless the tendency is continuously in an upward direction. The system of high schools on a vernacular basis is favourably reported on, and Sir Charles Elliott thoroughly shares the view that the acquisition of a rudimentary knowledge of the principal subjects of study through the mother-tongue has considerable advantages.

9. The measures that have been adopted of late to give effect to the views of the Government of India in regard to discipline in schools and colleges appear to be bearing fruit. All the higher inspecting officers are decidedly of opinion that improvement has been effected. Conduct registers have been introduced, boarding-houses are becoming more numerous and popular, books of questionable morality are being carefully excluded from the course of study, and breaches of discipline that come to notice are promptly and effectively punished. This progress has been attained by the efforts of the department and the co-operation of the University and school managers. The rules which have been framed for all classes of schools to regulate the transfers of boys from one school to another have had a large share in enforcing discipline. The boy is no longer master of the situation, and cannot now change his school without paying his fees, or without his guardians' knowledge, or when chastised for misconduct, or not promoted to a higher class. It has, indeed, become necessary to watch that the rules are not used oppressively. The Lieutenant-Governor is aware that the evils of insubordination and laxity of discipline were chiefly conspicuous in the large towns, and he hears with pleasure that they have lately diminished. But he is not prepared to accept implicitly the optimistic view in which the officers of the department indulge to the effect that these shortcomings are confined to schools under private management. During the past year facts have been brought to his knowledge, of which he was constrained to take immediate and serious notice. He has heard bad accounts of the state of discipline among the pupils in some Government schools, of the want of respect of the boys for their teachers, of their rudeness to gentlemen, and especially to ladies, out of doors; and he is quite prepared, if a bad case of this kind is proved and warnings are neglected, to close any school or college where such a punishment is required. He fully concurs with the Director that instances of misconduct on the part of schoolmasters should be vigorously dealt with, and that any organised riot, such as occurred in one of the training schools, should meet with condign punishment. It is to be hoped that the labours of the Central Text-book Committee, who selected a number of text-books from the authorised list as having a definite moral tendency, will conduce to the desired results. It may be expected, too, that the home influence and associations of the students will be improved as the parents and guardians become better aware of the importance attached by Government and the Department to matters of discipline and good conduct.

With regard to physical training, the Lieutenant Governor has not much to add to what has already been declared to be the policy of Government, that all manly games should be encouraged, and that a reasonable amount of financial assistance will be afforded to provide gymnastic appliances and in aid of athletic clubs. The Director has rightly observed that on the whole a fairly sufficient response has been made to the invitation held out by the Government. Some of the professors and masters have shown a laudable activity in promoting and sharing in school games, and their example should be followed by all who are not debarred by physical inability from doing so. Sir Charles Elliott has noticed with pleasure Sir A. Croft's remark that the European residents of a station generally take keen interest in the games of the school-boys, and he hopes that the friendly intercourse thus commenced will develop into kindly relations between the different sections of the community.

10. The Lieutenant Governor has perused with interest the statistics of the cost of living in boarding-houses, sometimes called hostels, attached to educational institutions. The facts have been gathered from 26 places outside Calcutta, in which 822 resident students were accommodated. The average cost for each student was almost exactly Rs. 4 a month, of which he contributed the price of his food, Rs. 2-11-6; the remainder, on account of servant, rent and sundries was supplied from Government and other sources. This charge for food cannot be considered excessive, but at most places where the Lieutenant Governor has made enquiries as to the payment required from a student at a boarding-house, he has found it to be not less than Rs. 4 per mensem, except at Muhammadan institutions. Even at a remote place like Nya Doonka in the Sonthal Pergunnahs the charge was said to be Rs. 4, which seems too large. The families of many ryots and small landholders often live on Rs. 5 or Rs. 6 a month: and though there may not be many boys from this stratum of society in our zillah schools, it is very desirable that they should not be excluded from the boarding houses by inability to pay a sum which bears so large a proportion to the family income. A severe standard of thrift and ascetic living should be offered by boarding houses in Bengal, and Sir Charles Elliott trusts that efforts will be made to reduce the charges as much as possible.

11. The following figures represent the numerical fluctuation of primary education for boys during the last four years:—

Primary education.

			UPPER PRIMARY.		LOWER PRIMARY.
			Number of schools.	Pupils.	Number of schools.	Pupils.
1887-88	3,026	112,323	45,595	991,099
1888-89	3,077	115,485	44,854	982,126
1889-90	3,337	124,568	44,145	960,865
1890-91	3,537	128,537	43,997	942,211

It is clear from these figures that there is a natural advance of the best lower primary to the upper primary stage, and the tendency is in the direction of extending patronage to the upper primary schools, while difficulty is experienced in keeping the number of lower primaries up to the mark. The total result is a net gain of 52 primary schools for boys, and a loss of 14,685 pupils. The losses are accounted for by the floods which affected three divisions, the consequent agricultural distress, and epidemics: but the Census may also with reason be held to have affected the collection of statistics about unaided schools, so that the loss may not have been really so heavy as it would appear to be on paper. The following statement shows by Divisions the administration and expenditure of the primary grant upon aided schools in 1890-91:—

Total	7,89,897	7,36,906	40,512	944,410	18-2	12-4

The Lieutenant-Governor would like the last four columns in the larger table in paragraph 89 of the Director's report, from which this statement is abridged, sub-divided into headings "upper" and "lower" primary in future. The proportion of boys actually at school compared with the number of boys of school-going age varies from 68 per cent. at Hooghly to 10 and 7 per cent., respectively, in the districts of Mozufferpore and Durbhunga. In these two cases the figures are extraordinarily low, and indicate great backwardness in the popular desire for learning, and perhaps some lack of support to education on the part of the District Boards. Apart from the sums spent on primary schools from the grant-in-aid fund and the circle school grant, the total expenditure on primary education, controlled by the Department and by District Boards, amounted to Rs. 7,36,906, of which Rs. 1,57,311 were from Provincial Revenues and Rs. 5,79,595 from District Funds. The question of the proportion of the primary grant spent on stipends allowed to stipendiary schools to the amount spent on rewards to non-stipendiaries is fully discussed by the Director. The Government policy, as has been repeatedly announced, is, broadly speaking, to replace stipends by payments-by-results. Hitherto, though the stipendiaries represent only about a fifth part of the primary schools, they have for some time past been receiving more than half the primary grant. In spite of the much larger sum spent on each stipendiary school, the fact remains that many non-stipendiary schools are as efficient as the stipendiaries. Thus 30,618 lower primary schools sent pupils to the examination, of which 27,239 were non-stipendiaries and 3,379 stipendiaries. Out of the 30,618, so many as 6,586 schools were successful. Even if all the 3,379 stipendiaries were successful (which is hardly probable), there must have been at least 3,207 non-stipendiary schools successful. To admit of the limited funds available for primary education being used as widely as possible to aid the large number of pathsalas that require some help, the measures to be adopted would be, either to cut down the rate of stipends, or to reduce the number of stipendiaries and extend the system of payment by-results, or to reduce the number of chief gurus and inspecting pundits, or to exclude from rewards the pathsalas that fail to earn a certain fixed minimum. In many instances the District Boards have increased the grant for rewards and reduced that for stipends. The Lieutenant-Governor completely concurs in the Director's views that a system of stipends gives greater stability to the schools and should be extended if funds were available. Sir Alfred Croft writes—

Except in the case of very backward tracts, where hardly any fee-receipts can be looked for, and where, therefore, a stipend is the teacher's chief means of subsistence, small stipends of one or two rupees a month are, it is believed, just as efficacious as larger ones for the purpose of securing the stability of a lower primary school. Such sums might for convenience be paid quarterly as a sort of retaining fee. Moreover—and this is the central point of the scheme—the small stipend should in every case be regarded as an advance out of the reward to be subsequently earned at the central examination, to which all such stipendiary schools should be admitted along with the rest. Thus a school would be entitled to receive only the amount by which the sum earned at the examination exceeded the Rs. 12, Rs. 18 or Rs. 24 already paid, or to be paid to it as a stipend. If any school earned less than the amount of its stipend it should not be called upon to refund the difference; but its future retention on the list (possibly with an increased stipend, possibly with none) would be decided by the District Board after consideration of the usefulness of the school and the backwardness of the locality. The total amount that a school could earn at the examination should also be limited to say Rs. 50 (inclusive of the stipend, if any), so that prosperous and well-attended institutions should not carry off an undue share of the primary grant, to the detriment of struggling schools. On the other hand, there is no advantage in frittering away the grant in small payments of Rs. 2, Rs. 3, or Rs. 4 to schools that fail to earn any larger rewards at the examination. Such payments would hardly help the schools in any appreciable degree, while they might materially reduce the total sum available for rewarding schools of greater public utility. Something like Rs. 4 or Rs. 5 might be fixed as the limit below which no reward would be paid to a school; and it is evident that the fixing of such a limit would supply a struggling school with a very tangible inducement to improve itself and increase its earning power.

Sir Charles Elliott is prepared to accept for the present the lines thus laid down, which may be summed up as recommending (1) the mixed system of stipends with rewards, (2) the fixation of a minimum and a low maximum of rewards, (3) the inclusion of the stipend in the reward ultimately adjudged. Before leaving this part of the subject, he will ask the Director to furnish a statement next year showing district by district the sums spent in stipends and in rewards, and the number of pupils passing the lower primary and standard examinations. The model budget circulated by Dr. Martin for a district with a primary allotment of Rs. 10,000 a year is a useful suggestion as to the division of the amount, but as to the amount itself, it would be well if the proportion that their expenditure on primary schools bears to the total expenditure of District Boards were taken, on an average of the whole province, as a guide to the figure which no District Board should fail to reach. Thus in 1890-91 the District Boards spent $55\frac{1}{2}$ lakhs in all, excluding debt, of which $3\frac{1}{2}$ lakhs, or 6·3 per cent., went to primary education. Sir Charles Elliott also agrees in the Director's recommendation that no school which teaches to the middle standard should receive any assistance from the primary grant except with the permission of the Circle Inspector; that such permission should be withheld unless he is satisfied that there was a sufficient staff to teach the lower and upper primary standards thoroughly, and unless pupils were regularly sent up for the corresponding examinations; and that the number of these schools, with the reasons for aiding them, should be reported annually to the Director. It is desirable that District Boards should adopt these principles. The Government is also prepared to leave it to the Inspectors to decide in what cases the middle schools which employ gurus might still, with regard to their financial condition and other considerations, be allowed to retain them. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that the mode of administering the educational grant in Calcutta is under enquiry—which it appears to need—and will await a report on the subject. He has also noticed the tabular statement designed to show the educational position of each district with respect to primary education. It would be more valuable, in his opinion, if the merit mark were to depend partly on the number of scholars and its ratio to the population of the district, and not only on the number of schools; and it would be an improvement if next year the results could be worked out more fully with reference to these observations. Important measures were adopted during the year to secure better results in the Lower Primary Scholarship Examinations. A small fee of two annas is required from each candidate for the examination, and the Government orders fixing the pass marks in the different subjects have been re-issued. To remove the possibility of the irregularities which have occurred in the reward examinations, it is necessary that the Sub-Inspector alone should be responsible for their conduct. Uniformity of examinations and responsibility for the results are essential. No District Board should make over the examination and assignment of awards based thereon to a voluntary committee assembled for the occasion, then dispersed, and differing as to its members from year to year. The method prescribed by Sir A. Croft in his paragraph 105 seems to be the only one which meets the case, and should be adopted. The general question raised by the Director in paragraph 102, as to the additional grant of about 10 lakhs of rupees if primary education is to receive its full expansion, is an important one and deserves the careful attention of Government. But, at the close of a Provincial Contract, and in the uncertainty that exists as to the revenue which will be left to the Local Government to dispose of when the new contract is made, it is impossible at present to say what can be done next year or until the results of the working of the contract develop themselves.

12. The number of training schools for teachers, i.e. masters, mistresses and gurus, fell from 242 to 222, and the pupils from 1,993 to 1,958; and the cost was diminished by Rs. 11,662. The results of the vernacular mastership examination for pupils of first and second grade training schools and for private candidates show that out of 609 candidates 530 passed and were granted certificates. These men are appointed to masterships in middle and upper primary schools; and it is obviously desirable that all masters in those institutions should have passed through training schools and have received certificates of competency. The next report should show what progress has been made towards reaching this ideal; how many teachers there are in those schools, certificated and uncertificated, what is the average number of annual vacancies, and whether the number who pass out from the primary schools are equal to the number of vacancies. The "other schools of special instruction" include all institutions and departments of institutions teaching Law, Medicine, Engineering, the Calcutta School of Art, industrial schools and other schools of a special character. The variations in the numbers of the students in the several professions are of interest, as follows:—

YEAR.	Law.	Medicine.	Engineering.	Arts and Industry.	Other special schools.	Total.
1888-89	935	999	518	651	172	3,275
1889-90	912	1,016	652	795	611	3,986
1890-91	1,025	1,184	703	753	550	4,215

Having regard to the crowded condition of the profession of Law, it is not satisfactory to see that the Bengali youths throng to it in greater numbers, but the increase of recruits for Medicine and Engineering is a matter for congratulation. The falling off in the numbers under education in schools of Arts and Industry is slight and probably accidental, for there is a perceptible movement in all parts of the Province in favour of the establishment of industrial schools, a movement which the Lieutenant-Governor desires heartily to encourage, as in his opinion, what the country most wants is a diversity of pursuits for its educated youth, and not an adherence to the beaten path of literary careers. Turning to the detailed account of the institutions furnished by the Director, it is observed that in paragraph 121, Tipperah alone is mentioned as a district in which scholarships are provided for female medical education, whereas the Local Self-Government Resolution of 1889-90 records that many other districts have done the same—Midnapore, Burdwan, Bankura, Bakerganj, Chittagong, and all the districts of the Rajshahye Division. During the year certain measures of great importance were matured for the improvement of the working of the Sibpur Engineering College, for which a useful future is anticipated. In fact it is to this College and to the School of Art that Government looks as the chief institutions for imparting technical education in Bengal. The former is the centre of instruction in mechanical and manufacturing industries; artisans are trained to a high degree of skill in general processes, and a site is afforded for the development of various branches of special industry, for the supply of trained teachers to local technical schools, and for advanced instruction. The School of Art occupies a similar position in the extensive field of artistic and decorative industry. The practical importance of drawing and painting has long been recognised. Lithography and wood-engraving have for some time been taught with great and acknowledged success. Modelling has always been practised. The various branches of the fictile art had yet to be taken up. It is probable that the necessity for a School of Design will be felt as manufactures progress and the demand for ornamentation develops. The Lieutenant-Governor recognises that the idea of concentrating technical education at the Sibpur Engineering College and at the Calcutta School of Art is one that can only be carried out gradually, and that its fruits must be looked for in the next generation. He will endeavour to maintain these institutions on the highest possible scale of efficiency while encouraging the establishment by District Boards, and through other agencies, of local schools of technical instruction, wherever an effective demand for them may arise. His Honour agrees in the views expressed by the Director as to the possible usefulness and future of such institutions as the Rangpur technical school, and he regrets that so much delay has been allowed to occur in the establishment of the contemplated industrial school at Maimansingh, for which funds have been provided by the liberality of Babu Jogendro Kishor Rai Chowdri.

Besides the figures above, there are also 32,417 girls in boys' schools. The net result of the year is a gain of 85 schools and of 502 pupils. The cost of the education of girls as compared with boys is much higher. One young lady passed the B.A. examination and four the First Examination in Arts from the Bethune College. Some success was obtained in the medical examinations of the University. Considerable changes have recently been made in the admission test and curriculum of the female certificate class attached to the Calcutta Medical College, with a view to secure a higher standard of general and professional education. Students will now be required to have passed the Entrance examination of the Calcutta or some other University, and the course of study is to be extended from three years to four. The special standards for girls' scholarships originally sanctioned for Calcutta and the neighbourhood were extended to the mofussil, but, though highly suitable for girls, have not been adopted to any appreciable extent by schools in the interior. It appears that school managers are not willing to forego the advantage of qualifying by the ordinary departmental standards for the Government scholarships. The idea of separating some portion of the district allotment for scholarships and confining it to the candidates from girls' schools that adopt the special standards is worthy of further consideration.

14. The statistics of European education, as might be expected, do not change materially from one year to another. The following figures for the last four years show the progress made:—

		1887-88.	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.
Schools	...	72	71	68	69
Pupils	...	6,541	6,682	6,710	6,829

The number of boys is higher by 41 and of girls by 78 than in 1890. The Government Boarding School at Kurseong—the only Government school for Europeans in Bengal—had 81 students. Of the 6,829 children in the schools, 3,485 were under Roman Catholic management and 1,591 under the Church of England, the remainder belonging to various denominations. The total cost of European education in Bengal was Rs. 6,17,285, of which the Government expenditure amounted to Rs. 1,65,302. The transfer rules have proved very beneficial in preventing the removal of children from school to school, whether capriciously or in order to evade the payment of fees due to the school. The Lieutenant-Governor recognizes that the inspection of European schools under the Code is a very complicated matter, though he regards this as among the less satisfactory features of the Code. One of its results is that it is found necessary to employ two Inspectors to examine between 50 and 60 schools, which is surely a waste of power. The Lieutenant-Governor is aware that great labour has been expended on framing this Code, and that its alteration is attended by many difficulties, but he would wish still further efforts to be made to simplify it in the direction taken by the new revised Code in England, which differs from the old Code in this respect, that the Inspector can give marks to a class by his judgment of its average proficiency, not by examining each child separately and adding up its marks. This system is no doubt more applicable to well established and advanced schools, than to those whose existence is precarious, or which are in a rudimentary stage. A step has been taken in the desired direction by establishing the principle of a fixed grant in the place of grants based on the results of the annual examinations for the most advanced and deserving schools. Three schools during the year have been placed on this list.

15. The number of Muhammadan pupils decreased during the year from 433,653 to 415,428, or by 18,225, and the percentage on the total number of pupils from 29·06 to 28·2.

Muhammadan education.

The recorded number of Muhammadan pupils decreased enormously in those classes of private institutions which are specially maintained for youths of that religion, viz., advanced Arabic or Persian schools and Koran schools. Under the former the loss is 758 schools and 8,829 pupils; under the latter, 195 schools and 4,775 pupils, as above mentioned. The general causes which have conduced to a reduction in the recorded number of unaided primary schools affected this class of education also, but the decrease of 765 schools and 13,597 pupils in two municipalities—Dacca and Naraingunge—is due to a scandalous case of fraudulent returns submitted in 1890 by subordinate inspecting officers, which was discreditable to all the officials concerned. The Lieutenant-Governor concurs with the Director in charging the Deputy Inspector with negligence in not at once detecting this fraud. The want of success of the Muhammadan students at the University examinations has already been noticed; they also fell off at all the departmental examinations except that for the Middle English Scholarship. These fluctuations are perhaps inevitable, but they are disappointing, as they have occurred in spite of Government encouragement and pecuniary support. Special facilities for University education are offered to Muhammadan students in the shape of scholarships; a large number of scholarships and prizes are attached to the Calcutta Madrassa, and every candidate who passed the Entrance Examination from that institution gained either a scholarship or a prize. It is difficult to see how Government can do more to carry out the policy recommended by the Education Commission, and deliberately adopted since, that special schools should be provided for Muhammadans, or the special instructions that they require supplied in ordinary schools. The Government is prepared to show some reasonable regard for the circumstances of this portion of the community; but special favours should not extend to any great degree of inequality as compared with the Hindus, or fall into the extreme of accustoming the Muhammadans to look on themselves as so weak as to require protection from fair competition. The Lieutenant-Governor will give full consideration to any proposals which the Director may feel himself justified in making in the direction of the appointment of Maulvis in middle and high schools under public management, or for the devotion of a portion of the Mohsin Fund to the part-payment of fees in English schools, or for a system of free studentships, or for the reservation of a certain proportion of public scholarships, or for the raising of the limit of age for scholarships in the case of Muhammadans: the exact measures to be adopted cannot be determined in dealing with an annual report. One idea has already assumed shape and is promising. In order to promote primary education among Muhammadans, it is proposed to offer definite recognition as well as encouragement in the shape of stipends to maktabs teaching Urdu and Persian, on condition that a certain standard of useful vernacular instruction is introduced, the maktabs to be divided into three classes, purely Koran schools being excluded. Sir Charles Elliott will be glad to hear in due course what success is met with in carrying out these proposals. With regard to the elimination of the Koran schools from the returns—a point which the two Muhammadan Assistant Inspectors are agreed in urging on the ground that they have no rightful place there, being altogether disconnected with secular education—the Lieutenant Governor can only say that, as these schools were introduced into the returns under the orders of the Government of India, they cannot be excluded without consideration in a special report.

16. The number of pupils of aboriginal races under tuition has slightly advanced, viz., from 29,479 to 29,757, an increase of 278. The Christians are more numerous by 304, but the non Christians are 26 fewer. The Director alludes to the difficulty of classifying these races which the returning officers experience. It is a difficulty not confined to educational returns. Taking the figures as they are given, however, there are 2,704 Christians and 14,462 non-Christians being educated in Chota Nagpur, and, as the Director says, it is to the missionaries above all that the credit of educating and civilising the aboriginal races of Chota Nagpur is chiefly due. The pupils in the missionary schools in Chota Nagpur increased from 3,582 to 3,680, while the expenditure fell from Rs. 39,011 to Rs. 32,577, of which Government paid less than two-sevenths. A good example is also shown by Dr. Saise, the Manager of the Karharbari collieries of the East Indian Railway, in providing good schools for the miners' families. The Sonthals in the Burdwan and Bhagulpur Divisions, and the Paharias in the latter, are next in number and are making some progress. One aboriginal pupil passed the University Entrance Examination, and 393 the Departmental examinations. Fewer boys passed the Upper and Lower Primary Examinations than last year.

The development of indigenous education, which was noticed during the three previous years, has not continued, as the following figures show:—

			1887-88.	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.
Schools	10,048	11,709	13,867	13,387
Pupils	96,721	117,284	139,603	132,057

Sanskrit tois, elementary schools for boys, and other schools, have increased, but the remarkable loss in Arabic and Persian schools, already noticed, adversely affected the total. During the year Mahamahopadhyaya Mahesh Chandra Nyayaratna, C.I.E., was deputed to visit the Sanskrit tois, and his report is awaited.

17. The Central Text-book Committee, to whom since 1875 has been entrusted the duty of approving the books to be used in schools, continued to do good work during the year. Out of 198 books on various subjects received for examination, the Committee approved 53, rejected 107, and still had 38 to peruse. A revised list of authorized text-books for middle schools was published in the Gazette of 15th July 1891. Managers of schools are at liberty to choose any of the books in the list, except when special text-books in particular subjects have been prescribed. The Committee have undertaken the preparation of similar lists for the middle classes of high schools and for primary schools. Branch Committees for Behar and Orissa deal similarly with books written in the languages of those parts of the country. The Lieutenant-Governor fully believes that Sir A. Croft's grateful acknowledgments of the laborious and important work done by these Committees are well deserved for their honest and successful discharge of their duties. Their selections have, Sir Charles Elliott has noticed, been much attacked by some members of the Press, but he has no reason to believe that the attacks are well founded: one thing, however, is clear; there would not be such emulation for inclusion in the approved list, and such vehement passions would not be aroused by the competition, unless large pecuniary profits were at stake. Other facts have come to His Honour's knowledge tending to show that the sale of school-books authorised by Government is very lucrative. Considering the poverty of students in general and the compulsion placed upon them to purchase such of these books as are adopted at their school or college, Sir Charles Elliott thinks that the Committees, besides regarding moral and intellectual excellence, which are and should be the first consideration, should also look to the price at which a book is sold, and should not enter any in their lists unless sold at the lowest price compatible with a moderate profit to the author and publisher.

18. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to take this opportunity to acknowledge publicly his obligations to Sir Alfred Croft, K.C.I.E., who has for so many years, as Head of the Department, been identified with education in Bengal. His thanks are due to the Director for his report, as well as for his administration of his important charge. Sir Charles Elliott also desires to record his appreciation of the good work which is being performed by most of the Inspectors and their subordinates, as well as the Principals, Professors, and their Assistants throughout the Province.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-TIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING SATURDAY,
THE 31st OF OCTOBER 1891.

The most noticeable feature in the weather at the close of the previous week was the existence of a barometric depression off the Madras coast. The depression was by no means a severe one, but nevertheless it influenced the weather conditions over a large area, and in Orissa and Lower Bengal at the close of the week the skies had clouded over and a few rain showers were reported, while even at the inland stations in the province the influence of the depression was noticed, though not so clearly as at the southern stations. On the 25th, or the first day of the present week, the depression had crossed the Madras coast and was well inland, so that from this day the weather conditions began to improve in the Bay, and with the disappearance of the disturbance from the Bay also the weather in Bengal became more settled and more of the ordinary cold season type. On the 25th pressure, however, continued to fall slowly to moderately in Bengal, and it was decidedly in defect of the normal. The moist air current which had been forced northwards from the Bay by the depression still gave a rather high humidity generally in Bengal, while the sky also remained cloudy. Light and variable winds also obtained, and light local showers were reported in some of the districts of Behar and North Bengal. On the 26th pressure commenced to increase slowly, but otherwise conditions had not altered to any material extent, except that the sky had begun to clear, though again on this day a few light local showers were reported. On the 27th pressure had risen briskly, though there was a very shallow low-pressure area in the centre of the province, and temperature commenced to fall moderately to rapidly, but winds continued very light. Humidity decreased in Behar, while the sky became almost cloudless. Practically no rain was reported on this day. On the 28th the barometer fell in the west of the province and rose elsewhere, and the distribution of pressure became very uniform. Winds continued a little variable, but they were becoming generally northerly though light in force. On this day also there was practically no rain. On the 29th pressure rose in the west and north of the province and fell elsewhere, and the general pressure was considerably in excess of the normal. The northerly element in the wind directions strengthened. Cloud proportion and humidity also increased, particularly at the western stations, and again local showers commenced in Chutia Nagpur, Behar, and North Bengal. On the 30th pressure fell slowly at the south-eastern stations, while it increased moderately elsewhere, and the distribution of pressure became fairly normal for the cold weather. Temperature also fell rapidly and became almost normal, while humidity and cloud proportion decreased, though there were still local showers reported in Behar and parts of South-West Bengal. On the 31st pressure rose by about 0.07", and the general distribution almost resembled that of the middle of the cold weather. Temperature fell moderately and became generally below the normal, while a steady and fairly strong northerly current was blowing over the whole province. The local rain showers also practically ceased and ordinary north-east monsoon weather obtained on this day.

In the Bay conditions call practically for no remarks up till nearly the close of the week, when a barometric depression apparently began to form in the south of the Bay, but up till Saturday the 31st, it had not concentrated to any extent to form a storm, and probably then only existed as a diffused low-pressure area with squally weather over the southern part of the Bay up to perhaps lat. 10° or 11° N.

Pressure.—The general variations of pressure from day to day have been already described. The mean pressure for the week has been distinctly in excess of the normal in all districts, the usual excess ranging from about 0.03" to 0.06". The excess on the whole is largest in South-East Bengal, where it equals about 0.06", and smallest in Assam and Chutia Nagpur, where it equals about 0.025."

Temperature.—At the beginning of the week was above the normal, but at its close it was somewhat in defect. For the whole week the mean temperature of the province has been in excess of the normal by about half a degree, but in Behar the excess has equalled from one to one and a-half degrees, while, on the other hand, temperature has been 0.5° in defect in East Bengal. In Assam the temperature for the week has been below the normal by 1.4°.

Rainfall.—The rainfall for the week has been quite unimportant as regards the province generally, though a few local showers have fallen in the districts of Cuttack, Burdwan, Beerbhoom, Moorsshedabad, Bogra, Darjeeling, Gya, Patna, Samthal Pergunnahs, and Manbhoom, which undoubtedly will be valuable in certain local areas. The average falls in these districts are, however, generally very small. The general rainfall slightly exceeds half an inch in the Darjeeling district, and equals about a fifth of an inch in the districts of Beerbhoom and West Burdwan, Bogra, Gya, and Manbhoom, while the average fall in Cuttack and Moorsshedabad districts is about a tenth of an inch, but in the other districts mentioned the falls only average a few hundredths of an inch.

The present week completes the month of October, and the rainfall for the month has thus again been exceptionally deficient in all divisions. Average falls of only between one and two inches have been received in Orissa, East Bengal, North Bengal and Behar; in South-West Bengal the fall has only averaged about three-quarters of an inch, while in Chutia Nagpur the fall is the very small amount of about a third of an inch only. Compared with the normal falls for the month, the actual falls in October have only equalled the following percentage amounts:— Orissa 20, South-West Bengal 18, East Bengal 34, North Bengal 53, North Behar 48, South Behar 50, and Chutia Nagpur 22 per cent.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 31st of October 1891:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

By DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty could be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol. IV the latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The period of registration of subscribers' names having expired on the 1st October, the price will in future be in India Rs. 45 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made). An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England, at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately.

[The arrangements hereinafter described are subject to revision under the orders of the Secretary of State for India.]

1. The Royal Indian Engineering College is primarily maintained, under the orders of the Secretary of State for India in Council, for the education of candidates for the service of Government in the India Public Works, Telegraph, and Forest Departments; but it is open to the extent of the accommodation available to all persons desirous of following the course of study pursued in it.

India Forest Department Appointments.

2. The Examination usually takes place in June of each year.
3. The number of candidates to be selected annually varies according to the requirements of the Forest Service in India: the figures as regards each particular year will be advertised from time to time. In 1892 there will be 12 appointments offered for competition.
4. Candidates for the Indian Forest Department are selected under the following arrangements:—

- (a) An applicant must be a natural-born British subject, and must be above 17 and under 20 years of age on the 1st June of the year in which he competes for an appointment. He must be unmarried, and if he marries before reaching India he will forfeit his appointment.

- (f) If the full number of competent probationers required in any year cannot be obtained from the persons so examined, the Secretary of State reserves a discretion to fill up the deficiency by selecting any other person or persons who may satisfy the authorities of the College that he or they are properly qualified to become probationers for the Forest Service.

* With a view to prevent parents and guardians from incurring the inconvenience and expense of preparing candidates who may be physically unfit for the Forest Service, it is suggested that, before any such preparation is begun, candidates be submitted to examination by the medical adviser of the family, or any other qualified medical practitioner, with regard to the following points :—

1. A weak constitution.
2. Defective vision.

3. Impaired hearing.

4. The existence of any congenital defect.

It is to be understood that this private examination is merely suggested to lessen the chances of disappointment, and that it is by no means intended to take the place of, or to influence in any way, the official examination.

On the subject of the standard of eyesight required for the Indian services, a pamphlet has been published, under the authority of the Secretary of State in Council, by Messrs. Churchill and Sons, 11, New Burlington Street.

† A fee of £4 is required, which can be paid by means of a stamp of that amount. Instructions on this point will be issued to candidates the day before the examination.

‡ Attention is invited to the appended Syllabus, giving further details regarding the extent and character of the examination.

5. The course of study for candidates for the India Forest Service extends over about three years, divided into nine terms. During the first eight terms the candidates will prosecute their studies at the College, and during the remaining term they will be instructed, under suitable supervision, in such British or Continental forests as may be selected for the purpose. Excursions will also be made for purposes of instruction, both during term time and during part of the vacations. The cost of all such tours or excursions is borne by the Secretary of State (see paragraph 9).

6. Each annual session begins in September, and is divided into three terms, with vacations of about four weeks at Christmas, two weeks at Easter, and eight weeks in the summer.

7. A charge of £61 for each of the first eight terms and £60 for the ninth term is made for each student; the amount must be paid terminally in advance to the Bank of England. Receivable orders, with full directions as to the mode of payment, will be forwarded from the India Office to the parents or guardians, shortly before the fees fall due. A student will not be allowed to come into residence until his fee has been paid.

8. A deposit of £5 is required to be paid by each student on admission to the College, as caution money, to cover charges incurred by him for damage to books, instruments, &c., or any College bills outstanding on leaving the College. Any balance over and above such charges will be repaid. This deposit is to be paid with the fee for the first term, making the total payment on that occasion £66.

9. The foregoing payments cover all charges for tuition, board according to the College tariff, lodging with washing, and ordinary medical attendance while in residence at the College. When students are on tour and during the course of practical instruction, whether in Great Britain or on the Continent, the Secretary of State will defray the expenses of (1) board, lodging, and washing (the maximum expenditure on such account being 10s. per diem), (2) travelling expenses, and (3) fees to local Forest officers, &c.

Students are required to provide their own class books and drawing instruments. Drawing paper, drawing boards, and surveying instruments are provided by the College.

10. The prescribed course of study at present comprises the following subjects:—

I.—Engineering.

1. Geometrical Drawing.
2. Freehand Drawing.
3. Surveying.
4. Road construction.

II.—Natural Science.

1. Inorganic Chemistry.
2. Chemistry of Soils and Vegetation.
3. Physics.
4. Geology and Mineralogy.
5. Entomology.
6. Botany.

III.—Forestry, Theoretical and practical.

IV.—Miscellaneous.

1. German.
3. Elements of Law.
3. Accounts.
4. Drill and Gymnastics.

11. Every student is required to conform to the College rules, to exhibit due diligence in his studies throughout the course, and to give evidence of satisfactory progress in such manner as may be required, failing which, or in the event of serious misconduct, he will be liable to be removed from the College, or to be sent back from the forest tour, which may entail the loss of his appointment.

12. During the course of study, the proficiency of the students will be tested by periodical examinations, and on the termination of their studies there will be a final examination. Each student may also, at the discretion of the Secretary of State for India, be required to appear before the Medical Board at the expiration of the first year of residence at the College, and should the result be unsatisfactory he cannot claim to be allowed to complete the course.

13. The subjects enumerated in paragraph 10 are grouped in certain main branches of study,* and a fixed minimum of qualification is required in each branch and in the subjects taught during the forest tours, as well as a certain minimum for all branches taken together. Students who obtain these minima will receive the College diploma in Forestry.

14. Candidates who have obtained this diploma and are found to be of sound constitution and free from physical defects which would render them unsuitable for employment in the Forest Department (the final decision on which points will rest with the Secretary of State for India) will be appointed Assistant Conservators in the Forest Department of India in the order of their standing at the end of the final examination. They will be allowed, before leaving the College to choose the provinces in which they desire to be first employed, according to the standing in which they pass out of the College. But this choice can only be exercised according to the available vacancies in the different provinces, and on the understanding that officers are at all times liable to be transferred from one province to another at the pleasure of the Government of India.

15. Within a month of his nomination as Assistant Conservator, each nominee must sign articles of agreement describing the terms and conditions of his appointment; he must embark for India when required to do so by the Secretary of State, and will be provided with a free passage. Failure to embark at the stated time will, in the absence of satisfactory explanation, lead to forfeiture of appointment.

16. The pay of an Assistant Conservator of Forests will begin from the date of arrival in India. Probationers who acquit themselves creditably during their course at Cooper's Hill College will begin on a salary of Rs. 350 a month; those who fall short of the required standard, though they may have obtained the College diploma in Forestry, will begin on Rs. 250 a month; and this difference of salary will continue until the first Departmental Examination is passed in India. It will rest with the President of the College, in consultation with the Principal Professor of Forestry, to decide which probationers, if any, have failed to qualify for the higher initial salary.

17. Promotion, leave, and pension will be regulated by the rules of the Service for the time being. Further information on this point can be obtained from the Revenue Secretary, India Office, London.

18. Every candidate, before proceeding to India, will be required to furnish to the President of the College satisfactory evidence of his competency in riding.

GENERAL RULES.

19. Chemical, physical, and botanical laboratories, a forestry museum, a forest nursery, a library and gymnasium are attached to the College. Means are also provided for the practice of photography. Students making use of the laboratories are supplied with the needful apparatus.

20. The responsibility for the discipline and management of the College and for the superintendence of the studies is vested in the President, under the control of the Secretary of State for India.

21. The students are distributed in divisions, under personal charge of one of the Professors or Instructors selected by the President; such tutor being responsible for exercising the proper degree of personal supervision over each student in his division, and for conducting necessary correspondence with the student's parents or guardians.

22. Each student residing in the College is provided with a separate room, and with fuel and light, also with the necessary attendance. Furniture and bedding are supplied by the College, but each student is required to provide his own towels and bed linen. Meals are taken in hall. Wine and beer are not included in the ordinary fare, but can be obtained from the College cellar at fixed prices.

23. A chapel is attached to the College, which the students residing in the College are expected to attend, unless specially exempted.

24. Every student will be required to go through a course of gymnastics and also of military exercises, including the use of the rifle.

25. Students are required to wear academical dress, under such regulations as may be prescribed from time to time.

Students not nominated for the Indian Forest Service, but desirous of obtaining a Diploma in Forestry from Cooper's Hill College.

26. Students not nominated for the Indian Forest Service may be received into the College, as far as the available accommodation permits. Such students may pass through the course of instruction prescribed for the nominees of the Indian Forest Service, as detailed above, or they may be permitted to participate in the instruction given in certain subjects only. On attaining the prescribed minima of marks in the several branches of study and in totals as laid down above, they will receive, as the case may require, either the College Diploma in Forestry or special certificates showing in what subjects they have followed the instruction, and with what result.

27. Candidates who desire to be admitted under paragraph 26 may submit the necessary application at any time, but not later than the 15th day of June of the year named for admission, except with the special permission of the President. The application must be made on the prescribed forms, which can be obtained from the Secretary of the College.

28. Candidates whose applications are found satisfactory as to character and in other respects will be required to undergo an examination, to be held at the College, about the last week in June of the year for admission. The object of the examination will be to ascertain whether the candidate is qualified to follow the course of instruction with advantage (or certain parts of it, as the case may be). Candidates who do not come up to the required standard will not be admitted to the College.

The President may dispense with the whole or any portion of this examination in the case of a candidate who produces a University diploma, or other similar certificate granted by a recognized examining body.

29. Candidates admitted to the College under paragraph 26, who propose to pass through the full prescribed course of study, will be required to pay the same fees in every respect as those paid by the nominees for the Indian Forest Service. Candidates who do not become resident, and are admitted only to certain subjects of study, will be required to pay the fees which may be fixed in each special case in consideration of the extent of their studies. The candidates of both classes will be required to abide by the general rules of the College.

FOREST EXAMINATION.

SYLLABUS

Showing the Extent and Character of the Forest Examination from and after June 1892.

In a letter addressed to the Civil Service Commissioners on the subject of the Examinations for admission into the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, the Director-General of Military Education observes:—"The main object to be borne in mind with reference to the Entrance Examination is to secure a youth who has had a thoroughly well-grounded liberal education as an English gentleman. Any curriculum which renders those who are unsuccessful unfit for other professions is greatly to be deprecated." The Regulations for the Forest Examination, which follow the lines of the Woolwich Examination, are intended to provide a test that the candidates have received such an education as is indicated in these words. By these Regulations certain of the subjects specified are prescribed as obligatory for all competitors, while, in the choice of the subjects described as optional, allowance is made for varieties of taste and inclination in each candidate. In view of the influence which the Regulations must necessarily exercise on the education of candidates for admission to the public service, the Civil Service Commissioners deem it expedient to specify, with more fulness than in the Regulations themselves, the character of the Examination which, in June 1892 and afterwards, the candidates will be called upon to undergo.

CLASS I.

(OBLIGATORY SUBJECTS:)

Mathematics.—The extent of the Examination will be as defined in the Regulations.

English Composition.—An Essay to be written on one of several subjects specified by the Civil Service Commissioners on their Examination Paper.

German.—There will be translations of unseen passages from German into English and from English into German; the knowledge of pronunciation will be tested by Dictation and the viva voce Examination. The passages for translation will be taken, mainly, from standard authors (Schiller, Lessing, Alexander v. Humboldt, Ranke, &c.), and a few simple questions may be asked on the passages set, as to the structure and character of the language, and allusions of obvious and general interest.

CLASS II.

(OPTIONAL SUBJECTS.)

Higher Mathematics.—The extent of the Examination will be as defined in the Regulations.

Latin.—Passages will be set for translation into English selected from the authors usually read in schools. Passages from English authors will be given for translation into Latin prose and verse, but candidates will be allowed, in the place of verse composition, to answer questions of a simple character, which will test whether they possess a fundamental knowledge of the grammar of the language, and such an elementary acquaintance with Roman History as is required for the intelligent study of the books they have read.

Greek.—Passages will be set for translation into English from the authors usually read in schools, and in other respects the Examinations will proceed on the same lines as in Latin.

French.—The passages for translation will be taken from standard authors (Corneille, Madame de Sévigné, Guizot, Taine, &c.), and in other respects the Examination will proceed on the same lines as in German.

English History.—The General Paper in this subject will test whether the candidates are accurately acquainted with the facts of English History, and also possess an intelligent knowledge of the meaning of the facts. The paper on the fixed period will, of course, require from the candidates more minute knowledge than the German Paper.

Botany, Chemistry, Physics, Physical Geography and Geology.—The standard of Examination in these subjects will be such as may be reasonably expected from the education given at schools possessing appliances for practical instruction, such as a laboratory, &c. A considerable portion of the marks will be allotted for the proficiency shown in the practical part of the Examination.

GENERAL.

Handwriting.—In estimating the papers of candidates, a limited number of marks, namely, 100 out of the maximum allotted to each subject, are held to be assignable for handwriting.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy be forwarded, for information, to the Governments of Bengal and North-Western Provinces and Oudh. | Assam. Coorg. Ajmere. Andamans. Hyderabad. Madras and Bombay and the Local Governments and Administrations noted in the margin, the Inspector-General of Forests, and the Comptroller and Auditor-General.

Ordered also that a copy be forwarded to the Foreign Department for communication to the Agent to the Governor-General in Beluchistan; and that these papers be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

2. Owing principally to an increase in the receipts from railway traffic, the income of the year exceeded that of 1889-90 by Rs. 10,198, and it exceeded by Rs. 21,427 the estimate (Rs. 1,57,597) of the Committee appointed by the Government in January 1888 to consider the revised scale of tolls and fees which should be levied after the bridge debt had been paid off.

3. Excluding the cost of plant obtained for lighting the bridge by electricity and payments made to the Government on account of the sinking fund on the consolidated and debenture loans of the Port Trust, the expenditure exceeded that of the previous year by Rs. 5,295. This increase was partly due to the purchase of a new pontoon for Rs. 16,016, which will be used when occasion arises, and partly to an increase of about Rs. 8,000 in Municipal taxes: on the other hand there was a decrease of about Rs. 20,000 in working expenses and repairs, which should have been explained. The policy of the Commissioners in making provision for the gradual renewal of the pontoons has the Lieutenant-Governor's approval.

4. The net revenue of the year under review amounted to Rs. 31,958, making, with the net revenue of the previous years since the bridge was opened for traffic, a total net revenue of Rs. 34,59,516.

The subjoined statement exhibits how the net revenue has been appropriated:—

Total	34,59,516

5. The sum of Rs. 42,050 has been appropriated from the surplus revenues of the bridge to meet the cost of lighting the bridge by electricity. The working expenses of this system are estimated to amount to Rs. 4,660 per annum against Rs. 5,448, the cost of lighting the bridge by gas. The estimate, however, is exclusive of the interest on the capital outlay, and if it be taken into account at 4 per cent., the annual expenditure amounts to Rs. 894 more than that incurred on lighting the bridge by gas. On the other hand, with the new arrangement the lighting is increased twenty-six-fold. The electric light has been brought into use since the close of the year.

6. The bridge was opened for the passage of vessels on 145 occasions, including 41 openings on Sundays on special applications. The number and description of the vessels which passed through it on these occasions are shown in the subjoined statement: the increase in the number of sea-going vessels indicates greater activity in the dockyards above the bridge.

7. No sea-going vessels collided with the bridge in passing through the opening, but there were 149 collisions of other vessels against 91 and 115 in 1888-89 and 1889-90, respectively. The increase is said to be due to the strong freshets which prevailed during the rainy season of 1890.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Bridge Commissioners for information.

Ordered also that this Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Calcutta Gazette.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE PORT OF CALCUTTA
FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

No. 2631 Marine.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL,—MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 9th November 1891.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta for the year 1890-91.

In the Resolution on the Administration Report of the Commissioners for the year 1889-90, the Lieutenant-Governor noticed the delay that had occurred in the submission of the report, and expressed a hope that the Commissioners would arrange for its more punctual submission. The report for the year under review was not, however, received until the 20th of October. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to invite the special attention of the Commissioners to this matter, and would ask them to so arrange that the report may in future years reach the Government on or before the 15th of September. His Honour notices that the latest report of the Auditors was furnished on the 3rd of July, and he thinks therefore that no difficulty should be found in completing the Administration Report by the date now prescribed.

2. The gross debt of the Commissioners, exclusive of the advances made to them by the Government for the dock works at Kidderpore, was at the close of the year under review as follows:—

	Rs.
Consolidated debt due to Government	41,35,972
Port debt not repayable	17,65,000
4½ per cent. debenture loan of 1881	10,00,000
4½ ditto ditto of 1883	20,00,000
5½ ditto ditto of 1886	30,00,000
Total	1,19,00,972

The consolidated debt due to the Government was reduced during the year by Rs. 1,35,429, and a sum of Rs. 1,27,500 was invested by the Commissioners in their own debentures for the repayment of the debenture loans, making the total amount at credit of the sinking fund account Rs. 7,78,500.

3. Against the above debt, the assets of the Trust on the 31st March 1891, exclusive of the value of the river frontage lands which were made over to the Commissioners by the Government subject to a rent charge of Rs. 37,292 a year, amounted to Rs. 2,23,64,722. The statement below shows the cost of the works constructed or acquired by the Commissioners and the sources from which the expenditure has been met:—

Cost of work constructed or acquired by the Commissioners.		Sources from which the expenditure has been met.

" Approaches Fund	7,78,500
{ Debenture loan, Sinking Fund	2,00,000
" Dock Contingent Fund	2,00,000
Total	2,23,64,722	Total	2,23,64,722

4. The advances received by the Commissioners from the Government up to the close of the year under review on account of the dock works at Kidderpore amounted to Rs. 2,17,25,217, out of which sum Rs. 2,15,20,555 had been expended. But for the movement in the walls of Dock No. 1, which was referred to in paragraph 4 of the Resolution on the Administration Report of the Commissioners for 1889-90, the docks would have been opened for traffic early in 1891. The injured walls are being repaired in accordance with the recommendations of the Committee appointed by the Government of India to consider the proposals made by the Engineer to the Port Trust; and as the report indicates that the subsidiary works are approaching completion, it may be expected that the docks will be ready for use at an early date.

5. The income of the year under Revenue account exclusive of the opening balance Rs. 5,698,352.

6. Under Capital account the receipts amounted to Rs. 2,23,044, including an opening balance of Rs. 5,698. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 75,392, and the year therefore closed with a balance of Rs. 1,47,652.

7. During the year under review materials and stores to the value of £42,796-18-4 were procured by the Commissioners from England through their London Agent, and contracts to the value of Rs. 1,70,367-6-8 were entered into locally for the supply of miscellaneous stores.

8. The income under Part I, "Jetties," rose from Rs. 11,73,907 in 1889-90 to Rs. 12,38,673 during the past year, the Jetties, Petroleum Wharf, and the Tea Warehouse being the three departments which contributed to the increase. There was a considerable increase in the receipts from imports, but those from exports, although slightly in excess of the receipts of the previous year, were less than those of any of the seven years ending with 1888-89. The number of vessels berthed at the jetties was 215 against 203 in the previous year, and the average number of days each vessel occupied the jetties was 10·1 against 10 in 1889-90.

9. There was a falling off in the importation of petroleum. Forty-three vessels arrived during the year with 3,208,777 cases against 54 vessels with 3,726,670 cases in the previous year. This decrease is attributed to the fact that 1,078,009 cases were in stock at the commencement of the year. The returns show that the importation of Russian oil has been resumed, four vessels having arrived during the year from Batoum with 258,232 cases of petroleum. The income derived from the Petroleum Wharf amounted to Rs. 1,69,103, showing an increase of Rs. 10,163, which appears to have been due to the large balance of the previous year's imports which remained in store.

10. The question of placing restrictions on the transport of petroleum by water through the port, which was referred to in paragraph 11 of the Resolution on the Administration Report of the Commissioners for 1889-90, has not yet been finally determined. It has been decided, in consultation with the Commissioners, that petroleum should not be landed on the banks of the river within the limits of the port, and a draft rule on the subject has been published in the Calcutta Gazette, and will be dealt with further on receipt of any observations which those who are interested in the matter may have to make.

11. The quantity of tea brought down to Calcutta during the year was 105 million pounds against 101 million pounds in the previous year. The quantities that passed through the tea warehouse during these periods were 35 and 30 million pounds respectively. Notwithstanding this increase in the quantity that passed through the warehouse, the receipts came down from Rs. 58,913 in 1889-90 to Rs. 58,103 during the year under review. Owing to low prices that prevailed through the greater portion of the season, agents shipped their tea direct to London instead of offering it for sale in the local market. Thus a large quantity did not incur any charges for soldering, warehousing, &c., which it would have incurred had it passed through the local auctioneers' hands, and to this is attributed the falling off in the receipts. The total income of the tea warehouse, including the sum of Rs. 23,647 realised by letting out the ground floor, amounted to Rs. 81,750 against Rs. 76,455 in the previous year. The result on the whole was therefore satisfactory.

12. The income of the Jetties amounted to Rs. 12,38,673. Including payments in respect of interest and sinking fund of loans, the expenditure amounted to Rs. 8,37,500. The surplus revenue was therefore Rs. 4,01,173.

13. The income from the inland vessels wharves, which amounted to Rs. 4,94,021 against Rs. 4,67,292 in the previous year, was the largest on record since 1880-81. The expenditure, including payments for interest and sinking funds, amounted to Rs. 3,67,387, and there was a surplus revenue of Rs. 1,26,634.

14. The income of the Strand Bank lands was Rs. 1,74,978. The expenditure, including the rent charge payable to the Government, amounted to Rs. 87,882, leaving a surplus of Rs. 87,096.

15. There was an increase of Rs. 28,072 in the income of the Harbour Master's Department as compared with the figures of the previous year. This was due to an increase in the receipts from mooring hire and Harbour Masters' earnings, which amounted to Rs. 2,86,089 and Rs. 1,76,080, respectively, against Rs. 2,73,351 and Rs. 1,52,022, the figures of the previous year. The income of this part amounted to Rs. 5,70,365. Including interest and sinking fund charges, the expenditure was Rs. 4,78,505, leaving a surplus of Rs. 91,860.

16. Twelve vessels met with casualties while in charge of Assistant Harbour Masters against 9 in the year before. In three cases the officers were to blame and were punished under orders of the Commissioners.

17. The number of passenger and cargo boats surveyed during the year was 1,475 and 5,866, respectively, against 1,532 and 5,886 in the year before. The number of manjees licensed was 9,387 against 9,609, and the total amount realised was Rs. 30,603, including Rs. 7,859 on account of fines for breach of port rules against Rs. 29,731 in 1889-90.

18. The income from the Port Trust Railway amounted to Rs. 2,93,996, and the expenditure, including charges for interest and sinking funds, to Rs. 2,22,008, leaving a balance of Rs. 71,988.

19. The charges made by the Commissioners for the conveyance of goods by their tramway have been under consideration during the year, and they have recently submitted for sanction a schedule of rates prepared in accordance with the principles laid down by the Government of India.

20. The receipts of the Port Approaches amounted to Rs. 10,798. Including a provision of Rs. 1,00,000 on account of depreciation, the expenditure amounted to Rs. 5,60,625, which was met from the following sources:—

	Rs.
Contribution from Jetties	2,10,000
" " Inland Vessels Wharves	80,000
" " Strand Bank lands... ..	1,00,000
" " Harbour Master's Department... ..	90,000
" " Railway	70,000
Total	5,50,000

21. The river channels, with the exception of the Lower Saugor Roads and the Nynan and the Anchoring Creek Tracks, remained almost steady during the year. The Lower Saugor Roads deteriorated considerably, and the Nynan and the Anchoring Creek Tracks shoaled up in September and were abnormally low in October. Although there was a slight improvement during the remaining months of the year, they remained eight feet worse than the average for the time of the year. The deterioration of this channel formed the subject of a correspondence between this Government, the Government of India, and the Secretary of State, and an exhaustive enquiry was made into the matter. It does not seem possible to improve the bars by dredging operations, raking or training walls, and the suggestion in regard to lighting the Nynan channel so as to enable vessels to cross the bar at night cannot be adopted, as the movement of ships at night across the bar is believed to be impracticable.

22. The thanks of the Government are due to the Commissioners for their efficient management of the affairs of the Trust during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. M. McNEILE, Col.; R.E.,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore .003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0.8° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0.6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF OCTOBER 1891.

THE most noticeable features in the meteorology of October in Bengal have been—

1. The unusually early cessation of the monsoon current in Bengal, the rainfall due to this current practically ceasing on October 5th instead of in the middle of October as usually happens.

2. The consequent extreme lightness of the rainfall in all districts, the average falls in the large meteorological divisions ranging only from 2·02 inches in North Bengal to 0·53 inch in Chutia Nagpur. Expressed as a percentage of the normal fall for the month, the actual amounts received have varied from 46 per cent. in North Bengal and 45 per cent. in South Behar to 21 per cent. in Orissa, 18 per cent. in Chutia Nagpur, and 17 per cent. in South-West Bengal.

3. There was also an unusual absence of cyclonic storms or even of barometric depressions such as are generally formed in this month, and beyond a depression of only moderate dimensions which formed in the south-west of the Bay towards the close of the month and which passed across the south of the peninsula, there was no storm or even disturbed weather of any kind.

4. With the unusually early cessation of the rains and the absence of disturbed weather, both the average humidity and cloud proportion have been decidedly in defect of the normal in all districts for the month.

5. Winds have also been more northerly, and the northerly winds have been stronger than is usually the case in October.

6. With the setting in of the cool northerly current earlier than usual, the mean temperature of the province has been distinctly in defect of the normal, the defects being largest in the north and east of the province.

7. Pressure has also been unusually high almost throughout the month and considerably in excess of the normal for the period. This high pressure has accompanied the unusually early establishment of the conditions which obtain at the commencement of the north-east monsoon season.

Meteorology of the month.—At the close of September a barometric depression had passed from the northern part of the Bay in a west-north-westerly direction into Central India, after which it moved towards the north-east to Allahabad, in the neighbourhood of which it filled up about the 2nd or 3rd of October after remaining almost stationary for several days. At the commencement of October, therefore, ordinary south-west monsoon winds were blowing over Bengal towards the depression. They gave little or no rain to the province on the 1st of the month, but when the storm began to disappear and the residual feeble low-pressure area began to move eastwards, then rainfall became more general, and from the 2nd to the 5th or 6th rainfall was rather frequent over the greater part of the province. The south-west monsoon current from the Bay then seems to have ceased to flow over Bengal; wind directions became west and north-west over the western half of the province, and north and north-east over the eastern half. Pressure also on the 6th became higher in the west and north-west of the province than it was at the southern stations. The sky quickly cleared and became almost cloudless, while humidity rapidly fell. Rainfall on the 6th had almost entirely ceased, and fine settled weather prevailed over the whole province. Thus from about the 6th the general conditions in Bengal became those which mark the transition period between the south-west monsoon on the one side and the north-east monsoon or cold weather on the other. This change was at least a week earlier than usual, and the rainfall thus ceased at least a week earlier than the normal. The change from the south-west monsoon conditions also took place very rapidly, and the period of almost calm weather which generally precedes the commencement of the light northerly wind current over Bengal was unusually short.

During the following week the pressure distribution became even more favourable for the continuance of northerly winds and clear dry weather in Bengal, as the readings of the barometer were lowest in the south of Madras and gradually increased to the foot of the Himalayas. Also pressure was slightly below the normal in the south of the province, while the readings were more than a tenth of an inch in excess in Behar. With the continuance of these conditions fine clear weather with an almost entire absence of rain therefore continued in the province up till about the 20th of the month.

In the south of the Bay, however, the comparatively low pressure previously noticed gradually developed and concentrated off the Madras coast, until it formed a distinct barometric depression about the 20th, which remained practically stationary up till this date. On the 21st and 22nd it commenced to pass in an easterly direction, the centre apparently crossing the coast on the 22nd near Cuddalore, for on the 23rd it was partly across the coast and on the 24th it was practically inland, but the depression was only a feeble one, and it only gave squally weather in the south and south-west of the Bay. Squally unsettled weather, probably due to a small local storm, was also reported on the 23rd from Akyab.

Conditions in Bengal therefore again changed from the 20th, for the depression in the Bay influenced the weather in the southern districts, that is, in Lower Bengal and Orissa, giving cloudy skies, a humid atmosphere and local showers, and on the 21st and 22nd numerous showers were reported in the districts indicated. On the 25th the depression was well inland, so that from this day the weather conditions began to improve in the Bay, and with the disappearance of the disturbance the weather in Bengal also became more settled and more of the ordinary cold season type. On the 25th pressure, however, continued to fall slowly to moderately in Bengal, and it was decidedly in defect of the normal. The moist air current which had been forced northwards from the Bay by the depression still gave a rather high humidity generally in Bengal, while the sky also remained cloudy. Light and variable winds also obtained, and light local showers were reported in some of the districts of Behar and North Bengal. On the 26th pressure commenced to increase slowly, but otherwise conditions had not altered to any material extent, except that the sky had begun to clear, though again on this day a few light local showers were reported. On the 27th pressure had risen briskly, though there was a very shallow low-pressure area in the centre of the province, and temperature commenced to fall moderately to rapidly, but winds continued very light. Humidity decreased in Behar, while the sky became almost cloudless. Practically no rain was reported on this day. On the 28th the barometer fell in the west of the province and rose elsewhere, and the distribution of pressure became very uniform. Winds continued a little variable, but they were becoming generally northerly though light in force. On this day also there was practically no rain. On the 29th pressure rose in the west and north of the province and fell elsewhere, and the general pressure was considerably in excess of the normal. The northerly element in the wind directions strengthened, but cloud portion and humidity also increased, particularly at the western stations, and again local showers commenced in Chutia Nagpur, Behar, and North Bengal. On the 30th pressure fell slowly at the south-eastern stations, while it increased moderately elsewhere, and the distribution of pressure became fairly normal for the cold weather. Temperature also fell rapidly and became almost normal, while humidity and cloud proportion decreased, though there were still local showers reported in Behar and parts of South-West Bengal. On the 31st pressure rose rapidly, and the general distribution almost resembled that of the middle of the cold weather. Temperature fell moderately and became generally below the normal, while a steady and fairly strong northerly current was blowing over the whole province. The local rain showers also practically ceased, and ordinary north-east monsoon weather thus obtained at the close of the month.

In the Bay conditions call practically for no remarks up till nearly the close of the month when a barometric depression began to form to the south last of the centre of the Bay, but up till the 31st it had not concentrated to any extent to form a storm, and probably then only existed as a diffused low-pressure area with squally weather over the southern part of the Bay up to perhaps lat. 10° or 12° N. This depression afterwards, however, rapidly developed into a storm, and finally into a cyclone which subsequently travelled to the north-west angle of the Bay, but the history of this cyclone belongs to the meteorology of November.

Pressure.—At the commencement of the month the mean pressure was nearly normal, but when the retreat of the monsoon current began it became above the normal, the excess ranging up to about a tenth of an inch. Pressure then oscillated slightly, the tendency being for pressure to fall, and by about the middle of the month the excess equalled about a twentieth of an inch only. With the occurrence of the disturbed weather in the Bay pressure conditions began to change, and in the week ending the 24th for the first few days pressure was in excess, and for the second half of the week it was in defect of the normal. With the disappearance of the depression from the Bay, pressure again became above the normal, and for the last week in the month the excess in the mean pressure ranged from $0.03''$ to $0.06''$, the excess on the whole being largest in South-East Bengal and smallest in Assam and Chutia Nagpur. The mean pressure for the whole month has therefore been very decidedly in excess of the normal, the excess usually ranging between $0.04''$ and $0.06''$. The largest excess was registered at Gopalpore, where it equalled $0.080''$, and the smallest at Darjeeling, where it was only $0.002''$. In Assam the excess pressure ranged from $0.005''$ at Dhubri to $0.040''$ at Silchar.

Temperature.—The variations of temperature during the month have not been very important. At the beginning of the month the mean temperature was very nearly normal. For the period 4th to the 10th temperature became very decidedly (about 1° to 2°) below the normal in all districts except Orissa and Chutia Nagpur, and this defect continued in the week ending the 17th and for the following week, except that the defects had become smaller. These conditions had been to a great extent removed in the last week, and there was a general excess of about half a degree except in Assam and East Bengal, where there was a decided defect. The mean temperature for the whole month was below the normal in all divisions except South Behar, where the very small excess of 0.1° was recorded. The defect has equalled about a degree in East and North Bengal and North Behar, and about half a degree in Orissa, but the defects were very small in South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur. The mean temperature for the whole province may be said to have been 0.6° below the normal. In Assam the defect has been 1.4° .

Rainfall.—The periods of rainfall have already been described, and it will be seen that they have been very brief. The largest average fall in any division has only equalled 2.02 inches in North Bengal, where the ordinary fall in October is nearly four and-a-half inches. East Bengal has received 1.73 inches, against a normal fall of five and-a-half inches. In South Behar the fall has equalled 1.50 inches, against the normal 3.30 inches, and in North Behar there was a fall of 1.37 inches, while the ordinary amount received exceeds three and-a-half inches. In Orissa the fall has been 1.21 inches, against the normal of 6.16 inches.

In South-West Bengal the fall has averaged less than three-quarters of an inch, being only 0·73 inch, while in normal years nearly four and-a-half inches fall. Finally, in Chutia Nagpur the actual fall has only averaged the very small amount of about half an inch, against the normal amount of nearly three inches, and it will thus be seen that the whole province has received a fall very largely in defect. Expressed as a percentage of the normal rainfall, North Bengal and South Behar have received from 45 to 46 per cent. of the usual amount, East Bengal and North Behar from 30 to 40 per cent., and South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, and Orissa from 17 to 21 per cent. Taking all these divisions as having an equal value in the calculation, the rainfall for the whole of Bengal for October may be said to have equalled 31 per cent. of the normal.

The following table gives a comparison between the actual monthly and total rainfall and the normal rainfall of the province up to the end of October in the same form as has been employed in the previous monthly abstracts of the present year. The figures represent the ratio of the rainfall of each month of the present year to the normal rainfall expressed as a percentage. The table thus gives a condensed summary of the rainfall data of the year for each meteorological division. The first ten columns give the percentage amount of rainfall received in each month, and the last column the percentage rainfall of the whole period from the 1st of January to the end of October. It will be seen that for the period of ten months, notwithstanding the very light monsoon of the present year, Orissa has received a fall in excess of the normal, while the defects elsewhere do not represent more than from 6 per cent. of the normal in Chutia Nagpur to 24 per cent. of the normal in North Bengal:—

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of October in all districts of the province. The figures are obtained in the manner explained in previous monthly summaries. The first column gives the average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past 15 years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the actual weighted rainfall of the month at the reporting stations in the district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall to the normal as a percentage, and the fourth the same information in a slightly different form:—

It will thus be seen that even in the midst of the very large defective fall which has been generally received, two districts have received more than the normal amounts in October, Rungpore having actually reported 23 per cent. in excess and Chumparun 5 per cent. in excess. On the other hand, districts like Howrah, Hooghly, and 24-Pergunnahs have received falls only equal to 2 per cent. of the normal, while falls of less than 10 per cent. are reported in Midnapore, Burdwan, Khoosla, Hazaribagh, and Manbhoom districts.

In Assam during the month, Sibsagar has received 4.48 inches, Silchar 4.21 inches, and Dhubri 1.20 inches of rain.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the month of October 1891:—

* Mean of 6 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the readings during the same period for the preceding years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed in percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The rain is the difference between the means of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisions for the period in question and the normal means of the rainfall in that district.

The week ending Saturday, the 7th of November 1891.

• SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-
TIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATUR-
DAY, THE 7TH OF NOVEMBER 1891.

In the report for the week ending 31st October, it was stated that squally weather had formed in the south of the Bay, but that, though the disturbed weather existed as far north as about 11° N. Lat., there was nothing to show that the conditions were developing or had formed any definite storm. On Sunday, the 1st of November, the changes which took place at the coast stations round the Bay were small. Pressure was falling very slowly only over the whole Bay; light to moderate north-easterly winds were blowing at the stations on the east coast and north-westerly winds generally at the western stations, while moderate to heavy rain was falling along the Madras Coast from Cuddalore southwards. Though the coast stations in no way showed the formation of a barometric depression, it is probable that one was forming, or even had formed, on this day close to the Andaman Islands. It was probably not of much intensity when the meteorological observations were taken on this morning, though it must have developed rapidly during the day, for reports received from Port Blair in the Andamans seem to show that a rather severe cyclone passed over that station during Sunday night, the 1st instant, and on Monday morning the 2nd instant. The wind directions reported from that station indicate that the centre of the storm passed over it between 2 and 3 A.M. of the 2nd, when there was a lull in the storm for about 40 minutes, while the total duration of the storm was about 7 hours. Even at this period it was a very violent storm, and caused much destruction of life and property. As, however, the Andaman Islands are not connected by telegraph with the main land, no information was available from Port Blair as to the formation of the storm. On the morning of the 2nd November the meteorological observations taken at the coast stations round the Bay showed the existence of bad weather. There had been a general, but only moderate, fall of pressure all round the Bay, which was largest at Diamond Island and in the south of the peninsula, and winds at Diamond Island which had previously been N. N. E. and of light force, at 8 A.M. of the 2nd had become E. N. E. and were strong in force. So far as can be ascertained from the observations at the coast stations in the absence of the Port Blair information, the centre of the storm was to the south-west or west-south-west of Diamond Island, or to the west or west-north-west of the Andamans, on the morning of the 2nd, but probably a long distance (perhaps 300 miles) from land. The observations at the coast stations on this day did not point to the storm being more than of moderate intensity. On the 3rd the storm had distinctly moved in a north-westerly direction, and its centre was probably in the latitude of Nellore in about 14° N. Lat. and 87° E. Long. and still at a long distance from land. From the 2nd to the 3rd the storm does not appear to have increased in intensity as judged by the observations taken at the coast stations, for though fairly strong winds were blowing at some of the west coast stations, yet in the rear of the storm winds had rapidly decreased in force, and moderate winds only were blowing at Diamond Island, the velocity having decreased from 13 miles an hour reported on the morning of the 2nd to 9 miles reported on the morning of the 3rd instant. From the 3rd to the 4th, however, the storm very rapidly increased in intensity and became a distinct and rather violent cyclone, and wind velocity at Diamond Island on this day showed the increase in intensity of the storm by rising up to 18 miles an hour. The cyclone had also again advanced in a north-westerly direction, and its centre at 8 A.M. of the 4th was probably opposite Vizagapatam, or to the south-east of Gopalpur, and about perhaps 200 miles from land. The storm centre apparently reached the land near Gopalpur on the early morning of the 5th, for the meteorological observer at that station reported that the centre of a cyclone passed over that station between 2 and 5 A.M. of the 5th. At this time the cyclone appears to have altered the direction of its advance, and to have taken up a northerly direction. It then advanced slowly either close to the coast of Orissa or a short distance inland, passing near Pooree, and the meteorological observer at Pooree has reported that that station was visited by a heavy cyclone from 10-25 P.M. of the 4th to 1-30 P.M. of the 5th, receiving the very heavy rainfall of 13.61 inches, and that during the storm house property was seriously damaged and some lives were lost. The telegram, however, does not state that the calm centre passed over the station, and it is probable from the observations received from Cuttack that the centre passed between Pooree and Cuttack, for about 1 P.M. of the 5th the centre of the storm was to the east of Cuttack, though probably some distance away. The precise line of advance of the storm through Orissa is at present difficult to determine, for early in the storm the telegraph wires to Pooree and False Point were carried away, and no observations have since been received from those stations. The direction of the advance of the storm must, however, have again changed at this time, and the storm evidently commenced to recurve towards the north-east. The centre was, to the south of Balasore between 8 and 11 P.M. of the 5th, but at some distance from it, and it passed to the south of Saugor Island about 2 A.M. of the 6th, also at some distance from the land, and at 8 A.M. it was to the south-east of that station. The centre passed about 80 to 120 miles to the south-east of Calcutta about the noon of the 6th, and afterwards a little to the north of Burrisal between 5 and 8 P.M. of the same day, but the rapidity of the north-easterly advance of the storm had at this time greatly increased, and by the morning of the 7th the storm had left Bengal altogether, and was probably in Sylhet or Cachar. It had also rapidly decreased in intensity, and on this day was of little importance. On the 7th any residual low pressure due to the disintegrated storm was probably in Upper Assam or Upper Burma, but the storm had then practically ceased to exist.

The lowest pressure during the passage of the storm of which any record has yet been received from any of the meteorological observatories was 29·39" at Gopalpur at 2 A.M. of the 5th; but the barometric reading during the passage of the calm centre was not given by the observer. Telegraphic communication with False Point and Pooree also failed rather early during the storm, so that no barometric records are available for these stations, but it is probable that much lower pressures than that above recorded actually existed in and near the centre of the storm, for observations made on some of the vessels in the north-west angle of the Bay which were involved in the storm, particularly on board the ship Lena, appear to show that a pressure of about 28 inches or even 27·9 inches was experienced.

The cyclone was of course accompanied by a very complete cyclonic circulation of winds, apparently even from its formation close to the Andamans, and the storm, though by no means so large and so fierce as many cyclones have been, was attended by extremely fierce and destructive winds. The highest recorded wind velocity shown in the observations as yet received from the meteorological observatories was the average velocity of 59 miles an hour at Pooree, just before the time when the telegraphic communication with that station ceased during the night of the 4th. Judging, however, by the fact that this was only the average hourly velocity for 3 hours, and that this occurred before the full force of the storm reached the station, it is probable that in the squalls and close to the calm centre the velocity of the wind must have run up to at least 80 or 90 or even 100 miles an hour. The strength of the wind is also shown by the number of vessels in the north-west angle of the Bay which were dismasted by the force of the cyclone, and by the damage done in the Andamans at a time when the cyclone could not have attained its full force.

The storm has brought up rain to all the districts through which it passed, but on the whole the rainfall has been smaller in amount than is usual in large and fierce cyclones. Orissa has received a very heavy rainfall, and one station, Pooree, has reported 13·61 inches during the storm, while Kendrapara received about 15·7 inches, and so on; but the falls were much smaller in South Bengal than in Orissa, and in Sylhet and Assam the falls had become very light. With the approach of the storm into the north-west of the Bay, the weather conditions in Bengal at once completely changed. Fine settled weather of north-east monsoon character had obtained at the commencement of the week, but from the morning of the 3rd the sky rapidly clouded in the southern districts till it became almost overcast over the whole province, and from the morning of the 4th light rain commenced in Orissa. The rainfall was heavy over the whole of Orissa on the 5th and 6th, and on the latter date rather heavy rain commenced in South Bengal, and moderate rain continued to fall on the 6th and 7th in East Bengal and over the southern districts of North Bengal. Chutia Nagpur and the Sonthal Pergunnahs districts in South Behar also received light to moderate rain on the 5th and 6th instant. It will thus be seen that the weather conditions in Bengal during the week have been entirely controlled by the advance of the cyclone towards the province, and by its subsequent passage through the southern half of it, and one of the beneficial effects of the storm has been to give rain to all districts except Behar and part of North Bengal.

Pressure.—The variations of pressure during the week need not be discussed in detail, for from almost the commencement of the week the general distribution and the variations of pressure have been governed by the cyclone which has just been described. Pressure was high at the commencement of the week, and then fell steadily up to the 7th, a fall of nearly half an inch occurring in the first four or five days at some of the southern stations, though in the north of the province the barometer was less affected. The mean pressure has consequently been in defect of the normal for the week, the defect at such stations as Gopalpur, Cuttack, and Saugor Island equalling about 0·05", while in the north of the province pressure has been above the normal by about 0·02" or 0·03".

Temperature.—In front of the advancing storm, temperature, as usual, increased considerably, and damp, warm, muggy weather generally prevailed in Bengal. The mean temperature of the province for the week has therefore been in excess of the normal in all districts except Orissa and South-West Bengal, where, owing to the fall of temperature at the end of the week, due to the heavy rainfall, very slight defects have been registered. In South Behar and Chutia Nagpur, excess temperatures of between 1° and 2° have been registered, and in East and North Bengal and North Behar the excess has been between half and one degree. For the whole of Bengal the excess has equalled about 0·6°. In Assam, on the other hand, a defect in the mean temperature of 1·3° is registered.

Rainfall.—The reports of rainfall received from Orissa are not yet complete, but so far the average fall for the week which has been recorded equals 5·70 inches. In East Bengal the fall has equalled 1·50 inches, in South-West Bengal 0·91 inch and in North Bengal 0·60 inch. In the districts further inland, the falls have been smaller, and South Behar and Chutia Nagpur report average falls of 0·11 inch and 0·14 inch respectively. In the case of South Behar, however, the rainfall has been mainly confined to the Sonthal Pergunnahs district. The only division where no rain has fallen is North Behar.

Comparing these falls with those which usually occur early in November, the falls in Orissa, South-West, East and North Bengal have been very largely in excess of the normal amounts, and the falls in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur do not differ much from the usual falls which may be expected. In North Behar at this season practically no rain ever falls, and hence rainfall cannot be said to have been deficient in that division.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 7th of November 1891 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet from the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly of the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beekley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

- A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India
 By DR. GRO. WATT, C.I.E.
 Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The period of registration of subscribers' names having expired on the 1st October, the price will in future be in India Rs. 45 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made). An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England, at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately.

THE CADASTRAL SURVEY OF BEHAR.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

RESOLUTION No. 1243 L.R.

Arrah, the 9th November 1891.

THE Government of India having sanctioned the resumption of survey and settlement operations in Behar, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that it will be to the advantage of all parties concerned that he should take an early opportunity of stating publicly the objects and intentions of Government in carrying out this undertaking.

2. Soon after the Bengal Tenancy Act, VIII of 1885, came into force, Mr. E. W. Collin, c.s., was appointed to carry out the survey and settlement of a portion of the Mozufferpur district. These operations were initiated with the object of gaining some experience of the difficulties to be met with, and of the best and most economical methods of dealing with them, as well as of gauging their probable cost. They were avowedly intended to be of an experimental character, in the hope that, if successfully accomplished, they might be generally extended. The experiment lasted about a year, during which about 400 square miles were cadastrally surveyed and a record of rights was prepared for about 150 square miles.

3. The late Lieutenant-Governor, Sir S. C. Bayley, in submitting the final report of this work to the Government of India, expressed himself satisfied with the results of the experimental survey, and stated his opinion that there was good reason for desiring to extend the process to other tracts in the position of that dealt with in Mozufferpur. He also intimated his view that, should the experiment which had been tried at the expense of the State be extended, the cost must be paid by the zemindars and ryots concerned, and that a charge of 8 annas an acre would be by no means excessive for the benefits conferred. The Government of India in reviewing this report concurred in Sir S. C. Bayley's view that it was desirable to extend the measure to other tracts. They regarded Mr. Collin's report as throwing much light on existing agricultural conditions in Behar, and as a valuable addition to the evidence already collected of the depressed state of the cultivating classes in that part of the country. They particularly noticed the fact that the Tenancy Act had defined and enlarged the rights of the tenants, and that in tracts like Behar an authoritative survey and record appeared to be indispensable to give reality to the provisions of the Act. In the review of this correspondence the Secretary of State wrote as follows:—

The Settlement Officer, who appears to have conducted his operations with skill and judgment, is careful to say that, for statistical purposes, generalisations cannot be safely based on the facts ascertained over a limited area of 56,588 acres. Still, so far as the proceedings went, they show—

- (1) that the work of survey and of recording rights in Behar was smoother than had been expected; that it was satisfactory to the ryots and not disliked by the zemindars;
- (2) that the whole operation can probably be carried out at a cost of not more than Rs. 320 per square mile;
- (3) that the work has not given rise to litigation or class enmities, while it has safeguarded the position of the ryots and increased the value of their rights.

His Lordship went on to say that he noted the opinion expressed by the Government of India that, even if the continuous maintenance of the village record cannot be fully secured, still an accurate knowledge of existing facts would be of great advantage as affording a basis on which a better state of things might grow up under the Tenancy Act, and that a survey and record of rights ought to be attempted in other permanently settled tracts, where doubts prevail as to existing tenures and rents. He laid weight on the conclusion that the cost of the survey and of the subsequent maintenance of the village record must be kept within the narrowest possible limits, as the expenses will have to be defrayed by the classes and localities concerned, and said he would await with interest further information and proposals on these most important matters.

4. In March 1889 Mr. Boxwell, Commissioner of Patna, submitted a report on the question of extending the survey and settlement operations in his division. His conclusions were stated in the following words:—

- (a) The evidence produced from many different places prove that all over the division there is a general uncertainty differing in intensity.
- (b) Both the complaints of landlords and the attitude of the ryots prove that the ryots are beginning to appreciate their widespread right of occupancy.
- (c) Transactions between zemindars, indigo planters, and ryots prove that there is uncertainty with respect to tenure,
- (d) And that individual ryots are not strong enough to deal commercially with either of the other two parties.
- (e) The effect of the Tenancy Act in diminishing uncertainty about both rent and tenure is already felt.
- (f) The effect of the Mozufferpur survey and record is universally acknowledged.

When this report and other papers connected with the subject came before Sir Stuart Bayley, in September 1889, he reviewed the question as a whole, and, with full knowledge of the condition of Behar, recorded his deliberate opinion that the considerations in favour of the proposed resumption of the Mozufferpur experimental survey-settlement proceedings decidedly preponderated. He asked the Government of India to accord sanction under the Tenancy Act to a survey and settlement of rights of the Patna Division with power to exempt particular tracts for special cause shown: and he explained the delay in making this application by a reference to the proceedings which had been undertaken to gain further experience in lands under the control of Government, and to the surveys of estates the proprietors of which had voluntarily offered to pay the necessary expenses.

5. Sir Stuart Bayley considered that the effects of a survey-settlement would be to define the holdings and rents of each ryot, to place in the landlord's hands means which very few now have of proving without difficulty what they are entitled to claim, and to give the ryots the power of resisting illegal and improper claims. He foresaw that such a measure would be unfavourably received by the zemindars' employés, as it would put an end to the large profits made by those who collect rent for the proprietors, a numerous and powerful class divided into various grades, from the farmers of many villages to the patwari or gomashtha. After giving all such considerations their full weight, the late Lieutenant-Governor, as has been said, recommended the adoption of the measure in question. At the same time, having regard to the partial failure in the Patna Division of the autumn and winter harvests of 1888-89, and to the serious injuries caused by the floods of 1889 to the autumn crops in Chumparun, Mozufferpur and Durbhunga, he proposed to postpone the commencement of the work until the effects of these calamities of season had disappeared.

6. The Government of India in reply stated that survey parties would be provisionally reserved for employment in Bengal upon the supposition that the Behar survey would be commenced in 1891-92; though, it was added, no final decision could be given authorizing the survey until the question of cost and the share which it was proposed to accept on the part of Government was more precisely determined. In reviewing this correspondence, the Secretary of State for India wrote on the 20th February 1890:—"I am glad to learn that it is proposed to carry on this important work as soon as the people recover from the loss caused by the scarcity of 1889. It is satisfactory that the Government of Bengal expect the cost of the work to fall below the sum, eight annas per acre, first estimated. I have no doubt that your Government will arrange for the diligent prosecution of the undertaking as soon as the circumstances of the country permit."

7. The outline of the correspondence as above presented is sufficient to show the progress made with the project, up to the time when the late Lieutenant-Governor had to abandon it temporarily on account of the scarcity of 1888-89. The question reserved by the Government of India for more precise determination has been fully examined and settled in the usual course, and, as a direct result of the Secretary of State's orders last quoted, the whole subject has again recently been laid before the Government of India, and proposals have been submitted for carrying out the survey and settlement of the four districts of the Patna Division which lie north of the river Ganges.

8. The Government of Bengal did not fail to represent, as clearly as possible, the difficulty of the work in prospect, and the fact that the scheme will not in the commencement commend itself favourably to the landed interests concerned. But Sir Charles Elliott expressed his complete concurrence with the views expressed by his predecessor that the advantages which will accrue to the people from the survey and settlement proceedings outweigh the inconveniences and difficulties that may arise, and that they justify the undertaking. His Honour entirely agrees with all that has been said during the course of the discussion as to the advantage and, indeed, the absolute necessity, of such a survey-settlement if administration is to be conducted with complete and accurate knowledge of economic facts, if famine is to be successfully combated when it comes, and if the relations of landlords and tenants are to be put on a secure and definite basis by the authoritative registration of areas held and rents fixed. He regards such a measure as a necessary corollary to the Permanent Settlement, and as the only way in which Government can give full effect to the principles laid down by the Bengal Tenancy Act as to the rights of the different classes of ryots, by creating an accurate record of those rights, and establishing a system for registering them in future.

9. In reply to this communication, His Excellency the Governor-General in Council has now been pleased to issue orders sanctioning the proposed operations. In view of the partial failure of the late rains and the prospects of some degree of scarcity, it is not proposed to begin the survey this year, but arrangements are being matured for making a commencement of the work this season, by demarcating the village boundaries and starting the skeleton or traverse survey (the cost of which will be borne by Government), while the field-to-field survey will be put in hand in November 1892. The reasons why it is in contemplation to confine the survey and settlement to the districts of North Behar are that the evils arising from the uncertainties of tenures and want of a record of rights have been felt there more than elsewhere, on account of the poverty and density of the population.

10. Sir Charles Elliott has not failed to notice indications of uneasiness felt by the classes interested, and especially the zemindars, and there can be little doubt that much of this uneasiness is due to misconception on the part of those classes of the objects of the survey-settlement proceedings, and of the spirit in which they will be carried out. He has therefore deemed it desirable, besides recapitulating briefly the official history of the measure in hand, to give some explanation of its scope and character.

11. The objects of the cadastral survey and settlement of Behar are to obtain an accurate record (1) of the area and situation of all villages and estates, of each tenure and of each ryot's holding within an estate, and (2) of the status of everyone who has rights in the land and of the rent paid by each ryot and tenure-holder. In other words, the intention is to carry out accurately what every zemindar is understood to attempt to carry out more or less accurately, but often fails in doing. On every estate zemindari accounts are kept up, which correspond in all but accuracy to the khasra and khatian of the settlement, and it is incredible that the zemindars should really wish not to have the opportunity of making these accounts correct. The Lieutenant-Governor has recently ascertained by personal enquiry the value which gentlemen of such experience as Messrs Burrows, Thomson and Mylne of Beeheca in Shahabad attach to the information collected in the cadastral survey which was effected for the canal-irrigated villages in that district. His Highness the Maharaja of Tipperah is so convinced of the utility of a cadastral survey that he has recently made application to the Government to have such a survey carried out in all his estates which lie in British territory. It is within the knowledge of the Court of Wards and of Government that, in the zemindaris which have come under the temporary management of the Court, there is generally an ignorance on the part of the late proprietors' officials of the rights and interests appertaining to the estate which is altogether incompatible with successful administration. In one important estate still under the Court whole mohals had been lost sight of and had paid nothing to the proprietors for many years: in other estates, where survey-settlements had to be undertaken, it came to light that managers were ignorant whether the estates were compact or scattered, or where the lands were situated. It is a fact also, of which zemindars must be fully cognizant, that purchasers of estates are often unable to find out what are the boundaries of the property they have bought, or to obtain any records showing who the ryots are, where their lands lie, or what their rents are. These are instances of the inconveniences and defects which would all be removed by a field-to-field survey and an accurate record of rights.

12. On the other hand, the gain to the ryot of having his rights recorded and his status and rent determined is incontestable. The law has bestowed on him certain rights, and the Government has decided that it is the duty of the administration to provide him with the means of knowing precisely wherein they consist. This knowledge will benefit him in his dealings with his zemindar in any dispute as to the rent due to him, with indigo planters when he wishes to lease his fields to them, and with the Opium Department officers when he applies for an advance for growing opium on his land.

13. Putting aside the fear of the unknown, which will be dissipated as the work of survey goes on, and the fear of increased litigation, which the experience of Mr. Collin's experimented survey shows not to be probable, it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor that the main reason for which the contemplated cadastral survey of Behar will not be welcomed, in the first instance, by the land-owners of the division, is their fear of the cost of the proceedings. The Lieutenant-Governor cannot hope altogether to dispel this fear, but he believes that explanations will do a good deal to diminish it. After carefully examining all that has been written on this subject, the Bengal Government has come to the conclusion that, as an estimate based on the actual cost hitherto incurred elsewhere, the entire charge cannot be safely taken at less than eight annas an acre, though it is hoped that there will be some reduction in the expenditure when the operations are undertaken on a wider scale than they have hitherto been carried out anywhere. Of this estimated cost of 8 annas an acre, the Government of India has accepted the charge of one-eighth of the total expenditure as representing the cost of traverse surveys. Of the rest the Lieutenant-Governor has decided that half, or three-and-a-half annas an acre, should be paid by the zemindars, and the other half divided among the subordinate interests. Thus a ryot holding an area of 3 or 4 acres may have to pay $10\frac{1}{2}$ or 14 annas, an amount which certainly cannot be considered excessive, since it ensures him security in the possession of those rights which the Tenancy Act has declared to belong to him. The lowest charge for a copy of an extract from the jamabundi exceeds one rupee, and His Honour understands that cultivators often pay even larger sums for documents or considerations of much less real value than the extracts from the khasras and khatians will be to them. The zemindars who own large properties will necessarily have larger total sums, but not proportionately larger charges, to pay: but in return, though no general increase in the rents of ryots can be contemplated, they will reap some return from the discovery of concealed holdings, and of tenures in which a large increase of area has taken place without any corresponding rise in rent, which will go some way towards compensating them for the outlay entailed upon them. Moreover, the survey itself will, it has been calculated, take about five years for two parties at the rate of 2,500 square miles a year, so that the total sum payable by the general body of zemindars each year will be distributed over a considerable period. In some cases, no doubt, the aggregate amounts which will fall upon single zemindars in any one year will be large; and to meet this difficulty, the Government intends to facilitate payments by allowing them to be liquidated by instalments. Sir Charles Elliott has no doubt whatever that in the end the zemindars will find the results well worth the money they will have, under the law, to pay for the survey and settlement operations. He feels sure that the zemindars of the large estates in which such proceedings have recently been completed would agree in the view that they have received, by an accurate and a well-ordered rent-roll which has been generally accompanied by a slight increase in rents, good value for their expenditure. It is the Lieutenant-Governor's intention to have published shortly an account of what the surveys and records-of-rights in those large estates have cost and the returns they have produced to the landlords, so that the zemindars of North Behar will be in a position to judge for themselves of the advantageous results which they may anticipate.

14. His Honour need hardly notice the suspicion, if any such exists, that the survey and settlement operations are intended to restrict just rights. There is no intention whatever on the part of Government to restrict the just rights of a single individual or of a class: nor would Government have the power to do so if it so desired.

15. The Lieutenant-Governor's object, in making the statements contained in this Resolution, has been to dispel the prevailing ignorance of the real objects of a survey-settlement and the intentions of Government and to make known the truth; and he trusts that the effect of what he has ordered to be published will be to show that some of the suspicions which may have obtained credence are unfounded and some are exaggerated; and that in the minds of those who are best able to judge, the conviction will be established that the settlement-survey of Behar is likely to produce great benefits to all classes who are interested in the land.

ORDERED—That a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION REVIEWING THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE CALCUTTA MUNICIPALITY FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MUNICIPAL.

No. 2521.

Calcutta, the 9th November, 1891.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Calcutta Municipal Corporation for the year 1890-91.

The Report, which is due to Government on the 1st August, was submitted on the 17th September, a month earlier than in the preceding year, but still considerably later than the proper date. No reason is alleged in the report to justify the delay in its submission. Moreover the form of the report itself is disappointing, and the Lieutenant-Governor would have expected something more than a series of tabular statements either printed without note or comment, or strung together by a few bald sentences of explanatory letter-press. The work done by the Corporation of Calcutta is of the highest importance, and in justice to itself, its report should be particularly clear and well arranged. The City of Calcutta is something more than a great commercial emporium. Rightly or wrongly, it is regarded as one of the chief centres of endemic cholera, whence the disease is likely to be imported into Europe. Its municipal administration is therefore a matter of international interest, and is jealously watched by the medical experts of those European countries which are liable to visitations of cholera. In these countries the belief in the efficacy of quarantine is still unshaken, and any appearance of neglect, any relaxation of the sanitary standard of Calcutta, may, if followed by an increase of cholera mortality, lead to the introduction into their ports of more stringent regulations, which would seriously injure the trade of this city, and thereby reduce the value of property generally. A clear and graphic description of what the Corporation have done, and are doing, to improve the sanitation of Calcutta would clear up much of the misunderstanding that now prevails on the subject, and would enable their critics to realise more clearly the true nature of the difficulties which the Commissioners have to contend with.

2. The statistics of meetings given in the report afford ample evidence that the amalgamation of the Town and the Suburbs, effected by the Municipal Consolidation Act of 1888, has added largely to the work and responsibility of the Commissioners, though not so largely as might have been expected. The number of general meetings fell from 34 to 29, and there were only 4 Special Committees against 12 in the preceding year, the aggregate number of meetings held by them being 19 as compared with 66 in 1889-90. On the other hand, the number of meetings of Standing Committees rose from 125 to 138, and of Sub-Committees from 57 to 90. The total number of meetings of all kinds was 276 against 282 in the preceding year. Eighteen Commissioners attended more than 50 meetings during the year, against 26 who showed the same degree of diligence in 1889-90; and 8 Commissioners, of whom 6 were elected and 2 nominated, were present at more than 100 meetings. The Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt that much work was done at the deliberations which these statistics represent, and it may be inferred from the designations of the Committees that the Corporation was occupied during the year with the business of general administration, with basti and town improvement, with the extension of the water-supply, the improvement of the Suburbs, the Central Road, the Hackney Carriage Bill, and other measures of importance. But the Report contains no connected account of the work done by the Commissioners at these various meetings, such as has usually been given in previous years; nor has this information been distributed under the various heads of administration that are treated of.

Loans.

3. The loan liability of the Corporation stood as follows at the close of the year:—

				Rs.
6	per cent. debentures	1,12,000
5	ditto	1,43,00,900
4½	ditto	10,48,300
				<hr/>
	Consolidated loans from Government	1,54,61,200
				58,00,571
	Total	2,12,61,771

Two new loans at 5 per cent. were raised during the year—one for 20 lakhs in June, and another for 10 lakhs in December. The tenders for the first loan aggregated 77½ lakhs, and eventually Rs. 13,70,000 were allotted on tenders over 3 per cent., the balance being divided among tenders at that rate of premium. For the second loan 145 tenders were received, amounting to Rs. 65,40,400, and the stock was allotted to the two highest; thus—

				Rs.
At Rs. 106	4,000
At Rs. 105-14	8,36,200
	Total	8,40,200

The balance was disposed of by issuing debentures at 5 per cent. for Rs. 1,59,800 to holders of the second 6 per cent. loan of 1870. These results may fairly be claimed as showing that the credit of the Corporation stands high and tends to rise in the money market of Calcutta. The total loan liability has risen, as has been noticed above, from 187 lakhs to 212 lakhs, but within the same period the 6 per cent. debentures have been reduced from Rs. 4,17,500 to Rs. 1,12,000, partly by repayment in cash, and partly by transfer to loans at a lower rate of interest. Of the two loans raised during the year, Rs. 13,31,000 were set apart for the Central Road, Rs. 12,00,000 for water-supply; and Rs. 4,69,000 for drainage and repayment of loans. While the liabilities of the Commissioners have increased, their assets have not remained stationary. The annual valuation which serves under the Act as the measure of their borrowing capacity rose from Rs. 1,73,70,515 to Rs. 2,01,35,128, and the Commissioners have therefore the legal power at the present time to extend their issues of 5 per cent. debentures up to a total amount of Rs. 3,35,00,000.

4. No attempt is made in the Report to elucidate the bare figures of receipts and charges, which are given without note or comment in Chapter II, nor is any explanation offered of the differences between the actuals and the budget estimate of the year and the actuals of the preceding year. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that in future reports this important subject may be treated in a more instructive fashion. The actual income of the Municipality during 1890-91 was Rs. 42,06,412 and the expenditure Rs. 44,71,169, against Rs. 42,17,123 and Rs. 41,27,883 respectively in 1889-90. The deficit of Rs. 2,64,757 on the year's working appears to have been met partly from the opening balance and partly by transfers from capital account, but no clear explanation of this is given in the Report. The principal items of receipts and charges were the following:—

	Receipts.		Rs.
General rate at 9½ per cent.	15,48,714
Sewage rate, &c.	3,29,227
Water rate, &c.	9,70,170
Lighting rate	3,25,541
Taxes	5,14,849
Municipal Market	1,21,657
	Expenditure.
Interest on loans	4,66,277
Contribution for repayment of loans	1,70,623
General establishment	3,92,012
Road department	4,47,496
Bullocks and stabling	2,07,115
Conservancy	2,63,572
Sewage rate charges	2,98,190
Water rate charges, including interest on loans, Rs. 4,88,461, and contribution for repayment of loans, Rs. 1,87,917			10,20,697
Lighting, &c.	3,49,807

No change was made during the year in the rates, which aggregated 19½ per cent. on the annual valuation of property liable to assessment. The incidence of taxation amounted to Rs. 5-10-11 per head of the population recorded in the recent Census.

5. The budget estimate for the four rates—the general, sewage, lighting and water rates—which make up the bulk of the Collections and balances. Commissioners' income amounted to Rs. 31,39,200, while the actual receipts under these heads were Rs. 31,73,652. The following statement comparing the outstanding balances during the last three years shows that the aggregate outstandings of rates tend continually to increase:—

OUTSTANDING BALANCE OF RATE BILLS.
	End of 1888-89.	End of 1889-90.	End of 1890-91.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Under collection by Assessors .	58,173	67,489	65,051
" " Collector .	26,014	1,09,690	1,14,649
" " Joint Collector	42,531	60,198
" " Warrant Superintendent ...	93,841	1,51,969	1,71,032
Total ...	1,78,028	3,71,679	4,10,930

It would appear from this statement either that the collections must have been materially under-estimated when the budget was drawn up, or that allowance must have been made for failure to collect some 12 per cent. of the revenue of the year.

6. In explanation of the arrears in the Collector's hands, it is stated that until the revised valuation of properties has been completed and landholders have become reconciled to the law regarding basti rates, the collections cannot be expected to regain their former standard. The arrears in the Joint Collector's Department are attributed to the fact that the rate-payers of what was the Suburban area have not yet learned to pay punctually the enhanced rates due to amalgamation with Calcutta and the revision of the assessments under section 123; that the procedure for issuing warrants in Calcutta is less expeditious than was the case in the Suburban Municipality; that only a small proportion of the basti bills are realised within the quarter for which they are due; and that the practice recently abandoned, of collecting from the tenants in certain cases sums for which the landlords default, tends to encourage the latter to attempt to evade payment. It is also alleged that in the case of certain Government buildings assessed for the first time during 1889-90, the taxes have not been realised pending reference to Government; while some miscellaneous bills, forming part of an arrear balance amounting to Rs. 17,530, were delivered to the Joint Collector so late that no action could be taken on them during the year. No explanation is given of the arrears in the Warrant Department, which have risen from Rs. 1,51,969 in 1889-90 to Rs. 1,71,032 in the present year.

It has been anticipated from the first that the new assessment section leading to a general increase in the rating of residential houses would increase the difficulties of collecting the rates punctually. There is, however, nothing in the Report to show that this cause alone is mainly answerable for the heavy outstandings of the past year, and the Lieutenant-Governor is disposed to think that there is room for much improvement in this branch of the municipal administration.

In paragraph 74 of the Report, the Commissioners furnish the separate statistics asked for in the last year's Resolution, of the demand and collection of basti rates since the new provisions of the law have come into force. It appears that the gross demand from the 1st quarter of 1888-89 to the last quarter of 1890-91 amounted to Rs. 8,41,091 and the collections to Rs. 6,28,974, while the remissions were Rs. 14,499 and the transfers Rs. 1,72,673, leaving an outstanding balance at the close of the past year of Rs. 24,943. These results appear to be on the whole satisfactory, but the statistics, like many others given in the Report, are put forward without a word of explanation tending to elucidate the facts which they represent.

7. The gross receipts of the License and Registration Department, including the tax on Trades and Professions, the tax on carriages and animals, and fees for the registration of carts and hackeries, carriages, palanquins, bullocks and cowsheds, rose from Rs. 6,10,461 to Rs. 6,34,995. The receipts from the tax on Trades and Professions, which make up more than half the amount collected in this department, increased from Rs. 3,15,719 to Rs. 3,29,640. Out of 29,940 assesses, 20,490, or 68·4 per cent., paid the tax during the year, the total amount realized being nearly 70 per cent. of the demand. There were 47 formal appeals and a large number of informal appeals against the assessment, which was modified in 539 cases during the year, the aggregate amount remitted being Rs. 5,695. From a table given in the Report, it appears that the list of assesses includes 272 Joint-Stock Companies, of which 53 have a paid up capital of 10 lakhs of rupees and upwards; 225 practising Barristers, Attorneys and Pleaders of the High Court, 266 Pleaders of subordinate Courts, Mukhtears and Law Agents, 26 Surgeons and Physicians, 97 Licentiates of Medicine and Veterinary Surgeons, 113 Native Doctors, Kabirajes, and Hakims, 583 itinerant dealers and 11,353 petty dalals and miscellaneous shop-keepers. Now that a new Hackney Carriage Act has been passed, it is interesting to notice that within the last ten years the number of first-class carriages registered rose from 55 to 75, that of second-class from 1,618 to 1,630, and that of third-class from 1,248 to 1,829. In 1883-84, the year of the Calcutta Exhibition, the number of second-class carriages rose to 2,021, which probably indicates that a number of private palki-gharries were converted into hired vehicles for that occasion. With this exception there has been no very marked increase in the number of second-class carriages, which is now practically the same as it was ten years ago. Third-class carriages, on the other hand, show a steady increase notwithstanding the introduction of tramways.

8. Section 123 of the Act prescribes that the whole area of Calcutta shall be revalued every six years, and section 129 provides for the division of the town into districts and the revision of the annual value district by district. During 1890-91 revaluations appear to have been undertaken in 13 out of the 25 wards into which the town is divided. In 7,933 cases the assessment was increased and in 3,525 cases it was reduced, the financial result being a net increase in the valuation of Rs. 27,64,613 and in the assessment of Rs. 4,69,744. That the increase in the assessment does not bear a higher ratio to the enhanced valuation is understood to be due to the fact that houses and lands, no part of which is within 150 yards of the nearest stand-pipe, pay water-rate at only 3 per cent. on their annual value. The Lieutenant-Governor finds, however, some difficulty in reconciling these figures with those given in the statement in paragraph 62, showing the working of the assessment sections. According to the latter statement the valuation of the town before revision amounted to Rs. 1,44,96,885; the valuation after revision, but before the objections had been disposed of, to Rs. 1,53,81,620; and the valuation after the objections had been determined, to Rs. 1,50,96,063. Now obviously the first of these figures ought to tally, and does approximately tally, with the valuation (Rs. 1,44,86,479) as it stood at the end of 1888-89, when revision operations under the new law had not been commenced; while the last, representing the progress made in revision up to the end of the year under review, ought to correspond with the amount (Rs. 2,01,35,128) shown as the valuation on the 31st March 1891. No such correspondence, however, is traceable in the latter case, nor is any explanation given of the great discrepancy between figures which purport to represent identically the same set of facts. No less than 1,237 objections to the assessor's valuations had remained pending from the previous year, and 3,280 objections were filed within the year under report. The number of objections, therefore, to be determined by the Chairman and Vice-Chairman under section 136 was 4,487. Of this only 1,259 were disposed of during the year, leaving 3,228 pending. These figures point to a difficulty which may require to be met by an amendment of the Municipal Act. Under the law as it stands now, the Vice-Chairman is the only officer whom the Chairman can depute to determine objections, and the number of objections has increased and tends to increase so largely that it is doubtful whether the Chairman and Vice-Chairman can possibly keep pace with the work. The Commissioners have submitted to Government a special representation on this subject, which will have the Lieutenant-Governor's careful consideration.

9. The Census of Calcutta was taken on the night of the 26th February 1891, under the supervision of Mr. H. F. T. Maguire, C.S., whose services were placed at the disposal of the Commissioners for this purpose. Mr. Maguire's report has not been sent up by the Commissioners, and the account given in the Municipal Report of the results of the enumeration is so meagre as to offer practically nothing to review. The population was found to be as follows:—

	1891.			1881.
	Males.	Females.	Total.	Males.	Females.	Total.
In the old town ...	287,034	149,359	436,393	257,778	143,893	401,671
In the added area ..	128,007	85,001	213,008
In the Fort ...	3,119	349	3,468
In the Port ...	26,515	73	26,588
In the canals ...	2,072	30	2,102
	446,747	234,812	681,559

Arranged with reference to conjugal condition, the statistics give the following proportions:—

CONJUGAL CONDITION.	PERCENTAGE ON POPULATION.						PERCENTAGE ON SEX.
	Male.		Female.		Total.		Male.		Female.
	1891.	1881.	1891.	1881.	1891.	1881.	1891.	1881.	1891.	1881.
Single ...	19.6	20.5	8.7	7.9	28.3	28.4	30.5	32.2	24.4	21.7
Married ...	42.0	40.3	16.3	15.5	58.3	55.8	65.5	63.2	45.3	42.7
Total ...	64.1	63.7	35.9	36.3	100.	100.	100.	100.	100.	100.

In this table the figures for 1891 relate to the entire town, while those for 1881 exclude the suburban area added under the Municipal Act of 1888. No precise comparison between the statistics of the two periods can therefore be attempted. It deserves notice, however, that the disproportion of females which has always been a characteristic of the population of Calcutta, has become slightly more marked since the inclusion of the Suburbs—a result which was prima facie hardly to be looked for, since it appears probable that the added area contains a larger proportion of resident families than the town. Along with a slight decrease in the proportion of females to the total population, the figures show a considerable decline in the proportion of widows among them. Of the females enumerated in the town in 1881, no less than 35.6 per cent. were widows, and this proportion has fallen to 30.4 per cent. among the females recorded in 1891. The average density of the population per acre varies from 226 in Colootola, 161 in Jorabagan, and 159 in Jorasanko, to 11 in Alipore and Ballygunge. Classified according to religion, the inhabitants of Calcutta comprise 428,760 Hindus, 189,226 Mahomedans, 26,406 Christians, 2,145 Buddhists, 493 Jains, 1,387 Jews, 168 Zoroastrians, 108 Sikhs, and 708 Brahmos. It is understood that the results of the Census of Calcutta will be exhaustively examined by the Superintendent of Census, Bengal, in his report on the Census of the entire Province, and in reviewing that report the Lieutenant-Governor will take the opportunity of discussing the Calcutta statistics more fully than is possible on the very meagre particulars given in the Municipal Report.

10. The report of the Health Officer of Calcutta, like those of the Sanitary Commissioners throughout India, is for the calendar year, and deals separately with the vital statistics of Calcutta proper and of the amalgamated portion of the Suburbs. The Lieutenant-Governor approves of the proposal of the Commissioners that in next year's report the vital statistics of the entire municipal area shall be dealt with as a whole. The following statement compares the births and deaths of the town and the added area during the last two years, the ratios per thousand being calculated on the population recorded in 1891, except in the case of the town mortality for 1889, which is reckoned on the population of 1881:—

Vital statistics.

		Town.		Suburban area.
		1889.	1890.	1889.	1890
Number of births	...	8,752	7,948	3,565	3,970
Ratio per 1,000	...	20.2	17.0	16.5	18.4
Number of deaths	...	11,682	12,382	7,882	7,986
Ratio per 1,000	...	26.9	26.5	36.5	37.4

In last year's report the mortality for the Suburbs was calculated on the population of 1881, giving a death-rate of 46.9 per thousand, which the results of the present Census show to be considerably in excess of the true rate. Even after this correction has been made, the mortality of the suburban area still exceeds that of the town by nearly 11 per thousand. No attempt is made to explain this difference by reference either to the sanitary conditions of the two areas, or to the habits of the population. Taking the mortality by wards, it the highest rates. In Hastings the death-rate from cholera was 4.1 and from fever 17.8 per thousand. Kidderpore shows a death-rate of 4.9 from cholera and 17.0 from fever; and Alipore 11.6 from fever and 8.5 from bowel-complaints. In the suburban area the mortality of the year did not materially exceed that of 1889. The increase of 700 deaths in Calcutta is attributed mainly to fever, which the Health Officer thinks may have been caused by the sewers, "which, when flooded, leak and pollute the soil of Calcutta and its sub-soil water." In putting forward this novel theory, the Health Officer seems to make rather too much of the suggestion thrown out by Mr. Baldwin Latham in paragraph 20 of his report on the sewerage of Calcutta, that the existing sewers, when full to overflowing, "must let the sewage out into the sub-soil." Mr. Baldwin Latham's conjecture rests only upon a hurried examination of the Calcutta system of sewer, and has not been verified by experiments; while the Engineer of the Corporation, who has been occupied with the sewers for years past, states distinctly that, having stripped sewers of all sizes in Calcutta, he has "never found any indication whatever of the penetration of sewage into the adjacent soil." Apart from this, the report of the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal shows that during the year 1890 fever mortality was unusually high in the Presidency Division and in the small municipalities near Calcutta—a state of things which clearly cannot be attributed to the Calcutta sewers, and which seems to point to the operation of some more general cause.

As regards cholera, the year was a favourable one, the number of deaths (963) being the lowest during the last twenty-five years, with the exception of 1871, when the cholera mortality was 796, and 1880, when it reached 805. A notable outbreak occurred during the first fortnight of February, which was confined to certain localities into which the disease is thought to have been imported by the arrival of infected persons from the neighbouring districts.

The mortality from small-pox rose from 71 in 1889 to 700 in 1890 owing to the prevalence of a severe epidemic during February, March and April. The section most violently affected was Jorabagan, where 180 deaths occurred. This quarter is largely inhabited by up-country people, who are said to have strong prejudices against vaccination. It is satisfactory to find that in consequence of the epidemic a larger number of persons were vaccinated than in previous years, and that vaccination was introduced into several Marwari and Khatri families who had hitherto resisted it.

11. The working of Mr. Harrington's incinerator, which was purchased by the Corporation, is, on the whole, favourably reported on. It appears to burn refuse in sufficient quantity thoroughly and regularly, and it can be worked without skilled labour or excessive supervision. Its only defect is said to be its failure to consume its own smoke, and Mr. Baldwin Latham has suggested a method of getting over this difficulty, which is under consideration by the Commissioners. Meanwhile the working of the incinerator has been stopped. The Health Officer also, who was recently deputed by the Corporation to represent them at the Congress of Hygiene and Demography, was instructed, when in Europe, to take the opportunity of acquiring information on the subject of cremators suitable to the climate and conditions of Calcutta. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that his inquiries may indicate the means of successfully overcoming the defect in the present incinerator. The cost of Dr. Simpson's journey will have been money well spent if it results in providing Calcutta with a cheap and wholesome means of disposing of the constantly increasing mass of insanitary refuse.

12. Convincing proof of the close relation that exists between the improvement of water-supply and the diminution of cholera is afforded by the fact that during the five years 1886—1890, before filtered water was brought into Calcutta, no less than 18,422 deaths from cholera occurred in the town, being 8·5 per thousand of the population as it then stood. With the introduction of filtered water, the mortality during the next five years dropped to 5,922, or 2·7 per thousand. Between 1876 and 1880 a slight increase to 6,598 deaths, or 3·0 per thousand, was observed, and in the five years 1881—1885, when population was beginning to outrun the water-supply, cholera mortality rose to 9,845 deaths, or 4·5 per thousand. Finally, the effect of the water-supply extension of 1888 has been to reduce the deaths from cholera during the five years 1886—1890 to 6,773, or 2·8 per thousand on the present population of the Municipality. In the twenty-one years, therefore, during which the town has been supplied with pure drinking-water, the death-rate from cholera has been reduced to little more than one-fourth of its former standard, and there is every reason to hope that the further extension of this benefit will not fail of its effect. The Engineer's report shows that at the close of the year under review the length of mains and services on the filtered system amounted to 231 miles, of which 47 miles were laid during the year. The average daily supply per head of the population was 39·46 gallons in the town and 15 gallons in the added area. A new pumping-station, designed to supply the southern portion of the added area, was commenced at Bhowanipore, and very creditable progress was made in the buildings during the year. The Lieutenant-Governor has under consideration a scheme, the object of which is to make it easier for other municipalities in Bengal to follow the excellent example set them by the Calcutta Commissioners in the matter of water-supply, by enabling them to combine their resources for this purpose, and thus to carry out projects which would otherwise be beyond their means.

13. The problem of efficiently draining an area which so nearly approaches to a dead level as the City of Calcutta is necessarily one of considerable difficulty, and doubts have often been expressed as to some features of the system adopted. The extension of the municipal limits, so as to include the Suburbs, has obliged the Commissioners to consider the question of undertaking new drainage works, and they very wisely resolved to take the opportunity of the presence in India of Mr. Baldwin Latham, a well-known Sanitary Engineer, to obtain his opinion as to the best means of draining the 12·82 square miles known as the "amalgamated area," and at the same time of improving the Calcutta system. Mr. Baldwin Latham spent about three weeks in Calcutta, and prepared a scheme for the drainage requirements of the Municipality, which, with an elaborate and careful note by the Engineer to the Corporation, forms part of the voluminous appendices to the Annual Report. The project is a large one, and, according to the estimates recently worked out by the Engineer, will cost about Rs. 1,70,69,000 to carry out fully. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts, however, that if recourse is had to the improved methods of sanitary engineering which have been introduced in England within the last few years, it may be found possible to effect material reductions in this estimate.

14. Chapter VII of the Report, bearing the title Public Instruction, is singularly wanting in information on the important question, how far the Calcutta Municipality attempts to provide primary education for the boys and girls within its area. It consists of five lines of print and an unexplained table of grants-in-aid to schools situated in the Suburbs, aggregating Rs. 3,141, the whole of which, however, is said not to have been claimed during the year. Nothing is said as to the class of schools aided, the principle on which the grants are made, or the steps taken to obtain proper value for the money spent. It appears from the report of the Director of Public Instruction that on the 7th August last the Secretary to the Corporation informed the Inspector of Schools, Presidency Circle, that the expenditure incurred by the Municipality during the year had been Rs. 678. The Inspector also observes—

“So far as I am aware, the Corporation has no special officers for the examination and inspection of the schools, and no special rules for the payment of rewards. Such being the case, it is but natural that there should be occasional irregularities. For instance, under section 36 (clause 12) of Act II (B.C.) of 1888, the Corporation is authorised to help primary and technical schools only. But from the returns furnished by the Secretary for the year 1889-90, it appears that middle schools also enjoyed a considerable share of their patronage. Again, it is not unusual for unscrupulous men to start pathshalas at the close of the year for the purpose of earning rewards, and melting away as soon as that object is fulfilled. The possibility of such malpractices is no mere hypothesis. A case of this nature is reported by the Sub-Inspector, in which one Bhutnath Mukerji of Khidderpur, Koyla Sarak, is said to have improperly earned some municipal money by showing off a pathshala attended mostly by pupils from other schools. The matter is still under investigation.”

The Director of Public Instruction has been asked to inquire further into the discrepancy in the figures, the alleged short expenditure, and the mode of administering the educational grant in Calcutta, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the Commissioners themselves will pay attention to the subject and treat it somewhat more fully in their next report.

15. In paragraph 18 of the Resolution on the Report of the Calcutta Municipality for 1889-90, the attention of the Commissioners was drawn to section 37, clause 7 of the Municipal Act, under which not less than three lakhs of rupees must be spent every year on the improvement of the area added to Calcutta, and they were requested to state specifically in future reports the manner in which this provision of the law had been complied with. This request appears to have been overlooked. Nowhere in the body of the Report is there any such specific statement as was asked for in the Resolution. Paragraph 136 mentions various sums sanctioned for work in the amalgamated area, but there is nothing in that paragraph to show what proportion of these sums was actually spent during the year. A reference to the detailed accounts forming Appendix D to the Report appears to indicate that Rs. 9,65,920 were laid out on suburban water-supply and Rs. 1,17,741 on roads and improvements in the amalgamated area; but it need hardly be observed that the fact of the Commissioners having thus amply fulfilled their statutory obligations should have been prominently brought forward in the Report, instead of being left to be gathered in a more or less conjectural fashion from a body of accounts nearly a hundred pages in length. The expenditure on basti cleansing and structural improvements of the town amounted during the year to Rs. 2,31,993 against Rs. 2,46,572 in 1889-90.

Basti cleansing, structural and suburban improvements.

16. Notwithstanding the defects of form which have been pointed out, the Report discloses much excellent work done by the Commissioners, and real progress made in several important branches of municipal administration. That the public believe the financial position of the Corporation sound is proved by the practical test of their loans being readily taken up, although the rate of interest has been reduced. The money thus raised appears to have been wisely laid out. The water-supply has been extended, an improved drainage scheme has been prepared, work on the Central Road has been pushed forward, the question of the disposal of refuse has been advanced a stage by the experimental purchase of an incinerator, revision of assessments has been carried on, and a variety of useful improvements have been made in the added area. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to the Commissioners, the Chairman, the Health Officer and the Engineer for the energy and good will they have shown in meeting the increased responsibilities laid upon them by the introduction of the new Municipal Act.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE LICENSED WAREHOUSE
AND FIRE-BRIGADE ACT IV (B.C.) OF 1883.

The following report is published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

II. H. RISLEY,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE WORKING OF THE JUTE WAREHOUSE AND FIRE-BRIGADE ACT IV (B.C.) OF 1883, IN THE HOWRAH MUNICIPALITY,
DURING THE YEAR 1890-91.

Thirty-two warehouses for the storage of jute, cotton, and other fibres were licensed during the year, as against thirty-six in the previous year, and a classified list of them is given in Appendix A under the headings—

Number of Warehouses licensed.

2. The gross receipt on account of the licenses granted was Rs. 6,250, which is less by Rs. 250 than that in the previous year; and the expenditure was—

Receipt and expenditure.

			Rs.	A.	P.
80 per cent contribution to fire-brigade	4,600	0	0

Personal allowance to Inspector at Rs. 20 per month	240	0	0
Contingencies	73	8	0
Total	5,513	8	0

The Municipal Accounts show an expenditure during the year of Rs. 10,793-8-0, but this includes payment of Rs. 5,280 to the Commissioner of Police in adjustment of the overdue 80 per cent. contribution for the previous year.

3. The head Fire-brigade station, centrally situated near the Municipal market, consists of a double storied building with suitable stabling and out-offices, standing on 1½ bighas of land, presented by the Commissioners in 1889, and on the terraced roof of the main building, which is 30 feet high, is a look-out, the observer in which is 65 feet above the level of the ground.

In addition to this, there is a Fire-brigade outpost at the Seebpore thanah, and another at Bandaghât, Sulkia, the rental of which is paid by the Commissioners at the rate of Rs. 10 per month.

4. The Fire-brigade Budget on the expenditure side for 1890-91 was—

The budgeted expectation was Rs. 6,150, while, as shown above, the actual receipt was only Rs. 4,600.

5. The Fire-brigade plant consists of 3 horses, 1 steam fire-engine, 4 manual fire-engines, 1 horse brake-van, 1 horse hose cart, and 1 hand hose cart.

Of this plant 1 manual fire-engine is kept at the Seebpore outpost in charge of 1 Tindal and 2 Khalasees, all the rest being at the head station, whence 1 manual fire-engine, and establishment similar to that at the Seebpore outpost, will be transferred to the Banda-ghat outpost, when it is ready for occupation.

6. Appendix B shows that only seven fires were extinguished by the local Fire-brigade in 1890 91, and that the value of the property destroyed did not exceed Rs. 1,060.

These results appear insignificant with reference to the budgeted expenditure of Rs. 6,992, but in connection with them have to be considered the unknown value of the property saved, and the incalculable security assured to both life and property by the presence of the Fire-brigade, and by the excellent nature of its work, as deduced from Appendix B:—

7. The Government of Bengal in Resolution No. 282, in the Municipal Department, dated the 18th February 1891, referred the question to the Commissioners, raised by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, regarding the equity of augmenting the Fire-brigade Fund by a contribution from the Municipal Fund.

The report of the Special Sub-Committee of Municipal Commissioners appointed to consider this question is attached as Appendix C.

U. C. MITRA,
Chairman.

APPENDIX C.

HOWRAH MUNICIPALITY.

Report, dated the 7th May 1891, of the Special Sub-Committee appointed by Resolution No. 13 of the 1st ultimo, to consider the questions referred to the Commissioners by Government in connection with the maintenance of the Fire-brigade.

ADOPTED BY RESOLUTION No. 5, DATED THE 20TH MAY 1891.

READ—

(1).—Government of Bengal Resolution, in the Municipal Department, No. 282 of the 18th February last, together with the letters and estimates accompanying it.

(2).—Report, dated the 8th March 1890, of the Special Sub-Committee appointed to consider G. O. No. M $\frac{1}{3}$ 4, dated the 8th idem.

(3).—Resolution No. 5 of an Ordinary General Meeting of the Commissioners held on the 18th June last (4).—Annual reports on the working of the Jute Warehouse Act for the years 1886-87, 1887-88, 1888-89, and 1889-90.

From the data before us it appears that during the four years commencing with 1st April 1886 and ending with 31st March 1890, there were 46 fires at Howrah representing a loss of Rs. 3,77,665, the particulars of which are as follows :—

Nature of building, industry, &c.	No of fires	Value of property destroyed.
		Rs.
Jute and Cotton Warehouses	5	3,71,000
Depôts, &c, licensed under section 261, Act III (B.C.) of 1884	7	3,185
Houses and huts	32	2,880
Docks	1	100
Boats laden with straw	1	500
Total	46	3,77,665

Also, as stated in the last resolution on this subject, the Commissioners paid for years the rent and taxes of a house in the Chandmarce Road for a Fire-brigade station, and in 1889 made over for this purpose $1\frac{1}{4}$ bighas of land worth Rs. 2 per cotta per mensem.

Further, the Commissioners have just sanctioned Rs. 10 per month for the Fire-brigade station at Bandha Ghât.

Considering these circumstances, and the fact that nothing has transpired to alter the opinion last expressed by the Commissioners, we recommend that the Fire-brigade be still maintained by fees levied as heretofore under Act IV (B.C.) of 1883, and that no contribution be made towards it under section 69, Act III (B.C.) of 1884.

We, however, suggest that the Jute Warehouse Act be amended, so that docks, distilleries, baled cotton warehouses, roperies, timber yards, coal yards, traders in kerosine and other oils, and dealers in other inflammable materials, be also made to contribute towards the maintenance of the Fire-brigade.

Moreover, we quite agree with the opinion expressed in the Government letter referred to us for report, that the Port Commissioners should also be requested to contribute towards the maintenance of the Fire-brigade, and as a cogent reason for the adoption of this measure as regards Howrah, it may be urged that, while it has a river frontage as long as that of Calcutta, the Port Commissioners have no fire-engines here, as in the Metropolis, to help the local Fire-brigade.

30 years. The variations are negative when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. Under the head District observation of rainfall the normal mean denoting cloud amount represents the part of the sky covered, the whole sky being denoted by 10. The means of the district are the numerical average of the rainfall returns received in the district, i.e., from total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-
TIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATUR-
DAY, THE 14TH OF NOVEMBER 1891.

At the latter end of the previous week a fierce cyclone passed through Orissa, and then recurving in a north-easterly direction, passed through South and East Bengal into Sylhet and Upper Burma. On the last day of that week, however, the storm was advancing from Sylhet towards Upper Burma, and by the morning of the 8th it had practically entirely ceased to exist, though there were feeble indications of a low pressure area still existing in Upper Burma and Assam. Considering the fierceness of the storm, the amount of rainfall brought up by it was less than usual, except in Orissa, where it was exceedingly heavy, and in its passage through Bengal generally only light to moderate rain was received. Another rather remarkable feature in connection with the storm was the rapidity with which the disturbed weather which accompanied it disappeared and was replaced by fine settled weather of the ordinary cold season type. So rapid, indeed, had been this change, that by the morning of the 8th, or the first day of the present week, fine weather with almost cloudless skies was reported from all districts except Assam, and only at one or two stations, such as Sibsagar, Bhogotpore and Gopalpore, was any rain received. The meteorological changes during the next two or three days were not important; on the 9th pressure rose in the northern and western districts and fell at the south-eastern stations, and the pressure distribution became that which is usual in the cold-weather months; temperature commenced to fall, while humidity also decreased, and the air became dry: the sky was practically cloudless, and no rain was reported. On the 10th pressure decreased slowly, while the temperature and humidity changes were variable, weather continued fine, and rainfall was entirely absent. On the 11th the changes were very small and quite unimportant, but on the 12th certain changes had occurred in the Bay, which immediately made themselves felt in the weather conditions of Bengal. On the 12th there were clear indications that another barometric depression had formed in the Bay to the south-west of Diamond Island or to the west of the Andamans, and so far as could be ascertained from the observations made at the coast stations, it was giving squally unsettled weather over the centre and south of the Bay. Indeed all the conditions pointed to the possibility of formation of another cyclonic storm. Immediately with the occurrence of the disturbance in the Bay, the sky commenced to cloud over in all districts of the province except Behar and part of North Bengal. A few light showers were also reported in East Bengal, principally from the Chittagong district, but the only falls of importance were 0.90 inch at Rangamati and 0.66 inch at Satkania. Over Bengal generally temperature rose rather rapidly and humidity also increased largely, while the barometer fell steadily, but not by more than about 0.03 inch to 0.04 inch. On the 13th the depression to the west of the Andamans appeared to have slowly increased in intensity, but its position was unchanged, and on this day it was certainly influencing the weather in Bengal very largely. The sky became heavily clouded in all districts except Behar, Chutia Nagpur and Orissa, the air became very damp, and numerous showers were reported in parts of East and South-West Bengal, particularly in the Furreedpur, Dacca, Tipperah, Jessore, Khoolna and Nuddea districts. Temperature also again increased and became above the normal by amounts which were usually between 3° and 5°, while pressure again fell moderately over the whole Province. From the 13th to the 14th the depression appears to have decreased in intensity rather rapidly, and it must have broken up to a considerable extent. It also probably moved slowly in a westerly direction, and perhaps existed in the centre of the Bay, too far from the coast observatories to give any very definite indication of its existence. The weather conditions in Bengal at once began to improve slightly on this day, and except for a few local showers, rainfall almost ceased. The sky, however, still remained moderately to heavily clouded, while temperature and humidity were decidedly high, but pressure had only fallen extremely slowly. Conditions therefore in Bengal remained rather disturbed up till quite the close of the week, though they were less disturbed on the 14th than they had been on the 12th and 13th, and there were also indications that the disturbed conditions were passing away rather rapidly.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been below the normal by small amounts generally averaging one or two hundredths of an inch in the southern and south-western districts, but at many of the northern and eastern stations an almost corresponding excess has been registered. For the whole province, therefore, the mean pressure for the week has been almost normal. In Assam also the mean pressure for the week has been only 0.003" in defect of the normal.

Temperature.—Owing to the influence of the disturbed weather in the Bay, the temperature of Bengal for the second half of the week was unusually high. The mean temperature has therefore been in excess of the normal in all districts except Orissa, the excess equalling between 1° and 2° in North Bengal, South Behar and Chutia Nagpur, while in South-West and East Bengal and in North Behar it has been rather less than 1°. In Orissa, on the other hand, there has been a defect of 0.9°. For the whole Province the mean temperature for the week has been about 0.8° in excess of the normal. In Assam the excess has only equalled 0.3°.

Rainfall.—The only districts that have received rainfall of any importance during the week have been Chittagong Hill Tracts, Chittagong, Dacca, Noakhally, Jessore, Khoolna, and Nuddea, which have received falls averaging from one inch to about a tenth, while slight falls also have been received in 24-Pergunnahs, Tipperah, Backergunge, Furreedpore and Bogra. Elsewhere practically the whole province has been rainless.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

☁, dew; ☁, fog; ☁, overcast; ☁, drizzling rain.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1.—The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin,

DEPOSIT.
When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M. in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6.—The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bond fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazee-pore Factory for the year 1890-91, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazee-pore Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

By order of the Board of Revenue, L. P.,

T. INGLIS, Secretary.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

By DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of I; and Vol. V contains the latter half of I, to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The period of registration of subscribers' names having expired on the 1st October, the price will in future be in India Rs. 45 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made). An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England, at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately.

The variations are negative when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater.
 The amount represents the part of the sky covered, the weather being denoted by 11. Under the said District observations of rainfall the normal mean is the mean of the district are the numerical average of the rainfall returns received in the district, i.e., from total rainfall at the sub-divisions.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-
TIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATUR-
DAY, THE 21ST OF NOVEMBER 1891.

THE weather conditions in Bengal at the close of the previous week had been distinctly disturbed owing to the formation of a barometric depression in the centre of the Bay, and on the 13th, when the depression was fairly well marked, cloudy weather with rain and unusually high temperature and humidity prevailed in the south of the province. The depression in the Bay, however, filled up almost entirely on the 14th, or the last day of the previous week, and thus weather began rapidly to improve in Bengal, and the sky cleared to a large extent, though still a few local rain-showers fell at some of the stations in East Bengal, and which falls were reported on the morning of the 15th instant. With the commencement of more settled weather pressure rose rapidly in Bengal, the increase on the 15th at some stations exceeding a tenth of an inch, while temperature on the other hand commenced to fall. Light north-easterly and northerly winds set in over the greater part of the province except the extreme western stations, where more or less southerly winds were blowing. The disturbed conditions in the province indeed had so rapidly disappeared, that at almost all stations the sky had become nearly cloudless, and at the same time humidity decreased and the air became generally fairly dry, so that from this day practically ordinary cold weather or north-east monsoon conditions had again set in over the province. The meteorological changes in Bengal on the next three days were unimportant; on the 16th pressure rose slowly and temperature continued to fall rather rapidly; on the 17th pressure had commenced to fall moderately, and there was a slight further fall of temperature; on the 18th pressure had commenced to rise very slowly, but the slow fall of temperature continued except at some of the central and northern stations. To the east of the centre of the Bay, however, on this day there were distinct indications of the formation of a new depression and strong easterly winds set in at Diamond Island, pointing to the existence of squally or somewhat stormy weather in the eastern part of the southern half of the Bay, or perhaps to the existence of a feeble storm between the Andaman and the Madras Coast. The indications of the existence of this depression were more marked on the morning of the 19th, but the depression did not on this occasion concentrate to form a definite storm, for on the 20th it had practically disappeared, and on the 21st there was again no indication of the existence of any definite depression or storm, though probably squally weather generally obtained in the south of the Bay. The unsettled weather in the Bay as usual affected the weather in Bengal, and pressure fell moderately to rapidly on the 19th and the 20th, though there was a slight rise on the 21st. Wind directions on the whole were almost unchanged except on the 19th, when they became more southerly. Temperature, however, on the 19th rose decidedly, the increase being from 1° to 2°, but on the 20th and 21st there was on the whole a fall. The sky became a little more clouded and humidity a little higher, but except for a few drops of rain at Cox's Bazar and Darjeeling, the whole province remained rainless. The cold weather conditions have therefore not been very strongly developed in Bengal during the week under review, and weather has been for a part of it again distinctly disturbed.

Pressure.—The mean pressure of the province for the week has been generally below the normal by from one to three hundredths of an inch, but the variations have been somewhat irregular. The defects at the western stations have been generally rather larger than those over the eastern half of the province, where at some stations such as Comilla, Burisal, Furreedpore, and Jungipore pressure has been almost normal.

Temperature.—The mean temperature has been above the normal in all districts except Orissa, where a defect of 1.4° has been registered. In South-West, East and North Bengal the excess has equalled about one degree, and in Chutia Nagpur and North Behar about one-and-a-half degrees. The largest excess has, however, been registered in South Behar, where it has equalled no less than 3°. For the whole province the mean temperature for the week has been above the normal by about one degree.

Rainfall.—The only stations at which falls in excess of a tenth of an inch have been received during the week have been Perozepore, Burisal, Nonkhally, Dacca, Brahmanberiah and Buxa. Elsewhere the whole province has been practically rainless.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 21st of November 1891:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

NOTICE TO MARINERS No. 199.

[First Publication.]

BAY OF BENGAL—ORISSA COAST.

Certain beacons and buoys out of position in False Point harbour.

THE Port Officer, False Point, reports that during the recent cyclone that occurred on the 5th instant, the Screw-pile and Cross beacons on Reddie Head were washed away, and that about half a mile of Reddie Head sand spit has entirely disappeared. The Fairway buoy has been lost, and all other beacons in and about the harbour have been blown down. The outer western Black buoy is in position, but without a basket. The Reddie Head spit buoys are also in position, but without the basket; and the water has shoaled at these buoys to 17 feet reduced; but about 100 feet north of them 27 feet of water reduced is to be found.

The Anchoring mark for steamers drawing over 20 feet will now be Hookeytollah Flagstaff; or the Refuge Building at Hookeytollah, bearing S $\frac{1}{2}$ East.

A Chequered painted new buoy will be laid in the place of the Fairway buoy, and the baskets replaced on the other buoys, as soon as possible.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1.—The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin,

DEPOSIT.
When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3.30 P.M. in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1.30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6.—The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided or in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bond fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazepore Factory for the year 1890-91, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazepore Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

T. INGLIS, Secretary.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

By DR. GRO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The period of registration of subscribers' names having expired on the 1st October, the price will in future be in India Rs. 45 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made). An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England, at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately.

Resolution of this Government, dated 24th September 1891, appointing a Committee consisting of Mr. J. Beames, c.s., Mr. J. F. Stevens, c.s., and Mr. J. C. Vasey, c.s., to collect information regarding the reform of the Police in these Provinces.

The Report of the Committee.

In the Resolution cited in the preamble, it was stated that the Lieutenant-Governor, after examining, in compliance with the instructions of the Government of India, the statistics of crime cognizable by the Police reported and disposed of in Bengal during the years 1878—1888, had come to the conclusion that although crime generally was not positively great in Bengal and was decreasing relatively to the increase of population, yet certain offences showed a tendency to increase; that an unduly large proportion of the crime actually occurring was not brought to the notice of the Police or of the Magistrates and was therefore never enquired into; that the Police enquiry into a large number of the cases taken up was fruitless, such cases never coming before the Courts, and that a disproportionable number of the persons brought before the Courts were acquitted. The Governor-General in Council, on considering the special reports of this and the other Local Governments on the subject, thought it advisable not to appoint a General Commission to investigate the problem of Police reform throughout India, for the reason that the conditions under which the administration of different Provinces is carried on vary so much that practical results are likely to be attained only by concentrating attention on local circumstances and requirements. It was accordingly left to the Lieutenant-Governor, if he should see fit, to convene a Provincial Committee. Being of opinion that it was evidently necessary to enquire minutely into the causes of the imperfections admitted to exist, and to ascertain by what means whether legislative or executive, remedies capable of being made practically effective could be devised and applied, Sir Stuart Bayley decided to appoint a Committee, consisting of experienced officials from both the Executive and Judicial branches of the service, and of gentlemen representing the views of the public. Mr. J. Beames, Commissioner of Bhagulpur, who was appointed the President of the Committee, entered upon his duties on the 20th August 1891. Mr. J. F. Stevens, Judge of Gya, and Mr. J. C. Veasey, Inspector-General of Police, joined him at the beginning of October. Raja Peary Mohun Mukherjee, a large zemindar, was added to the Committee on the 1st December, Mr. E. R. Macnaghton, Secretary of the Behar Planters' Association, joined it on the 16th idem, and Mr. H. H. Risley, c.s., acted as Member and Secretary from the 17th idem. After examining a number of witnesses, and discussing the written and oral evidence and other materials before them, the Committee submitted their Report on the 26th February 1891.

2. Since the receipt of the Report, which is signed unanimously, the Government of Bengal has fully considered the numerous recommendations made by the Committee; a number of the suggestions have already been acted upon, and the Lieutenant-Governor has been taking steps to carry out those remaining which have met with his approval. The measures adopted have now advanced to such a stage that what has been done can be conveniently summarised and made public. The ensuing paragraphs, in describing the recommendations and the action taken upon them follow the order of arrangement adopted in the Committee's Report which is divided into three main heads, viz.—I. The Village Police. II. The Regular Police. III. The Criminal Courts.

PART I.—VILLAGE POLICE.

3. The Committee have passed in review the previous essays towards the important and difficult question of improving the Village Police of Bengal, and have examined the working of Act VI (B.C.) of 1870, amended by Act I (B.C. of 1886, and the systems of chaukidars who are not under that Act. The conclusion of the Committee is that, although chaukidars are better paid than formerly, they are not much, if at all, more useful than they were, and that radical changes in the law affecting both punchayets and chaukidars are necessary before improvement can be expected. The chief proposals made may be classed as follows:—

(A).—Recommendations requiring legislation.

(a). The repeal of the restriction of the minimum of 60 houses in villages, and 80 houses in unions, for the introduction of the Act. The Magistrate should have power to introduce the Act into all villages irrespective of the number of houses they contain, provided that the inhabitants can afford to pay the chaukidar's wages.

(b). The number of chaukidars to be employed in any village should not be left to the punchayet entirely as at present, but the determination of the punchayet should be subject to the control of the Magistrate; the minimum of 1 chaukidar for 60 houses, 2 for 150, and one more for every extra 100 houses remaining as before.

(c). The rate of pay of the chaukidar between the limits of Rs. 3 and Rs. 6 per mensem should be fixed by the Magistrate and not by the punchayet.

(d). The supervision over chaukidars should be exercised by an official to be called the Circle Officer (halkadar), who should also collect the chaukidari rate. He should be directly under the orders of the Magistrate of the district, and should be paid by a levy of 25 per cent. over and above the amount levied for the chaukidar's salary, instead of 15 per cent. as now provided in section 13 of the Act. The collections made by this officer should be paid into the district or sub-divisional treasury.

(e). The provisions of section 50 of the Act should be amended so as to allow of the zemindar contesting the claim of the punchayet to include in the chakran area lands which he contends are rent-paying. Section 64 should also be amended so as to give Commissioners control over the proceedings of Collectors under Part II of the Act.

(f). Special provisions for the duties of assessment and supervision in tea gardens in Julpaiguri and elsewhere, where ordinary punchayets cannot be appointed.

The most important of these recommendations is that the Magistrate should be allowed power to introduce the Act into all villages in the province. The Lieutenant-Governor has accepted this, and proposes to divide the inhabited area of the whole country into blocks—each of which should have one or more chaukidars according to its size, and the number and means of its inhabitants. It may be necessary to take power to fix the pay of the chaukidar at Rs. 2 a month in some of the poorer and worst cultivated blocks, but the Lieutenant-Governor expects that this will be only necessary in a few exceptionally situated places. It may also be found desirable in some parts of the country to have only one punchayet for two or more blocks, and this will be provided for in the new law. Provision will also be made for the election of punchayets in such parts of the country as may be fitted for the exercise of this privilege, and where it is desired. The Lieutenant-Governor has been unable to accept the proposal mentioned in clause (d) above, that the collections should be paid into the district or sub-divisional treasury. The disadvantages of this seem to outweigh any possible advantages. It will be necessary to make it clear in the law that any member of a punchayet may, if competent, be appointed collecting officer, that the duties of collection and supervision shall not necessarily be entrusted to the same officer, and also that the amount to be levied in excess of the chaukidars' salaries need not be as much as 25 per cent. in all cases, and will be available for other purposes connected with the administration of the Act, besides the payment of circle and collecting officers. A draft Bill intended to carry out the changes which have been resolved on has been submitted to the Government of India and to the Secretary of State, and permission to introduce it into the Lieutenant-Governor's Council has now been obtained. The draft has been circulated for opinion to all local officers and the various associations representing classes interested in the subject, and any recommendations made by them will be considered before the Bill is introduced. Besides the changes mentioned above, based on the recommendations of the Committee, the draft contains the following provisions:—

(a). The extension of the powers of arrest by a chaukidar so as to bring the law into accordance with the general practice.

(b). The extension of the power of the Local Government to issue rules for the guidance of Magistrates and others exercising powers under the Act.

It also contains some minor changes which need not be detailed here.

It is recommended by the Committee that the duty of reporting vital statistics, epidemics, state of crops, &c., should be transferred from the chaukidar to the punchayet, who should send a written report by the chaukidar when he goes to the police-station to attend muster-parade, or by post when more convenient. The Lieutenant Governor is inclined to agree to this proposal. It has not been incorporated in the Bill, but on the receipt of replies from those consulted, His Honour will consider the propriety of introducing a provision to give effect to this recommendation.

(B)—Recommendations to be carried out by executive order.

(a). The Committee are of opinion that the rate of pay of the chaukidar, between the limits of Rs. 3 and Rs. 6 per mensem, varies very unfairly and in many places is not fixed with reference to the rates of wages of unskilled labour, cost of living and other local circumstances. The Lieutenant-Governor has caused enquiries to be instituted by District Officers in each thana with a view to fixing the rate of pay for that area, which shall be the ordinary rate in future; the results of these enquiries will be scrutinized by the Divisional Commissioners. As above mentioned, it may hereafter be found necessary to fix the pay as low as Rs. 2 in a few tracts.

(b). The system of muster-parades prevailing in most districts is commended in the Report, and the Lieutenant-Governor approves the principle upon which it is based of requiring the chaukidar to attend regularly at the police station. The Inspector-General of Police has recently drawn up draft instructions for the purpose of bringing the procedure to be followed at these parades into accord throughout the Province; these instructions have been sent to selected District Officers and District Superintendents for criticism and suggestions before being issued.

(C)—Recommendations concerning service lands.

(a). The Committee advocate the abolition of the Government orders of 1886, which are to the effect that the provisions of the Act for the conversion of chakran lands should not be put into force where there are already chaukidars in the enjoyment of chakran lands, and the amount and value of such lands are sufficient for their proper maintenance. These orders have had the effect of retarding greatly the abolition of chakran chaukidars, whose services almost invariably are unsatisfactory, and Sir Charles Elliott agrees with the Committee that the last circular upon the subject should be cancelled as soon as the proposed provisions, giving the Commissioner of the Division general controlling authority over the proceedings of the Collector in effecting the conversion, are passed into law. The present Act would leave the parties without the power to appeal against the Collector's orders.

(b). Besides the regular village police, there exist in the Bankura, Midnapore, Manbhum, and some other districts, classes of rural officers called ghatwals, paiks and phanridars; these always hold service lands, but the services they are supposed to render are very often delegated by them to sub-lessees. The organization of these old rural officials is most unsatisfactory and calls for special investigation. Mr. Risley, the Secretary of the Committee, drew up a Bill to provide for the commutation of the lands of the ghatwals, and the Committee recommended it with diffidence, as they did not deem themselves very competent to express an opinion upon the subject. The subject seemed to the Lieutenant-Governor to be one of such difficulty, involving many old customs and nice points of law, that he deputed a special officer, Mr. E. R. Henry, now Officiating Inspector-General of Police, to visit the districts in question and draw up careful notes upon the facts relating to each of the various kinds of tenure. These notes have been sent to the local officers for their opinion; on receipt of replies the Lieutenant-Governor will be in a better position to deal with the problem of effecting an improvement which has hitherto proved difficult.

(c). The chaukidari system in Orissa is shown by the Committee to be in urgent need of reform, and three different courses of action are suggested, but not exhaustively examined. The Commissioner of the Division, in consultation with the district officers, is now considering a suggestion to bring all the Orissa chaukidars under the Act. If this measure be adopted, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks that it had better be carried out under the supervision of the settlement officer when the jagirs held by the chaukidars have been surveyed and determined. All these lands should be commuted, and the necessary number of chaukidars should be decided on and their pay fixed pari passu with the progress of settlement.

PART II.—THE REGULAR POLICE.

4. The essential part of the recommendations of the Committee for the improvement of the Regular Police is that no officers inferior in rank to Sub-Inspectors should be employed in the investigation of criminal cases, and that head-constables, whose number would be greatly reduced, should be confined to work of a less responsible nature. Sir Charles Elliott has accepted this principle and has determined to carry it out as far as possible, though he thinks that there may be some places in which the amount of reported crime is so small as not to warrant the employment of a Sub-Inspector. The Committee did not fully work out the details of the scheme recommended by them, but it appears from a statement attached to the report that it practically amounted to little more than the substitution of a Sub-Inspector wherever there is now an investigating head-constable. The cost of this would be prohibitive in the present state of the finances. The Government of India, in their proposals for the next financial contract, have intimated that they will not allow anything on the score of the improvements in the police beyond a sum of Rs. 1,71,417 already sanctioned on account of constables as will be described below. Consequently any additional cost to be provided for from the Provincial revenues can only be available during the later years of the contract, and any improvement now made involving an increase of cost will have to be met by reduction in some other direction. Now there appears to be little doubt that by judicious redistribution of the station staff, and improvement in the method of investigating, a considerable reduction can be made in the number of officers required for investigating duty. This will allow of many head-constables being abolished and additional Sub-Inspectors being appointed in their places; but the Lieutenant-Governor finds it impossible to work out the details of this change without local enquiry, as the strength of the machinery to be employed in investigating crime must depend not merely on the arithmetical figures of crime to be investigated but also on local characteristics and peculiarities, on the class of crime most prevalent, and to some extent on the area to be supervised and on the density of population. The Lieutenant-Governor has therefore found it necessary to appoint a Committee composed of Mr. H. J. S. Cotton, Financial Secretary to Government as President, and of Mr. J. C. Veasey, Inspector-General, and Mr. Knyvett, District Superintendent of Police, to work out for each district the number of Sub-Inspectors required, and the changes in the distribution of the force which have become necessary. Mr. Henry, Officiating Inspector-General, will assist in making the enquiries, and will be present at the meetings of the Committee when his other duties permit him. Mr. Knyvett will act as Secretary to the Committee.

5. This Committee will also frame rules for the appointment of Sub-Inspectors and for their subsequent promotion. They will consider whether first appointment should not be made to depend to some extent on the result of competitive examination, and it has been suggested that the following classes should be allowed to compete:—

- (a) Candidates who have passed the F. A. examination of the Calcutta University, or who have received a certificate of proficiency from a Police training institution, such as that of Mr. Ballard, a retired Inspector of Police, recognized by Government, and who also pass a physical standard and a riding examination.
- (b) Head-constables and writer-constables who have been recommended by Magistrates for practical success in the detection of crime, and as possessing really high qualities of intelligence, activity and honesty.

Certain questions connected with boat establishments and river patrols, which also need further elucidation, have been referred to the Committee now appointed.

6. The Committee recommended that the pay of the lowest grade of Inspectors should be raised from Rs. 100 to Rs. 150, that the pay of the lowest grade of Sub-Inspectors should be raised from Rs. 30 to Rs. 40, and that of the highest grade from Rs. 80 to Rs. 100, the pay of the intermediate grades being also raised. The Lieutenant-Governor does not consider that sufficient evidence has been produced to show the necessity of this increase, while its cost would make it impossible at present even if reason for it had been shown. The officers in the lowest grade of Sub-Inspectors will, under the future arrangements, be considered to be on probation, their duties and powers will be necessarily limited, and the Lieutenant-Governor considers the pay of Rs. 30 to be sufficient in the circumstances.

7. The Committee propose that the four grades of head-constables on Rs. 10, Rs. 15, Rs. 20, and Rs. 25 should be altered to three grades, Rs. 15, Rs. 20, and Rs. 25. Sir Charles Elliott accepts the argument put forward that, as the first grade constable draws Rs. 9 per mensem and may have an additional Re. 1 as good conduct allowance, the minimum pay of a head-constable should be more than Rs. 10. In view of the fact that head-constables are not ordinarily to investigate cases, His Honour has determined that three grades on Rs. 12, Rs. 15, and Rs. 20 will be sufficient.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor has already carried out the recommendations of the Committee for increasing the pay and allowances of constables on the ground that the standard of wages has risen generally amongst the labouring and lower classes throughout these Provinces, but especially in Bengal Proper, and that there is in consequence difficulty in enlisting suitable recruits and keeping them afterwards. Sir Charles Elliott therefore agreed to the proposal to fix the pay of the lowest grade of constables in the Presidency, Burdwan, Rajshahye, Dacca, and Chittagong Divisions at Rs. 7 instead of the former rate, Rs. 6, and has also done away with the deduction of 2 pice in the rupee on account of the Superannuation Fund. He has also sanctioned the grant of a free kit to recruits on entering the service, and an increase to the former clothing allowances. These concessions, which involve the additional cost of Rs. 1,71,417 per annum, were brought into force with the consent of the Government of India from the 1st July last.

9. The questions connected with Reserves were not dealt with fully by the Police Committee. They, however, advised the Government to substitute in the special reserves of Dumka, Bhagalpur, and Dacca, military titles such as sepoy, havildar, jamadar, and subadar, for the civil designations of constable, head-constable, sub-inspector and inspector. This has met the Lieutenant-Governor's approval, and it has been embodied with other more important matters in a draft Bill, called the Bengal Military Police Bill, framed upon the lines of the Burma Military Police Act, 1888, which has been forwarded to the Government of India for sanction to its introduction into the Bengal Legislative Council. In 1887 the Government of India drew the attention of this Government to the desirability of re-organizing the district reserves with a view to rendering them more efficient in the repression of local disturbances, especially during religious celebrations. Sir Stuart Bayley was in favour of an increase in these reserves, but found that there were financial objections in the way. Orders on the subject were received from the Government of India in March 1889, but the district reserves are still in an unsatisfactory state. Sir Charles Elliott thinks that an opportunity has now presented itself in the proposed reorganization of the staff of the police, and the consequent reduction in some of the smaller stations, to withdraw a sufficient number of men from mofussil work to be formed in an efficiently drilled force that may be ready to put down disturbances on any emergency, and has directed the Committee which has now been formed to consider this question fully.

PART III.—CRIMINAL COURTS.

10. The suggestions made in the Report under this head are less definite than under the two other heads, and some difficulty has been found to give practical effect to them. Such action as it has been possible for Government to take upon the measures advocated has already been taken.

11. The Committee ascribe the defects in the working of the courts to the insufficient supervision exercised by the superior courts over subordinate Magistrates. They consider that the faults of the majority of such Magistrates lie chiefly in fear of responsibility, dilatoriness and want of thoroughness. They set forth instances of the superficiality and want of method which is observed on all sides. They point out that witnesses are detained day after day, and are made to attend again and again after long intervals to the great inconvenience of themselves and to the great prejudice of the administration of justice. They say that many Magistrates do not understand that it is their duty to exhaust every source of enquiry that may appear available, and to make good the deficiencies in the evidence presented in court, but are under the erroneous impression that they have only to adjudicate upon such matters as the contending parties or the police choose to lay before them. They assert that cases are not infrequently committed to the Sessions without any real necessity, because the Magistrate will not take it upon him to exercise his own judgment. In order to correct these evils, they urge that District Magistrates should exercise greatly increased supervision over Subordinate Magistrates, and, while avoiding interference with the judicial discretion of such Magistrates, should endeavour to secure punctuality of attendance, method, regularity, promptitude, and general efficiency in the disposal of business, and, when necessary, should assist their subordinates by judicious criticism and advice. The Lieutenant-Governor has accepted generally the recommendations of the

* Circular No. 3060J, dated 5th August 1891.

Committee, and rules* have been laid down to give effect to them. A fortnightly register showing the number of under-trial prisoners is to be submitted to the District Magistrate from each subsidiary jail. The District Magistrate is directed to inspect once a week the trial register of each subordinate Magistrate at head-quarters, sending for particular records, calling for explanation, or passing other orders when necessary. A statement is to be sent from each court away from head-quarters containing extracts from the trial register, showing each case which has been remanded more than three times or has been pending more than a month. District Magistrates are also, if possible, once a quarter, without previous warning, to send for and inspect the records of the last six cases disposed of by each subordinate Magistrate. A manual of inspection is under preparation, embodying the principles which have been laid down by the Committee, and accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor.

12. The Committee in commending the system of competitive examination for the recruitment of the Subordinate Executive Service, which has been in force for the last few years, recommend that the Evidence Act should be added to the subjects to be taken up for examination. The suggestion has been acted upon, and the notification of the 10th October 1891, prescribing the list of subjects for the next examination, contains this Act, together with other enactments usually required by Magistrates among the subjects for examination.

13. The Committee suggest that in order that subordinate Magistrates may feel that their success depends as much upon attention to their judicial work as to their executive work, their merits should be reported on by the Sessions Judges as well as by District Officers. The rule prescribing this has lately been revived by the High Court, and Government has received a copy of all the reports for last year.

14. It is pointed out in the Report that the failure in Sessions trials often results from the delay in hearing the cases. The Committee state their opinion that it is desirable that such trials should be held as soon as possible after the occurrence, and propose that a system of holding monthly sessions should be introduced as far as practicable. Other Governments have been consulted concerning their practice, and the High Court have been asked their advice in the matter.

15. Another cause of failure of justice at the Sessions Courts, alluded to in the Report, is the imperfect way in which many cases are committed by Magistrates. The Committee advise that powers of committal be entrusted only to selected Magistrates of the second class, and not to all as at present. The Lieutenant-Governor has accepted this advice, and has cancelled the general order of 1874, and after consulting local officers has vested this power in selected officers only.

16. The Committee consider that the Crown should be represented in all important appeals, and point out that the number of successful appeals, notwithstanding that the number of appeals lodged increases, remains very small. The rules on the subject seem sufficient to the Lieutenant-Governor, as any Court against whose order an appeal is lodged can apply for the Government Pleader to appear to support the order. In a recent circular† the Lieutenant-Governor has prescribed a form by which the subordinate Court is invited to state when notice of appeal is sent, whether the Government Pleader should appear or not.

17. The Committee point out that the Government Pleader is not always the best man at the local bar or the best man available. They suggest that the Judge and the Magistrate should always be consulted before a Government Pleader is appointed. The Legal Remembrancer, with whom the nomination lies, has been requested to consult these officers always in future. And Sir Charles Elliott has under consideration a suggestion to appoint Government pleaders for a term of years, instead of for life, as is practically now the case.

18. The Committee recommend that both in head-quarters and at subdivisions the best local legal practitioners should be engaged as legal advisers.

to the police and as public prosecutors before Magistrates. The scheme which would cost a very large sum is not fully developed. In many places suitable advisers could not be obtained, and Sir Charles Elliott doubts if cases would be much improved by legal advice given to the police during investigations: if advice is required, the District or Sub-divisional Magistrate is the proper person to apply to. The Lieutenant-Governor is, however, of opinion that more attention should be devoted to the prosecution of police cases, and desires to relieve Court Sub-Inspectors of much of their routine work to allow them time for this important duty. The experiment of transferring a large portion of the Court Sub-Inspector's work to the Magistrate's office, and setting the Court Sub-Inspector free from the multifarious details which now engross his time to prepare cases and conduct prosecutions, will be tried for six months in six selected districts. The officiating Inspector-General has selected for this experiment the districts of the 24-Pergunnahs, Mymensingh, Backergunge, Mozufferpore, Patna, and Monghyr, and he expects to have all arrangements completed by the 1st of January. His Honour has sanctioned a suggestion by Mr. Henry that hereafter Court Sub-Inspectors shall draw Rs. 20 at head-quarters and Rs. 10 at sub-divisions more than their grade pay in order to attract the best men to Court work. Special rules will be framed for the appointment of this class of Sub-Inspectors in order to secure superior knowledge of law and procedure.

19. The Report deals with the great delays which frequently occur in disposing of cases instituted under section 110, Criminal Procedure Code, which are known as "bad livelihood" cases, and it is advised that Magistrates should be allowed perfect freedom of action, and the existing rules which direct cases of bad livelihood should be taken up in the village where the accused resides should be abolished as being the cause of much of the delay observed. The

* Circular No. S.J.D., dated 4th June 1891.

Lieutenant-Governor dealt with the subject in a circular* in June last, in which it was pointed out that the orders directing local enquiry were issued by Sir Ashley Eden, who in 1877 had found that there had been an indiscriminate use of the provisions regarding security, and had little doubt that a number of innocent persons had been committed to jail upon mere hearsay evidence. Sir Charles Elliott, in modifying so much of the previous orders as prescribed a local trial in every case, and in leaving the matter to the discretion of the Magistrate, only did so because he prefers a speedy trial in Court to a long deferred one on the spot, and expressed his hope that Magistrates would try such cases as far as possible in or near the villages where the accused persons reside.

20. Conclusion.—So much has been done. The passing of the Chaukidar Bill and the reorganisation of the Police staff are the chief objects which now remain to be effected. Sir Charles Elliott trusts that their accomplishment will be seen at the end of the present cold season.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

JOHN EDGAR,

Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, MARINE DEPARTMENT.

No. 214Mne., dated Calcutta, the 1st December 1891.

THE following report of the 17th quarterly inspection of the Dock Works at Kidderpore which are being carried out by the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta, is published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. M. McNEILE, Col., R.E.,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. Dept.

QUARTERLY INSPECTION OF THE KIDDERPORE DOCK WORKS.

Dated Calcutta, the 24th November 1891.

From—LIEUT.-COL. A. D. McARTHUR, R.E., and H. N. C. CLOËRS, Esq.,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

AGREEABLY to the orders of the Government of Bengal, received with the Under-Secretary's letter No. 2536M. of the 30th ultimo, we have the honour to report that the inspection of the Kidderpore Dock works for the two quarters ending 30th September 1891 was made by us on the 21st instant. All the works are approaching completion, and their present state is as reported below.

Sixty-feet Lock.—Already reported complete. A small quantity of work on the jetties at the head of the lock remains to be done. The entrance to the lock has been dredged.

Eighty-feet Entrance.—As previously reported, this work is completed, and the jetty heads are almost finished. The dredging of the entrance has been carried out.

Double Entrance to Dock No. 1.—Is completed as previously reported.

Tidal Basin.—The masonry work is completed. Half the total area of the basin was dredged to within 5 feet of the required depth and full depth dredged between the lock and double entrances.

Graving Dock.—The engine-house for this dock which was under construction at the time of our last inspection is now completed with the exception of finishing work. The engines and pumps have already been utilized for emptying the docks.

Dock No. 1.—The additional works rendered necessary by the slips reported during the quarter ending 30th September 1890 are well in hand. With regard to repairs to walls of this dock, it was at first found impossible to make any progress with dismantling and reconstructing the upper portions of the injured walls while the river had access to the dock, and consequently it was decided to strut the gates of the 60 feet and 80 feet passages against the tide. Since this was done, the work on the walls has made good progress. More than $\frac{1}{3}$ rd of the concreting of the south-west berth had been done, and on the eastern wall 368 out of 418 bolt holes had been drilled and 60 per cent. of the waling had been fixed and the pockets concreted.

Boat Canal.—The lock and bridge at Chetla Hât are now completed. The gates and overbridge which were under construction when our last report was submitted are now finished, as also the revetments. The foot-bridge across the lift lock at the Budge-Budge Road has been erected and raised to position, and the piers erected under it.

Subsidiary Works.—The addition to the hydraulic engine station for the accommodation of electric light engines and plant was nearly completed at the time of our inspection. The wing was roofed and satisfactory progress made with engine foundation. The iron work for the cargo sheds has been received from England. Four sheds on the west side have been erected and partly roofed in, and two on the east side were put in hand. Considerable progress has been made with them.

GENERAL REMARKS.

We consider that the progress on the works in hand during the two quarters was very satisfactory, and that, so far as we could judge, the quality of work done was all that could be desired, promising completion at a very early date.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY,
THE 28TH OF NOVEMBER 1891.

DURING the previous week the weather conditions in the south of the Bay had been decidedly disturbed for a considerable period, but up to the close of that period no storm had been formed, and indeed on the 21st, or the last day of that week, conditions were much less disturbed than they had been, and on the Saturday there were no indications even of the existence of any barometric depression of importance, and still less of the formation of a storm. It is probable, however, that on the morning of this day a storm was gradually developing over the area in the Bay where pressure had been persistently low for several days, for the observations received on the morning of Sunday 22nd indicated very clearly that a cyclonic storm had formed to the west-south-west or south-west of Diamond Island, and apparently not very far away from land, the storm being well on the east side of the Bay. After its formation the storm commenced to move rather rapidly in a north-easterly or north-north-easterly direction. The centre of the cyclone passed to the west of Diamond Island about 5 A.M. of the 23rd, and during the passage of the storm near Diamond Island, even though the centre of the storm was not by any means near the land—for the lowest barometric reading recorded there was not lower than about 29·6 inches—that station reported winds of hurricane force with a tremendous sea, and for part of the night the wind velocity averaged 45 miles an hour. As the storm approached nearer the land the direction of its advance became more easterly, and during a large part of the 23rd it was advancing in a north-easterly or east-north-easterly direction, and perhaps when it struck the coast on the night of the 23rd or the morning of the 24th it was even travelling in an easterly direction. There are no meteorological observatories on the Burma coast between Diamond Island and Akyab, a distance of about 350 miles; but, so far as can be judged, the storm crossed the coast about midway between the two stations, though in the absence of any neighbouring observatory it is impossible to say the precise point of the coast crossed by the storm or what the depression of the barometer was near the centre of the storm. From the wind velocities recorded at Diamond Island, which are some of the highest ever registered at that station, it is clear the storm was a very severe one, and that such was the case is also proved by the experience of various vessels which were involved in the cyclone and which suffered damage from it. Directly, however, the storm passed inland and into the Arakan Hills, it must have commenced to break up rapidly, for at 8 A.M. of the 24th there was very little evidence of the existence of the storm at all, though pressure was still low over Burma, and by the morning of the 25th all trace of the existence of the former fierce cyclone had disappeared. The storm was probably of small diameter only though very fierce; it had also an exceedingly short life history, and the amount of rainfall brought up by it was comparatively small and was mainly confined to Burma.

From the 26th to the 28th, or for the remainder of the week, there was again ample evidence of the existence of a low-pressure area in the south of the Bay probably between the Andamans and the Madras coast; but this did not develop in any way, although the strong easterly and north-easterly winds which continued to blow at Diamond Island at this time pointed to the existence of squally unsettled weather generally in the south and east of the Bay.

As is usual, the disturbed weather in the Bay reacted on the general weather conditions in Bengal, and again the week has been one in which the cold weather conditions have not been at all fully developed. During the existence of the storm, and to a smaller extent at the close of the week, the skies became more clouded than usual, the air became damp, and temperature rose and became very much above the normal; pressure also fell for a considerable period, but the storm was too far away to affect the general pressure in Bengal to any material extent. As might be expected, the weather was more affected in the southern and south-eastern districts than elsewhere, and at a few stations in South-East Bengal a few light showers were reported; but these were of little practical importance. Elsewhere the whole province has again been rainless during the week.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been slightly below the normal over the greater part of the province, but the defects have been largest at the southern stations, where they generally equal from 0·02" to 0·03". At the northern stations in the province the defects are either very small and of only a few thousandths of an inch, or in several cases very slight excess amounts have been registered.

Temperature.—The mean temperature for the week has been from 2° to 3° in excess of the normal in South, West, East and North Bengal, and in Chutia Nagpur and South Behar. In Orissa the excess has been 1·6° and in North Behar 0·6°. For the whole province, therefore, the mean temperature for the week has been 2·1° in excess of the normal. The distribution of temperature during the week and its variation from the normal are best seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with their normal values for the same period. The excess temperature, it will be seen, has been almost equally marked in both day and night temperatures:—

Rainfall.—The only stations at which falls in excess of a tenth of an inch have fallen during the week have been Rangamati, Agartolah (1.35 inches), Mymensingh (0.54 inch during a dust storm accompanied by rain and hail), and Netrokona. Elsewhere the whole province has been practically rainless.

MEMORANDUM.

Report on the Monthly Statistics of Deaths registered in forty-five districts of Bengal for the month of August 1891.

The total number of deaths registered in forty-five districts of Bengal during the month of August 1891 amounted to 142,154, against 116,479 in August 1890, and an average of 120,573 in the corresponding month of the previous five years, 1886—90. These figures represent an annual death-rate of 25·80, 21·12 and 21·96 per 1,000, respectively, of the aggregate population of those districts, which is 65,859,534. The death-rate of August 1891 is 3·84 higher than the mean rate of the corresponding month of the past five years, 1886—90, and is also higher than the rate of the corresponding period of any of the past five years with which comparison is instituted, vide the figures below—

	August 1886.	August 1887.	August 1888.	August 1889.	August 1890.	Monthly average of five years, 1886—90.	August 1891.

Ratio per mille per annum	20·64	24·96	19·68	23·06	21·12	21·96	25·80

It will also be seen from the following table that the death-rate of the forty-five districts during August 1891 is greater than the previous months of the year except January, March and April:—

Months.	Number of deaths.	Ratio per mille.
January	143,492	26·04
February	137,553	24·96
March	168,185	30·60

June	140,594	25·56
July	121,977	22·20
August	142,154	25·80

The following table exhibits the registered results as they occurred among the different sexes and the several classes of the community which comprise the population of the Bengal Province. As usual, more males died than females. The ratio of deaths among the sexes, calculated on the proportion the mortality bears to the total male and female population of the province, is as 116 is to 100; but, individually considered, in only three districts, viz., Dinagepur, Darjeeling, and Noakhali, the death-rates among females is greater than that among males. Of the several classes of the community, in proportion to population, death is greater among the Hindus, next among Buddhists, then among the Other classes and Mahomedans. Christians suffered the least:—

	Sexes.		Ratio of male deaths to every 100 female deaths, calculated on the proportion such mortality bears to the total male and female population.	Classes.

The following table shows the proportions of deaths registered during the month of August 1891, above 25 per mille, arranged in order of sequence, and compared with the ratios of the corresponding month of 1890:—

Hazaribagh	31·66	26·08	Serampore	26·08	22·56

It will be seen from the statement appended to this memorandum that the highest death-rate occurred in Gya, 54·36 per mille per annum, and the lowest in Mymensing, 14·28 per 1,000 of population. In eighteen districts the death-rates were above 25 per mille, in sixteen between 20 and 25, and in the remaining 11 below 20. In the districts which show a lower death-rate than 20 per mille per annum, registration of deaths does not appear to have been accurately carried on.

The total mortality from the several registered death-causes during the month under review is compared in the following table with the mortality from those causes in the corresponding month of 1890, and the average of the previous five years, 1886—90:—

	Ratio per mille during—
	August 1891.	August 1890.	Monthly average of five years, 1886—90.
Cholera	2·64	1·32	2·04
Small-pox	·12	·08	·04
Fever	18·00	15·24	15·00
Dysentery and diarrhoea	·60	·48	·72
Injury	·72	·72	·72
Other causes	3·48	3·00	3·00

Compared with the figures of both the past periods, there is a considerable increase in the mortality of August 1891 under the heads cholera and fever.

The deaths from Cholera numbered 14,548, which is equivalent to an annual rate of 2·64 per 1,000 of population, against 20,049 (ratio 3·60 per mille) in the preceding month. The greatest severity of this disease was felt in Gya and Shahabad, which returned death-rates of 17·76 and 17·64 per 1,000 per annum, respectively, then in Sarun, where the death-rate was 8·40, in Patna 7·32, Chumparun 6, Morufferpore 4·80, Monghyr 4·20, Durbhanga 3·24, Bhagulpore 3·24, Lohardugga 2·64, and in Hazaribagh 2·52. From three districts, viz., Noakhali, Tipperah, and Singbhoom, the disease was entirely absent.

Small-pox carried off 559 persons (ratio ·12 per mille per annum), against 1,335 (ratio ·24) in the month before. Midnapore and Outtaek returned the highest small-pox death-rate (1·20 per mille per annum) each, followed by Pooree ·84 per mille. Nine districts, viz., Birbhum, Serampore, Rajshahye, Rungpore, Pubna, Darjiling, Noakhali, Tipperah, and Bhagulpore, were entirely free from this disease.

Fever caused 99,028 deaths (ratio 18 per 1,000 per annum), against 77,775 (ratio 14·16) in the preceding month, and dysentery and diarrhoea proved fatal in 3,668 instances (ratio ·60 per mille per annum), against 3,272 (ratio ·48) in the previous month. All the districts suffered from the latter ailments. The greatest mortality rates from fever were recorded in Darjiling (30·12), Gya (29·16), Dinajpur (28·80), Maldah (27·72), Julpaiguri (26·16), Shahabad (25·56), Rajshahye (24·96), Monghyr (24·60), Patna (24·12), Hazaribagh (23·64), Jessore (22·68), Murshedabad (21·48), Chumparun (21·24), and Bhagulpore (20·76). Darjiling also returned the highest death-rate from dysentery and diarrhoea, viz., 11·16 per mille; Howrah and Balasore stand next to Darjiling with a death-rate of 3·36 per mille each, followed by Pooree 3.

Injury proved fatal in 4,204 instances (ratio ·72 per mille), against 3,945 (ratio ·60) in the previous month, and the mortality from all other causes not specified amounted to 19,747 (ratio 3·48 per mille), against 15,601 (ratio 2·76) in the preceding month. Pooree returned the highest death-rate from the unspecified diseases coming under the head "All other causes," viz., 11·76 per 1,000 per annum, next Sarun (10·44), then Patna (9).

With regard to mortality according to Age, infants under one year of age, as usual, perished in the largest numbers, viz., at the rate of 187·20 per 1,000 of population per annum, next came old persons (60 years and upwards) with a death-rate of 59·16 per mille. The lowest death-rate occurred among persons between 10 and 15 years of age, viz., 13·08 per 1,000 per annum.

Detailed information regarding the mortuary statistics of the forty-five districts of Bengal during the month under review will be found in the statement appended.

CHINA SEA—CARIMATA STRAIT.

Reef reported south-east of Cirencester shoal.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 480 of 1891) that Mr. W. Townsend, commanding the steam-vessel Galley of Lorne, reports having passed, at the distance of about 2 cables, a dangerous reef lying about 10 miles south-eastward of Cirencester shoal, near the fairway of Carimata strait.

This reef (Townsend reef), on which the sea broke, appeared to have little water over it, and to extend (in the shape of a crescent) about one cable in a south-east and north-west direction. The weather at the time was too rough to allow a boat being lowered for further examination.

CHINA SEA—MACCLESFIELD BANK.

Shoal water reported near the north-west edge.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 497 of 1891) that Mr. A. Symons, commanding the P. and O. S.S. Cathay, reports having obtained a sounding of $5\frac{1}{2}$ fathoms, over rock or coral, near the north-west edge of Macclesfield bank, in lat. $15^{\circ}55'$ N., long. $114^{\circ}0'$ E. As the ship passed over the shoal, the bottom, composed of dark black rock and white coral patches, was seen. Immediately after passing over it, the sea became dark blue, without a sign of shoal water.

CAUTION.—In 1857, a depth of 4 fathoms was reported to exist near the north-west edge of Macclesfield bank, in approximately lat. $16^{\circ}3'$ N., long. $114^{\circ}10'$ E., and as from the nature of a coral atoll, the depth of the submerged rim is very irregular, it is highly desirable to avoid passing over such banks, even when the depths known give no indication of absolute danger.
